Commons Adopt King's Address

Liberals' Amendment Voted Down in House by More Than 2-to-1 Margin

Premier Outlines Policy on Tariff Duties But Refuses to Go Into Details

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 17.—The House of Commons this evening adopted the King's address. Previously, by a vote of 339 to 151, the chamber defeated the official Liberal amendment to the address offered by William Wedgewood Benn, which characterized the government's imperial preference policy as dishonest.

During the debate, both Premier Baldwin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill addressed the House. The Premier said an improvement in the general situation in Europe was essential to good trade and that the British government must give its aid to help Europe regain economic confidence. It was the intention of his government, he added, to place before the House the resolutions of the last imperial conference, which involved a reduction in duties.

Mr. Churchill supported Mr. Baldwin's ideas, which he said would be placed before the House in a bill for enactment at the proper time.

Premier Baldwin outlined somewhat briefly and vaguely the British government's intentions of reversing the policy of the late MacDonald government, which, on the ground that they were of a protective tendency, abolished a number of war duties imposed on various commodities under the safeguarding-of-industries act.

NOT PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Mr. Baldwin repudiated the idea of using the safeguarding-of-industries act as a wedge to introduce a protective tariff and admitted that taxation of food was not practical politics. He also stipulated that any industries requiring to be safeguarded must prove themselves important and efficient and to be suffering from exceptional competition through depreciated exchanges, bounties, subsidies or debased labor conditions in competing countries.

Mr. Baldwin argued that when the Labor government abolished certain duties, the duties had not been in force long enough to prove accurately their value.

The Premier was strongly attacked by former Chancellor of the Exchequer Phillip Snowden and former Premier Lloyd George. Mr. Lloyd George declared the Premier really had announced a general tariff and that his method was not a very straightforward way of imposing a tariff.

Mr. Snowden said that unless the Premier more fully explained

ALIEN TAKEN HERE DURING WAR IS SUED

Papers Filed by Law Firm Seeking $80,000 Reveal Early German Activities

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) Dec. 17.—A bill of particulars filed here today in the suit of the law firm of "Wise, Whitney and Parker of New York City," against John Simon of Long Beach, L. I., for more than $80,000 in counsel fees for representing him in a long series of legal entanglements, throws light on German activities early in the World War.

The bill alleges that in quarrels developing between Mr. Simon and his associates, Dr. Heinrich Frederich Albert, described by the papers as "commercial agent in the United States of the Imperial German government," Count Von Bernstorff, then German Ambassador at Washington, was obliged to intervene.

Dr. Albert and Simon were working together, the papers charge, in the purchase of food and cotton. Payments in some of the transactions were made with promissory notes, signed by Dr. Albert and Count Von Bernstorff, which totaled $1,300,000. Simon, according to the papers, was arrested in Los Angeles after the entry of the United States into the war on a charge of being a dangerous enemy alien. He served some time in prison but was released for lack of evidence.

Effort Begun for Enlargement of Training Camps

Efforts to provide enlargement of facilities to take care of increased enrollment for citizens' military training camps in California next year were initiated here yesterday by Maj. H. J. Suydam, reserve officer and State representative of the Military Training Camps' Association of the United States.

Maj. Suydam announced that county representatives throughout California are joining in a move to urge Congress to appropriate an additional $660,000 to provide for the camps in 1925 throughout the country. The movement was discussed in a meeting of the military affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rumor of Road Mergers Sends Stocks Soaring

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Unconfirmed rumors of railroad mergers involving some of the most important eastern and western systems today furnished the basis for widespread speculation in stock prices, sixty issues smashing their previous 1924 high records on total sales that again came close to 2,000,000 shares.

The average of twenty leading industrial stocks touched the highest level since the peak of the post-war boom in 1919, while the average of leading rails reached the highest since 1917.

AGREE ON POSTAL-PAY VOTE

Senators Consent to January 6 for Test on Veto; Administration Mustering Forces

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—While President Coolidge continued today his efforts to prevent the over-riding of his veto of the postal-pay-increase bill by the Senate, that body entered into a unanimous-consent agreement for a vote on the veto not later than January 6.

Calling a number of Republican Senate leaders to the White House, the Executive again informed them of his desire that the veto be sustained because any other action in advance of the enactment of a revenue measure to take care of the pay-rise would interfere with the economic policy of his administration and continue what he regards as a harmful practice of leaving to the future the matter of providing for present authorized expenditures.

After these leaders had visited the White House, renewed efforts were made to get unanimous-consent agreement for Senate action.

Immediately after the unanimous-consent agreement had been entered into, the administration measure increasing postal rates on all except letter mail was referred to the postoffice committee with a view to hearings and action during the Christmas holidays.

Some administration leaders are of the opinion that there will be a sufficient number of Senators in accord with the President's program to sustain his veto. Thirty-three votes would be necessary to accomplish this result, provided all Senators were present and voting.

These leaders are proceeding under a plan for Senate consideration of both the pay increase and the mail-rate advance as companion measures, if not as a joint measure. There is rather widespread opposition, however, to hitching the two propositions together in a single bill.

Vote on a bill which would permit the Postmaster-General to contract with private aviation firms for carrying the air-mail was delayed by parliamentary tactics but proponents said they expected it would be brought up tomorrow.

Representative Griffin, Democrat, New York, speaking in opposition to the bill, declared the government should not surrender the carrying of mail through the air to private concerns, after spending millions of dollars on aviation.

The bill's supporters explained that the employment of privately-owned air routes was proposed to supplement the trancontinental government-owned lines.

Japanese Envoy Brings Message of Good Feeling

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, Dec. 17.—A message of good will and sympathy to the United States was tendered tonight by Tsuneo Matsudaira, new Japanese Ambassador to Washington, in an interview granted the Associated Press.

"I wish to convey my respects to your President and your countrymen, for with their friendship and sympathy I shall labor for the furtherance of good understanding between our countries," he said.

"In this I fully expect the support of my countrymen, because every Japanese knows that the prosperity of the empire depends upon the peace of the Pacific, which in turn depends upon maintenance of friendly relations between Japan and America."

SWING BILL HEARINGS OPEN

Senator Appears Before Committee; Opposition of Northern States Develops Early

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation started hearings today on the Swing All-American canal and Colorado River dam bill. Congressman Swing and Senator Johnson opened the hearing but at noon the hearings were continued until Monday of next week, when some of the California witnesses will go on the stand to try to justify what the Secretary of the Interior says will cost $200,000,000 of Federal money and will involve reclamation and irrigation controversies, power development and distribution in the flood control of the Colorado River.

From the interruptions by Senator Walsh of Montana, Phipps of Colorado and Kendrick of Wyoming, there appears to be a disposition on the part of the northern States affected by the waters of the Colorado River to block the proposed legislation until the Colorado pact is ratified, and legislative action on this bill is not probable at this session of Congress or at any later session. The Senators' objections and questions indicated that they would fight any legislation for such a project which involved State water rights until the Colorado River water compact is ratified by Arizona.

Among those present here for the hearing are W. B. Matthews, water attorney for Los Angeles; Ralph Criswell of the Los Angeles City Council; W. J. Carr of Pasadena, member of the State Senate; Mark Rose and other residents of Imperial Valley. Mark Rose is somewhat embarrassed by the appearance in Washington of a number of papers of dates just at the time of the election, in which Rose was shown to be advocating the election of La Follette. His speeches and interviews in favor of La Follette were printed somewhat in extenso and are now in the hands of Senators and Congressmen not friendly to the plans of Mark Rose and others for an all-American canal.

BLANKET OF SLEET COVERS CHICAGO; MANY MISHAPS

Streets Like Skating Rink, Scores of Autos Wrecked; Hundreds Injured; Traffic Disrupted

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Sleet that made every street and sidewalk a skating rink gave Chicago a record-breaking accident list today and disrupted traffic in the early morning hours. Scores of automobiles were wrecked or abandoned when they skidded into curbs and fences. Hundreds of persons were hurt by falls. Elevated and surface traffic was delayed. One man was killed when a truck skidded on the icy roadway and, colliding with the curb, hurled the driver head first to the sidewalk.

Automobiles on the boulevards moved at a snail's pace and even then accidents were frequent. On Sheridan Road especially, wrecked automobiles lined the curbs, in some places two or three to a block. On the West Side two motor busses were wrecked.

Chicago awoke expecting to find a blizzard howling in from the West. Instead, the day was just a miserable, cloudy, drippy affair with a chill, bone-piercing wind. The threatened cold wave has been delayed in transit across the continent, the forecasters said, and won't be here until Friday.

Fire believed to have been caused by crossed wires started in the second floor of a two-story factory at 2331-37 West Van Buren street early today and burned up $5000 worth of property because fire apparatus was delayed by the icy streets. Slippery pavements caused an engine company to crash into an electric light pole. Members of two other companies, hastening to a still alarm today, abandoned their trucks in the ice-coated street and dashed in the good old volunteer days fashion to do their work on foot.

Detective Arrests Solicitor After Newsboy Reports Woman's Screams

Neighbor Asserts She Saw Youth With Weapon in Rush to Escape

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 17.—Mrs. Vera T. Bosshard, 35 years of age, wife of Royal H. Bosshard, assistant department manager of the Travelers' Insurance Company, former resident of Woodstock, Ill., was murdered in her home here late this afternoon by a fiend who slashed her throat several times with a butcher knife.

A man giving his name as Wendell Hoover, who said he was a solicitor, was arrested by Detective John Reilly, but denied any knowledge of the crime. The man had been looking for an exit to the building, and was apprehended fifteen minutes after a newsboy had heard the woman's screams and called the police.

Hoover told police he had gone to the home to sell Mrs. Bosshard a radio set. When he entered the place he said he saw the woman's body through the kitchen window and had become panic-stricken and rushed down the stairs. Neighbors say, however, that they heard Mrs. Bosshard's scream fifteen minutes before the man rushed into the arms of the detective in his effort to escape. One of the neighbors said she saw a youth carrying a weapon of some sort rush out of the building several minutes before the arrest was made.

The murdered woman's head was almost severed from the body and the knife with which the crime was committed was found lying beside her. Bosshard, according to information received at his office, left yesterday for Oshkosh on a business trip.

Wright Reported Senator's Choice for Arizona Post

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. 17.—Reports received today indicate that Senator Cameron has indorsed John B. Wright of Tucson for United States Attorney for the Arizona district, succeeding F. K. Bernard of Tucson, resigned. There is understanding that the State Republican organization indorsed Charles R. Bolton of Phoenix, who was the Republican candidate for Attorney-General at the last election, and that National Committeeman Campbell supported former Supreme Court Justice Edward J. Flanigan.

ICY SNAP GRIPPING UPPER PART OF STATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—The rain and snowstorm which swept down out of the Northwest Monday night and left a mantle of white on California hilltops, has given way to one of the worst and most prolonged cold snaps ever experienced in the northern part of the State. From Red Bluff to San Jose temperatures several degrees below the freezing point were reported tonight as the weather suddenly became clear and calm. It is too early to say that any damage has been done to orchard interests, but the Weather Bureau warns that below freezing temperatures may be expected tonight and possibly longer over the whole of California. No rain or snow has been reported in any district during the twenty-four-hour period ended at 5 o'clock this evening except in the extreme southern end of the San Joaquin Valley, where Fresno reports eight hundredths of an inch of precipitation. The rainfall data for the twenty-four hours up to 5 o'clock tonight follows:

NORTHERN ARIZONA UNDER SNOW COVERING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. 17.—Northern Arizona is blanketed under snow, with several feet at Flagstaff and eight inches at Prescott. At Phoenix very light but almost continuous precipitation has been known for the last two days, but little water has fallen at Tucson or Yuma. The heaviest rainfall has been on the Salt River watershed, above the Roosevelt Dam, with two inches noted at several points.

QUIZ ORDER BY WILBUR

Court Named to Sift Leak

Naval Officers Under Fire as Confidential Letter is Made Public

American Man Said to be on British Ship During Target Practice

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Determined to put a stop to the leakage of confidential information that might be of assistance to foreign powers, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today called a special board of inquiry and ordered it to investigate the source of certain confidential information which has recently been quoted in the newspapers by William Shearer, a civilian naval expert.

This hearing, which will be behind closed doors in New York City, will begin immediately. The officers of this court have already been named and assigned the definite task of finding out which of two naval captains is responsible for the publication of a letter sent from the Naval War College at Newport, R. I. This letter, according to the Secretary, was written and sent by Capt. Hugo W. Osterhaus, son of Admiral Osterhaus, retired, and now a student at the Naval War College, to Capt. R. I. Berry, head of the Navy recruiting station at New York City.

The Secretary in announcing the inquiry said the matter had been privately investigated and the responsibility fixed on one of these officers. He refused to name the guilty officer or to give out the contents of the letter. He did say, however, that it was one of two letters quoted recently in the newspapers in which certain information concerning activities carried on by the college has been divulged. This letter was quoted by Shearer.

One of these letters stated that the United States had placed an enlisted man aboard the British fleet during target practice. This man, according to the letter, reported that the British had greatly increased the range of their guns by flooding the blisters, an outer armored covering for the hull of the ship. The other letter is understood to have dealt with the solving of certain war problems by the naval strategists at the college, which is said to have disclosed that our Navy would be at a great disadvantage in an engagement with the British fleet. It asserted in the letters that the British fleet could easily sink the American fleet because of her superior gun ranges.

Secretary Wilbur denied that the calling of the special court meant a general muzzling of naval officers.

"This is not a muzzling order," he said, "except in the muzzling of naval secrets. All we are contemplating is the stopping of the revelation of military secrets that might be of value to other powers."

It was pointed out that this special court will simply go over testimony, most of which has already been prepared, and then give its official findings to the Secretary of the Navy. Secretary Wilbur can then decide if either of the officers should be court-martialed. Capt. O. P. Jackson, commander of the Naval Training Station at Newport, heads the four officers who will sit in the court. The others are Capt. A. M. Procter, Capt. G. P. Stone and Lieutenant-Commander S. S. Lewis.

Moro Outlaws Kill Chinese in Store Robbery

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

The outlaws robbed the store and fled with members of the constabulary in pursuit.

HEAVY FROST IS PREDICTED

No Danger of Damage by Freezing in Southland Seen by Weather Bureau Official

Although Col. H. B. Hersey, in charge of the local Weather Bureau, issued a statement last night that we might expect one of the coldest nights of the winter, no damage was experienced up to a late hour last night in any of the citrus groves near Los Angeles.

At Monrovia and vicinity warm winds coming from the canyons late last night precluded frost damage near the mountains and in the foothills. R. M. Golder, secretary of the Duarte-Monrovia Citrus Association, said last night there was very little danger of frost. Although growers are sure the temperature will not go beyond the danger point they have smudge pots ready for immediate action.

ESTABLISH GUARDS

Regular watches have been established in the groves near Riverside, but all available smudge pots are ready. There has been no temperature lower than 32 deg. reported and it is not expected the thermometer will drop lower than 28 deg. during the night and early morning.

In the Whittier district the manager of the great Leffingwell Rancho reported that they are ready to smudge 250 acres with fifty pots to the acre if the emergency arises. The temperature

COMPLETE CASE AGAINST FORBES

Prosecution Ends With New Story of Hotel Party

Veterans' Bureau Clerk Tells of Crap Game Proposal

Testifies Mortimers and Two Actresses Guests

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—The prosecution closed its case in the Veterans' Bureau conspiracy trial today with another story of "a general social good time" in a New York hotel, in which Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, J. W. Thompson, contractor, Elias H. Mortimer, Thompson's agent, Mrs. Mortimer and two New York actresses participated.

"Refreshments were served, and then Mrs. Mortimer proposed a crap game," McGill Connor, a clerk in the bureau and the last government witness, testified.

The two actresses, he identified from the witness stand as "the Larrimore girls, sisters." Miss Franceine Larrimore had been mentioned by previous witnesses as having been a member of a party by the same group at Atlantic City, N. J., a few weeks later.

CALLED TO CITY

Conner testified he recognized in the hotel room, about the middle of May, 1923, both defendants as well as the government's chief witness, the latter's wife and the women guests. He said he had been summoned to New York from Washington by Forbes, whom he believed wished to consult him concerning veterans' bureau routine.

The defense developed on cross-examination that Forbes left the suite about 4 o'clock in the afternoon to catch a train to Chicago to inspect a hospital site, but that the good time continued for some hours.

Defense motions for an instructed verdict of not guilty, entered at the close of the government's case, were denied by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, as were later motions for the elimination of certain portions of the testimony of Mortimer. The defense then began the presentation of evidence, calling to the stand Miss Augusta Landis, a clerk in the bureau, under Forbes, who told of the circumstances under which the bid of the Pontiac Construction Company, a Thompson concern, was received at the bureau close to the time limit set in the public advertisements for Northampton hospital bids.

BID DELAYED

The Northampton foundation, which went to the Pontiac Company on a bid of $27,000 higher than that of the Northeastern Construction Company of New York, was the central transaction about which the government sought to establish evidence of conspiracy, corruption and collusion in the awarding of hospital contracts under Forbes's administration. It had been intimated by previous witnesses, representing competitive bidders for the foundation, that the Pontiac bid was entered after the time specified in the advertisements. Miss Landis testified today that the bid lay on her desk for two days before it was turned over to the proper official of the bureau on July 5, two days after the date set for opening the bids.

James E. Easby-Smith, counsel for Forbes, brought out that Miss Landis had been in Chicago for two weeks under a government subpoena without ever having been called to the stand.

BANK CASHIER SENTENCED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Dec. 17.—A sentence of from one to three years in the State penitentiary has been passed upon John B. Quinn, former cashier of the Merchants' and Miners' Bank of Ray, who had pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of about $5000 from the institution, which now is in the hands of a receiver. Quinn, who went to Ray from El Paso, was prominent socially. A petition of 100 names was presented in court asking leniency on account of his wife and family.

his plan in order to make it more intelligible, all he could say was that it was the most impracticable and ridiculous suggestion that ever emanated from the brain even of a tariff reformer.

How Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is a free trader, would regard the government's policy on this question, was awaited with the keenest interest.

Mr. Churchill gave general support to Mr. Baldwin's proposal, for which he claimed the country had handed the Premier a mandate. The Chancellor provoked ironical cheering from the opposition when he remarked that the government must decline, at the present stage, to be drawn into definitions and the exact clauses and specifications which would be introduced in the proposed bill at the proper time.

keenly disappointed. Although he knew that he would never be able to display such well-known treasures, he was determined to own them just to look at himself. He combed the United States for three talented burglars, all of whom were recognized by the police as masters of their trade.

They received $50,000 for the first payment with a promise of $350,000 more, with lavish expenses if they were successful. The Chicagoan gave the crooks intimate details of the lay of the land at Bath House. They arrived on June 5, studied the situation and pulled the robbery which startled the world on June 11.

They made their getaway from England in a luxurious high-speed steam yacht to the French coast and then rushed to New York on a fast liner. There they learned that their strange employer had died just when the treasures which he coveted were only a few hours away.

Scotland Yard was completely baffled by the perfect burglary. The crooks, unable to dispose of their loot, stored it in a safe deposit vault in New York where it rested until it was returned absolutely intact.

There is a theory that the three hard boiled crooks fell under the spell of the exquisite jeweled ornaments for they did not attempt to melt down the precious metals or to take gems from their settings. Finally the thieves decided to give them back and obtain the reward of $25,500. They notified the police anonymously and the Wernher collection is now complete again.

Millions Asked in Government Suit Over Ships

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Dec. 17.—Asking a judgment of $7,536,432, a suit against the Skinner and Eddy Corporation was filed in Federal Court here today by Clarence L. Reames, special counsel for the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

The bulk of the money asked was turned over by the government to the shipbuilding company as advance payments on ships which were never built, the contracts being cancelled after the Armistice, or was disbursed "through error and inadvertence," the government asserts in its complaint.

Clocks Tell Santa Claus Secrets

SANTA LEARNS JELLY-ROLL

Capt. Squint Joins Jolly Old Fellow in Dance and They Have a Good Time at the Palace

BY CAPT. ELIJAH SQUINT

The only explorer who ever counted all the spots on a turkey egg; dog-fashion swimming champion of Arizona; inventor of the combination horse-trough and baby carriage; leader of the Los Angeles Times expedition to Santa Claus Land.

[Copyright, 1924, in United States, Canada and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

CHEESECAKE INN (Santa Claus Land) Dec 17.—[By Courier Duck to The Times:] I went to keep my appointment with Santa Claus in the clock room of the palace. It was a great, stately chamber so vast that it seemed like out of doors. There was a low murmur like millions of tiny voices. It came from myriads of clocks, everywhere they were, almost covering the walls.

Santa Claus looked very small under the great dome, as I approached. He was bouncing up and down and making strange, wiggling movements.

"Do you jelly-roll?" he asked.

I scarcely knew what to say, I was so astonished.

"I can't seem to get this step right," he went on. "The-two-three, bounce, and two-three—wiggle—that's where I go wrong—one-two-three—"

SQUINT LEARNS QUICKLY

I found I was doing it too, and suddenly I said:

"I've got it! One-two-three bounce wiggle—you see you get in a fast wiggle with that first bounce. That makes it add up right—one-two-three—"

"That's it," shouted Santa Claus, "Let's go!"

He seized me around the waist and we jelly-rolled all around the big clock room. Suddenly he stopped before a big grandfather clock, and listened. Then he motioned me to a seat.

"I'll tell you the story of the clocks," he said. "Whenever a home is made and a clock is put up over the mantel, its twin goes goes up in the clock room here. The twins always tick and talk together, so I hear what is happening in all the homes in the world.

"Do you see that fat little gilt clock over there, with the pink roses on it? It is ticking off the story of the new baby just born in Los Angeles. We shall make a note of that and remember that there will be one more stocking in that house.

Suddenly all the clocks were striking. They seemed to be making a little tune, but I could not make out what it was.

"Let me tune you in," said Santa Claus.

He took hold of my coat button and began slowly to twist it back and forth.

"These bone buttons are poor selectors," he said. "You ought to wear rubber."

CLOCKS ARE SINGING

But when he got it just right, I could understand the clocks. They were singing:

If I like you and you like me,
U R I and I R U;
For that's a little scheme, you see,
For I to be as happy as 2

"Is it quite grammatical?" I asked. I wasn't sure, but it didn't sound right.

"I don't know," said Santa Claus. "Anyway, grammar doesn't matter in Santa Claus Land. Did you ever see me do this?"

He was balancing his chair on his little finger.

"Meet me at Peanut Square whenever you think you have an appointment," he said, "and I will show you some things."

British Doctors Utilize Radio in Treating Nerves

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Dec. 17.—Radio is recognized by British hospital authorities as a treatment for nerve cases and insomnia and a number of institutions are installing wireless equipment.

Doctors declare the radio programs are important to nerve patients, not only in their direct effects, but as antidotes for the unpleasant every-day street noises.

there is 25 deg., with little chance of it dropping to a danger point. L. A. Brundige, manager of the Whittier Citrus Association, expressed fear last night for about 700 acres on low lands of the district. Smudging is in progress here as a protection to immature lemons.

COLD AT WEST REDLANDS

The coldest weather reported in the citrus belt was from the West Redlands district in San Bernardino district, where Government Observer Cook said the thermometer registered 27 deg. Smudging there will begin if the thermometer drops another degree.

In all other districts it is almost a certainty that the wet ground will protect the crop and that only in scattered spots will the cold affect either lemons or oranges.

Clear weather and no wind combined with a temperature of 32 deg., which Government Observer Floyd D. Young thinks will go as low as 26 deg., has caused citrus growers near Pomona to take every precaution. Practically all smudge pots in the district will be lighted before morning, especially in the lemon groves. The Pomona Protective Association has three motorcycle patrols in action and all growers are standing by to avert any considerable loss.

RAINFALL LIGHT

Rainfall in Los Angeles yesterday was too little to measure, Col. Hersey said, and the slight trace that fell in this vicinity did not add to the year's total.

Although the rainstorm was reported as being over in most parts of Southern California early yesterday, effects of the storm continued inasmuch as a rapidly falling temperature was universal. In communities in the highlands to the south and east and in the valley to the north, frost made its appearance in many places and snow, varying in depth from one to five inches, has been reported.

Snow in the mountains back of San Bernardino is far down on the mountainsides with the result that the entire valley has felt the effect of very low temperature. At Beaumont six inches of snow was reported at 5 p.m. yesterday, with a heavy fall still coming down. The white line is further down than usual in the Sierra Madre Mountains, and at Baldy, Mt. Wilson and Mt. Lowe.

SNOW AT HIGHLAND

At Highland, in San Bernardino county, a freakish snowstorm was experienced just before midnight Tuesday night. A violent hailstorm was followed by a heavy rain and as the fall of hail slackened, large flakes of snow began falling and continued for more than an hour. Snow covered the ground from Harlem Springs to the East Highlands bench line along the base line. Citrus trees in the lower Highland district were sprinkled with snow, but none fell in the foothill section of Highland, where the temperature is usually lower. This was the first snow the valley has experienced in many years.

Big Bear Valley and other mountain points have had one of the heaviest snow and windstorms in recent years. Here it is reported the snow lies more than a foot on the level, and is being blown into drifts by a heavy wind. Both the snow and wind continued all day yesterday. All roads to the mountains, with the exception of the desert route are blocked. A road crew from the Arrowhead company worked all night to clear a path through the snow. Twelve inches of snow is reported on the north side of Lake Arrowhead with fourteen inches on the south side of the lake. Snow was still falling late yesterday.

A blanket of snow on the mountains north of Monrovia remained all during the day, with lower temperature than has been experienced for eight years. Late yesterday afternoon a rain with wind swept the valley and for fifteen minutes hail fell on the streets of Monrovia. Early yesterday morning the thermometer went as low as 26 degrees at the San Gabriel water pumping station on the southern limits of Monrovia. The temperature rose to above 30 degrees before noon and no damage to the citrus crop has been reported.

STREAMS RUNNING

The San Gabriel River is a running stream for the first time since the heavy rains of 1922-23. A stream three feet deep is running in Sawpit wash just back of Monrovia, but the hillsides are so dry that the water has not reached Foothill Boulevard in Sawpit or Santa Anita wash in Arcadia. At Azusa it is reported that the second range of mountains back of the town are covered with snow. The lowest temperature was 28 deg.

Heavy rains in the uplands near San Diego yesterday caused the season's first runoff into Mirpal, and privately owned reservoirs. The high wind which at one time attained a velocity of thirty-eight miles an hour, played havoc with telephone and other electric wires, some parts of the county being cut off for several hours. Wire damage was estimated at $10,000 by the telephone company. Nearly two inches of rain was recorded at Cuyamaca, 1.33 inches at Barrett, Escondido received 1.40 inches.

Heavy snowstorms are reported on the mountains between San Diego and the Imperial Valley, many persons going into the valley brought snowballs as souvenirs. The rain is over in Imperial Valley, but the temperature has fallen 15 deg.

In Tulare county lawns and roofs were white with snow early yesterday morning with an average fall of an inch. In the mountains at Springville, five inches was reported. In Success Valley, where more than two inches of snow fell considerable damage was reported from breakages of lemon trees occasioned by weight of fruit and snow. A hailstorm visited Porterville during the afternoon. Predictions for the valley are fair and colder.

A temperature as low as 30 deg. was reported over Ventura county with ice frozen in small receptacles exposed during the night. Smudging was general in the Sespe and Santa Paula regions during Tuesday night. To such an extent did the black smoke drift toward the ocean that it was found necessary to sound the fog horn at Point Hueneme for several hours yesterday morning. No damage to citrus fruit is reported from anywhere in the county.

Hail visited Redlands yesterday morning before daylight and again at noon. The foothills are covered with snow, with fifteen inches reported from Forest Home and twenty inches at Seven Oaks. Mountain stations all report from an inch to an inch and a quarter of rain.

Rain reports received from J. W. Reagan, chief engineer of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District, giving the weather conditions for the last twenty-four hours up to 4 p.m., yesterday, follow:

Indian Springs, Little Tujunga, .06 of an inch rain; cold.

Justice Camp, Big Tujunga, .15 of an inch rain; a little snow in the morning.

Hansen's Ranch, Big Tujunga, .15 of an inchfll snowed a little; temperature, 31 deg.

Colby's Ranch, Big Tujunga, no rain; about two inches of snow.

Loomis's Ranch, Big Tujunga, .22 of an inch; about four inches of snow.

Switzer's Camp, Arroyo Seco, .15 of an inch; snowing at 4 o'clock; temperature, 34 deg.; lowest temperature today, 28 deg.

Camp Oakwylde, Arroyo Seco, .04 of an inch; a little flurry of snow; quite cold.

Robert's Camp, Santa Anita, .21 of an inch.

Roberts Half-way House, Santa Anita, .04 of an inch; little snow.

Opid's Camp, West Fork of San Gabriel, .78 of an inch; four inches of snow; temperature, 30 deg.

Coldbrook Camp, North Fork of San Gabriel, two inches of snow.

Flood Control Camp, North Fork of San Gabriel, .24 of an inch.

Cattle Canyon, East Fork of San Gabriel, .30 of an inch.

San Dimas Dam, .37 of an inch, still raining; temperature, 42 deg.

Roger's Camp, San Dimas, .10 of an inch.

Wolfskill Camp, San Dimas, for the whole storm, 1½ inches rain; snow today.

Hines's Camp, San Dimas, for the whole storm, 1.47 inches rain.

Jockey Likely to Escape Trial in Auto Death

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Lester M. Fator, a well-known jockey, will probably be freed of a second-degree manslaughter charge without having to face trial on the indictment, it was indicated in General Sessions today. Fator was indicted after his automobile a year ago ran down and killed Hugh McKeon. At the time it was asserted Fator was guilty of criminal negligence, and in addition failed to help his victim.

However, a detailed inquiry into the circumstances led to an exoneration of the jockey, who had been free on $5000 bail. Asst. Dist.-Atty. Brothers today recommended that this bail be discharged. Judge McIntyre consented, and this, it was understood, would be followed soon by dismissal of the indictment.

as well as at Childs-on-the-Verde watershed. Roosevelt has had about an inch, though the reservoir level has raised little thus far.

Observer R. Q. Grant of the Phoenix Weather Bureau station believes the storm is lifting and that colder weather is due for the entire Southwest. The rainfall is considered worth millions to the live-stock interests of the State.

HALF-INCH SNOW IN TWO DESERT TOWNS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 17. — Half an inch of snow fell at Banning and Beaumont, desert towns east of here, today, and rain and snow were reported throughout the eastern end of Riverside county. An exceptionally heavy snowfall was recorded in the San Jacinto Mountains and the hills south of Elsinore, between here and San Diego. At Arlington it hailed heavily.

NORTH ROCKY AREA TRAFFIC DEMORALIZED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Dec. 17.—Relief from the severe cold wave that has swept the northern Rocky Mountain region for several days, was accompanied by increasing snowfall today. The snow areas extended today into Western Wyoming, virtually all of Idaho and Utah, and into Eastern Nevada.

The storm, entering on its third day, brought gradually increasing demoralization of wire and rail traffic and took its toll of injuries from icy sidewalks and slippery streets. No additional fatalities were reported today. Trains crossing the Rocky Mountain Divide in Western Montana were reported eight to ten hours behind schedule, while lesser delays hampered railroads to the south.

Montana roads are impassable and the snow is drifting badly. Range stock is suffering to some extent but not acutely as yet.

Snow fell fitfully throughout the day in Colorado and was being drifted in exposed places, filling cuts in railroad grades and motor highways.

Slightly lower temperatures, with snow, are forecast in this region.

WASHINGTON STILL HAS SUBZERO WEATHER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPOKANE, Dec. 17.—Subzero temperature continued over Eastern and Central Washington today, while the thermometer at west side cities was still near the zero mark. The minimum was 15 below.

TWENTY BELOW IN PORTIONS OF WYOMING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ROCK SPRINGS (Wyo.) Dec. 17. The thermometer here at 8 p.m., tonight registered 20 degrees below zero in contrast with 30 degrees above about noon yesterday. Some towns north of here reported as low as 35 degrees. Snow fell last night and early today.

OREGON CONTINUES IN GRIP OF FRIGID SPELL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 17.—Oregon continued today in the grip of a frigid spell which brought the thermometer as low as 14 below zero in Eastern Oregon and as low as 13 above zero in the western part of the State.

WEATHER CLEARING IN CENTRAL CALIFORNIA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, Dec. 17.—The rain and snowstorm which moved over Central California yesterday and last night is moving toward the southern plateau and weather is generally clearing over the area in which blizzards raged yesterday. Citrus growers of the San Joaquin Valley are making preparations with their frost-fighting apparatus to prevent loss to crops.

Lowest temperatures of the year are predicted locally for tomorrow and Friday.

Fresno rainfall of Tuesday and up to an early hour today amounted to .37 of an inch. Mountain districts reported heavy rainfall. Crane Valley received .62 of an inch; Power House, 54; Kerckhoff, 58, and Kern Canyon, 57.

KANSAS SEE NO SIGNS OF MODERATION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Dec. 17.—Kansas City and vicinity are in the grip of real winter today, with the thermometer near the zero mark. The cold wave which swept down upon Kansas City and the Middle West last night, driving the mercury down to 8 degrees here, showed no signs of moderating.

Snow and sleet accompanied the drop in temperature and snow has fallen throughout the day.

Train service from the West and North was disrupted today. All trains from these directions are running behind schedule.

Los Angeles trains were marked up an hour late on most lines, while the Union Pacific train from Portland and Seattle was over two hours late this morning.

Goodland, Kan., was the coldest point in Kansas today, reporting a temperature of even zero.

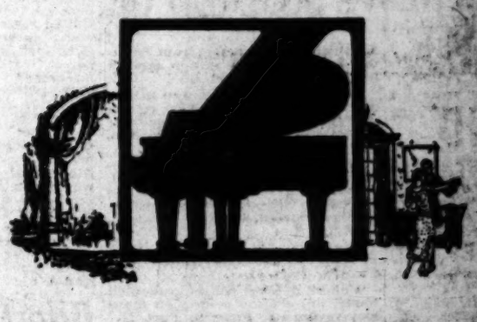
Mason & Hamlin with The AMPICO



The Gift that seems like a favor of fortune

DO your children love and enjoy music? Is your home attractive because beautiful music abounds there? Had you thought of this as something within your power to provide this Christmas?

You can now give your family one of the richest gifts that a home can hold—the lasting love and understanding of music! And you can possess it with a single purchase. It is the Ampico.

The three-fold gift called "The Ampico"

What is the Ampico? First, when you or others sit down to play the Mason & Hamlin equipped with the Ampico you find only the most superb piano used upon the concert stage today.

Secondly, the Ampico is a marvelously sensitive device now placed within the Mason & Hamlin that brings you all instrumental music—operas, classics, hymns, the old tender favorites — even hilarious, joyous dance music!

Finally, the Ampico is all this music, played by the greatest living interpreters. When you hear Leginska, Levitzki, Lhévinne, Rachmaninoff, Rosenthal—even when you hear such dance leaders as Vincent Lopez, Ferdie Grofé, and Paul Lange—you hear not only the notes, the tempo, the rhythm as it came from them, but you hear every lifelike shade and tone of color so faithfully reproduced that from the next room, you actually believe the artist himself sits at your piano!

Come in and play the Mason & Hamlin. Come in and listen to the Ampico. In all the world there is no finer gift!

WAR OUTLAWRY URGED BY BORAH

Censures Powerful Nations in Show of Might

Talk of Leagues, Courts is Cited as Futile

Favors Tribunal With Power to Banish Strife

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17.—The American people will never consent to become a part of a scheme or plan for peace which recognizes war as a legitimate method of settling disputes or which is controlled through international politics, Senator William E. Borah declared in an address to the Philadelphia Forum upon the subject of "Outlawry of War."

Because of his recent elevation to the position of chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the status before that body of the question of American entry into a world court, Senator Borah's subject had aroused especial interest.

"To talk of leagues and courts while pursuing a deliberate policy of violence and vengeance," Senator Borah declared, "is to trifle with the greatest problem now before us for settlement."

"There is no hope for peace," he asserted, "so long as great powers will that there shall be no peace."

He listed a number of international incidents since the World War which he said have involved "a resort to violence and force upon the part of great and powerful nations against the unarmed and helpless."

CITES INSTANCES

Among the incidents cited were Nicaragua, Vera Cruz, Santo Domingo, Amritsar, the Ruhr, Corfu and Egypt.

"In all these instances," the Idaho Senator said, "the aggressor nation was strong enough to have invoked conciliation, adjustment and arbitration and thus have set examples and established precedents of more value to the cause of peace than any peace plan.

"We confine our love of peace to paper, our war spirit finds its expression in deeds. We profess friendship and practice vengeance. Under such policies and practices, leagues and courts not only prove ineffective, but hope sickens and the morale of the whole human family is broken and demoralized."

Declaring he did not criticise peace plans which "deal with European conditions alone," Senator Borah said he was prepared to rejoice "if the League of Nations or the protocol or any other plan considered as European enterprises can be made to serve the cause of justice and peace in Europe.

EUROPE'S INTERESTS

"It has been said long ago," the speaker continued, "that 'Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none, or a very remote relation.' I have no doubt that is still true, even more emphatically true, than at the time it was uttered. We can not have more justification, therefore, for denouncing European peace institutions or seeking to embarrass their development than we could have in denouncing the forms of government of her respective countries.

"We have too often been disposed of late to set ourselves up as a judge of other peoples' institutions. To speak plainly, it is not only presumptuous, but it is always fruitful of unhappy results."

The Geneva protocol indicates plainly, the Senator asserted, "that Europe now proposes to adjust her affairs and to pursue peace plans according to European conditions and in harmony with European standards, a conclusion which may be in the interest of good understanding and peace."

The Senator then quoted leading advocates of the League of Nations as having stated they did not expect the United States to sign the protocol.

"Europe proposes to work out the problem of peace under the unbending facts which distinguish the eastern from the western continent," said the Senator. "We certainly shall not denounce their plans because they are not fitted to American conditions or American principles."

SUGGESTS PLAN

He suggested that the phrase, "Outlawry of War," be dropped for "substitution of law and judicial tribunals in international affairs."

The plan should be considered, he said, as three separate propositions:

Creation of a body of international law, involving "going as far as humanly possible to reduce international relations to established rules of conduct.

"Establishment of an independent tribunal with jurisdiction and power to determine all controversies involving construction of international law or treaties; and

"Declaring by said tribunal that war is a crime no longer to be recognized at any time as a legitimate instrument for settlement of international disputes.

"In other words," said Senator Borah, "if war comes, it must be without the shield or sanction of law, But in violation of it, as piracy or slavery, or peonage, or murder."

GUNMEN TO GUARD RUM SMUGGLERS

Bay City Dry Agents Hear Bootleggers Have Imported Gangsters to Fight Foes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—Prohibition officials today were preparing to cope with twenty-five gunmen, imported from the worst gang districts of Chicago by local bootleggers to wage a desperate war on hi-jackers.

A. R. Shurtleff, prohibition agent in charge, declared late today that he had received creditable information that the gunmen are here, and there have been several indications that they already have begun their offensive against the hi-jackers who have been warring on San Francisco metropolitan area bootlegging interests.

From now on, Shurtleff said, all prohibition agents will be armed and on the alert and prepared for probable encounters with the "killers."

Prohibition and police officials have been mystified by shots which have been heard in the vicinity of Sausalito, Oakland and Halfmoon Bay the past few nights. These, coupled with the fact that a man was beaten last night near a wharf on a remote section of the water front, which has been under suspicion as a bootleggers' rendezvous, lead Shurtleff and others to believe that the war between the local bootleggers and the hi-jackers who have made inroads in their profits is under way.

ELECTION OF BEN LINDSEY IS ATTACKED

Denver Jurist's Opponent Charges He Was Deprived of Large Total of Votes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER (Colo.) Dec. 17.—Asserting that between 500 and 1500 votes in addition to the number with which he was officially credited, were given to Judge Ben B. Lindsey, Denver's noted juvenile jurist, in the November elections, Judge Royal B. Graham, Republican, today filed papers with the Secretary of State informing him of his intention to contest the election. Judge Lindsey was elected by a narrow margin after a bitter fight for the judgeship, centering chiefly about Judge Lindsey's open denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan.

In the information filed Judge Graham asserts that he was deprived of votes and that Judge Lindsey gained votes in as many as 100 election precincts, through "gross negligence, incompentency and inexperience."

Judge Graham will prosecute the contest within thirty days from today by filing petition and proceedings with the clerk of the Denver District Court, he announced in his statement.

SHOP HAS NIGHT FOR MEN ONLY

Establishment Catering to Women Bars Them for Christmas Buying

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BATTLE CREEK (Mich.) Dec. 17.—A department store catering exclusively to women will be open tonight to "men only." Men clerks will be behind the counters, the proprietor announces, and no women will be permitted in the store. The theory under which the proprietor is proceeding is that men who seek to purchase Christmas gifts for women are embarrassed when obliged to shop among women.

TRADE PACT CHANGE TO BE SOUGHT

Senate Would Provide for Discriminatory Duties in Treaty With Germany

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The administration is to be asked by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to seek modification of the commercial treaty negotiated with Germany and intended as a model for similar treaties with other countries.

Chairman Borah was authorized today to appoint a subcommittee to confer with Secretary Hughes, after long discussion in the committee had developed unyielding opposition to articles in the convention by which neither country could grant discriminatory tariff duties on articles carried in ships flying its own flag.

Both Republicans and Democrats expressed opposition to a departure from what they contend has been a traditional policy of the United States on granting tariff subsidies in favor of its own ships and they freely predicted that a treaty embodying such a proposal will not receive the necessary two-thirds' majority in the Senate, nor even a bare majority.

State Department officials made no comment on the action of the committee but it is known that in negotiating the treaty they had in mind obtaining the same treatment for American goods carried in German ships that German goods receive under like circumstances. The only way this could be achieved, it has been stated, was through a reciprocal agreement with Germany.

HILLMAN AND BRIDE ARE STILL SEPARATED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Dorothy Miller Hillman, pretty runaway bride of Howard J. Hillman, Jr., who recently was brought back from New York by her mother, remains in seclusion in the Evanston home of her parents, while young Hillman resides in solitary grandeur in the bridal suite at the Lakeshore Drive Hotel. Persistent rumors of a reconciliation apparently are premature. It is understood there has been an exchange of views through friends and that a reconciliation depends upon the acceptance of certain conditions on both sides, but the deserted husband and the runaway bride answer all questions with the statement that they have nothing to say.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. In the United States Land Office here has been found an interesting error of notation on the tract books covering the Colorado River area, this a statement that withdrawal of water-power sites by the national government had been made on February 19, 1917. The real date of withdrawal has been found to have been February 9, a matter of large importance as affecting governmental ownership of all Colorado River power dam sites.

In the Arizona Statehood Enabling Act, Section 28, due consideration was given the possibility of water power generation within the new State. The provision follows: "There is hereby reserved to the United States and excepted from the operation of any and all grants made or confirmed by this act to said proposed State all land actually or prospectively valuable for the development of water power or power for hydroelectric use or transmission, which shall be ascertained and designated by the Secretary of the Interior within five years after the proclamation of the President declaring the admission of the State; and no land so reserved and excepted shall be subject to any disposition whatsoever of said State, and any conveyance or transfer of such land by said State or any officers thereof shall be absolutely null and void within the period above named; and in lieu of the land so reserved to the United States and excepted from the operation of any of said grants, there be and is hereby granted to the proposed State an equal quantity of land to be selected from land of the character named and in the manner prescribed in Section 24 of this act."

The President issued his proclamation February 14, 1912, and the five-year limitation expired February 14, 1917. The tract book notations would indicate that the reservation had been made five days too late. It has been found, however, that the reservation actually was made and ordered on February 9, five days within the dead line date, though the letter of advice to the Phoenix Land Office bore date of the nineteenth.

The letter of advice bears the signature of C. M. Bruce, at one time Secretary of the Territory of Arizona, but then assistant commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington. It refers to water power designation No. 7, Arizona No. 4, and informs the register and receiver in Phoenix that by departmental order, February 9, certain lands within this district had been designated pursuant to the provisions of Section 28 of the Enabling Act, "as actually or prospectively valuable for the development of water powers or power for hydroelectric use or transmission, and notice was thereby given that under the terms of said act the described lands were reserved to the United States and exempted from the operations of any and all grants made or confirmed thereby to the State of Arizona."

This action of the Interior Department, by a margin of five days, would appear to dispose of the campaign argument that Arizona has a heritage or ownership right to the Colorado River's flow and, especially, of the claim of State ownership of dam sites or control of hydroelectric generation on the stream.

Several private or corporate claims also may be involved, notably the Stetson-Cameron locations for placer mining of large areas along the river bed of the Colorado River between Eldorado Canyon and Grand Canyon. In all, it is understood that about 330 placer or lode mining locations were recorded by these interests along the river. Possibly concerned also is the Southern California Edison Company, which, on February 3, 1922, effective December 14, 1921, received from Secretary Fall of the Interior Department certain rights in twelve or more townships under the 1200-foot contour line adjoining the Colorado River.

URGES UNION OF WHITE NATIONS

Congressman Britten Would Call Pacific Conference

Prepares Resolution Asking President to Take Step

Declares Move Would Curb Japanese War Spirit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Representative Britten of Illinois, ranking Republican on the House Naval Committee, announced tonight that he proposed to introduce tomorrow a resolution to empower the President to call a conference of white nations bordering the Pacific to discuss means of promoting better economic, commercial and political understanding among them.

The announcement was made at a banquet given by the chambers of commerce of several western cities in honor of the Congressional delegations from the Pacific Coast States.

"The attitude of Japan before the League of Nations and in Japan itself in opposition to certain cherished principles of America," said Mr. Britten, "is justification for the introduction of my resolution.

"Japan's open preparation for war is a reason why the white peoples surrounding the Pacific Ocean should have a definite defensive policy for their mutual protection, and the quicker this is done the better."

FAVORED IN AUSTRALIA

The Illinois member added that Australia already had indicated a desire to participate in such a movement and he suggested either Australia, Canada or Honolulu as suitable places for the proposed conference, "so as to take it away from the political machinations" of Washington.

Mr. Britten said:

"Influential Japanese newspapers recently objected to maneuvers of the United States Navy in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands, Australia or the Philippines, notwithstanding the fact that the Japanese navy is maneuvering constantly in waters many miles east and south of Japanese territory.

"A conference called for the purpose of promoting solidarity of the white people of nations bordering the Pacific will discuss not only ways and means for promoting better economic, commercial and political understanding between said nations, but will, of course, give serious consideration to national defenses of each country.

FOR ALLIANCE

"The fact that white peoples have agreed to support each other in event of an emergency will have the greatest psychological effect upon Japan, and will probably do more good than expenditure of millions of dollars.

"I believe the world will agree that no single English-speaking or even white nation bordering the Pacific should ever be compelled to meet Japan in war without the support of all the other white nations bordering the Pacific.

"The man power and money power of the United States, backed up by proper defenses at Pearl Harbor, Sydney, Singapore and other places, would assure peace just so long as white races live and remain in accord in the matter of protection to each other.

"In the event that the present short session of Congress may preclude the possibility of favorable action on my resolution, I hope that Australia or British Columbia may be induced to call a conference, which, after all, is as important to their future as to ours, if not more."

LETTER STRAYS; GIRL ENDS LIFE

Throws Self Into Thames Two Days After Row With Sweetheart

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Dec. 17.—A love letter that went astray in the mails sent Rose Edith Davis, 16 years of age, of Kingston, to her grave. Two days after a quarrel with her sweetheart, John Hill, 21, she threw herself into the Thames, it is believed. Her body was recovered. But meanwhile a letter had been posted by Hill asking the girl to forgive him. Not receiving the note she is believed to have leaped to death.

GARDNER'S HEAD TO BE EXAMINED

Wife of Bandit Wins in Fight to Seek Cause of Crime Career

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Dec. 17.—X-ray photographs of the head and one ankle of Roy Gardner, Pacific Coast bandit, were taken at the Fort Leavenworth Hospital yesterday, it was announced by Warden Biddle of the Federal penitentiary.

Gardner's wife recently won a fight to have her husband examined by a commission of military surgeons at Fort Leavenworth with a view to determining if there is an injury to Gardner's skull, as stated by his wife, who says this defect has been responsible for Gardner's life of crime.

Should the photographs disclose that there has been an injury to the skull, Gardner will be given a physical examination. While there has been no injury to his ankle, the photographs of it were taken to determine the condition of the nerve leading from the brain.

Gardner's wife is living in Seattle, it is believed.

NOTE ROCKNE BACK ON DECK AGAIN

Mentor Recovers from Short Illness

Adam Walsh Also Takes Part in Drill

Gridders Go Through Real Scrimmage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Dec. 17.—Notre Dame's grid activity took on new life here today when both Irish leaders, Knute Rockne and Capt. Adam Walsh, returned to the field after absences of one day and two weeks, respectively, on account of illness and injuries.

Rockne appeared none the worse for his short confinement with a cold and a slight attack of grippe and directed the afternoon's drill with the same spirit that characterizes every effort in behalf of his team. Walsh, contrary to all expectations, worked out with the squad participating in signal practice and dummy scrimmage. The Ramblers, booked in the Carnegie Tech and Northwestern games appear to have healed considerably and present indications the Notre Dame captain will lead his horsemen in the fray at Pasadena. Walsh and Rockne leave Tuesday night from Chicago, Ill., accompanied by Mrs. Walsh, formerly Miss Dorothy Gushurst, whom he married Monday morning.

HEATED BATTLE

Plenty of fight was in vogue this afternoon when the second teams engaging Notre Dame eleven in a long and hard battle, which was more of a contest than of the sham variety. The workout marked the first contact in kind in four weeks, the squad having been excused from the regular forms of practice during the early part of week preceding the Tech game. Rockne started the defensive for the greater part of the afternoon, sending plays against passers, the offensive part of the game in which Notre Dame and particularly the second team, has exhibited a decided weakness all season. Scouts from California have been dispatched to believe that

PREP GRIDDERS FINISH SEASON

Two Final Games Scheduled for Saturday

Compton, Glendale Clash at Washington Park

Berkeley, Bakersfield Play for State Title

John W. Playoff, that long drawn-out fellow whose days in Southern California football ranks seem to be numbered, will ring down the curtain on prep football Saturday afternoon when two games are to be played. In the north, at Bakersfield, Goldy Griffith's Drillers and the Berkeley Yellowjackets will be at it again for the State championship, while right down here at Washington Park, Glendale and Compton tangle for the Southern California grid title. As the Southern California play-off lasted so long, because of numerous ties, this section of prepdom will not be represented in the battle for the State football gonfalon.

Due to the recent rain which left the gridirons in a soggy condition, both the Glendale and Compton squads did little or no practice yesterday, simply running through a short signal drill and spending most of the time in skull practice.

Coach Hayhurst intended to send his Dynamiter charges through a workout at Washington Park yesterday in order to get them used to playing on a turf field, but the rain forced him to change his plans. When a bunch of huskies armed, or fested, with cleats cavort around on a soggy

MAGNATES THREATEN TO OUST LEAGUE PRESIDENT

American Loop Founder Removed From Advisory Council; Navin Supplants Him

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Byron Bancroft Johnson, founder and president of the American League since its inception twenty-three years ago, tonight was partly stripped of his power in organized baseball and threatened with deposition.

This startling action, resulting after a series of secret meetings in which American leaguers participated during the day, exploded like a bombshell in the ranks of organized baseball.

The American League club owners after a peace committee had two conferences with Commissioner Landis held a meeting at which the latter publicly denouncing Johnson for his criticism of Commissioner Landis's administration was drawn up, signed by all of the club owners excepting St. Louis and later presented to Landis for adoption at the joint session.

JOHNSON DEPARTS

President Johnson, after a conference with his club owners prior to the joint meeting, suddenly left the hotel without announcing his destination and was not in attendance when the rebuke of his attacks on the commissioner was presented.

The action of the American League club owners in publicly denouncing Johnson for his attacks on Landis and his administration was regarded as a sweeping triumph for the commissioner, who since the scandal involving Cozy Dolan and Jimmy O'Connell, outfielder, of the Giants, before the 1924 world's series between Washington and New York, has been adversely criticized by Johnson.

Johnson, after Landis banished Dolan and O'Connell from organized baseball, referred to the commissioner as a "wild-eyed crazy nut" and also said Landis should have called off the 1924 world's series because of the scandal on the eve of the baseball classic.

Landis made no reply to this criticism, remaining silent as he carried on his investigation of baseball crookedness and ordered the world's series played with O'Connell, star outfielder of the Giants, out of the line-up.

The American leaguers, after proposing an amendment to the English Speed King Sets New World's Record

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Dec. 17.—The English speed king, Eldridge, driving a 300-horsepower car, lowered the world's record for five kilometers for a circular track at Linas Monthlery this afternoon in the presence of officials of the Automobile Club of France by covering the distance in 2m. 56 97-100 of a second. Eldridge made an average speed of almost 211 kilometers an hour.

SUTTON ELECTED TO ASSIST HUSKY COACH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Dec. 17.—Wayne Sutton, University of Washington freshman football coach, has been reappointed assistant to Coach Enoch Bagshaw, the board of control announced today.

Varsity football letters have been awarded to twenty-four players. Twenty-five freshmen also were given letters.

The board recommended acceptance of varsity and freshman football schedules for 1925. The yearlings are to play five games next year.

The season's basketball schedule was sanctioned and March 12, 13 and 14 were named for the State high-school basketball tournament to be played in the University of Washington gymnasium.

WHAT THEY SAY OF JOHNSON

"First, that his misconduct will cease or his immediate removal from office will follow.

"Second, that legislation will be adopted that will limit his activities to the internal affairs of the American League.

"Third, that any and all measures which you may deem advisable to secure the above, will be adopted.

"As expressing our attitude toward your administration of the commissioner's office, we tender you herewith a copy of the resolution adopted by the American League at its annual meeting in New York, December 10, 1924."

TIGERS WORK IN SLEET

Missouri Eleven Has Last Outdoor Practice as Rain Falls; Start West Saturday Morning

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Dec. 17.—The Missouri football squad probably has had its last outdoor work before leaving Columbia Saturday morning for Los Angeles, to meet the University of Southern California there Christmas Day, Coach Henry declared tonight after the Tigers finished a workout in a cold drizzle which was freezing as it fell, and all but made football work impossible. Tomorrow, Henry said, unless conditions improve materially, the squad will take its work indoors in the stock judging pavilion on the State Farm here.

The Tiger mentor departed slightly from his practice of last week yesterday and today, when he gave his men some work at blocking and tackling. He said today that he did not intend to take unnecessary risks of injury, but felt that the men would perhaps benefit by a taste of the more strenuous part of football.

The work of packing the football equipment which the Tigers

COMPLETE DEAL WHICH SENDS URBAN SHOCKER TO YANKEES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Urban Shocker, the Browns' pitching ace, was traded to the Yankees today, adding spice to the joint meeting of major-league magnates at the Congress Hotel.

In exchange for Shocker, St. Louis will receive Pitcher "Bullet" Joe Bush, Milton Gaston and Clyde Girard, recently taken from the Toledo club.

The White Sox, Washington and Boston clubs also were understood to have bid for Shocker.

Shocker was a Yankee in 1916 and 1917, and since then has been the pitching mainstay for the Browns.

The departure of Joe Bush marks the first break in the "five star" Yankee pitching corps which has been a bulwark for the last three years. Bush, who had previous service with the Philadelphia and Boston American League clubs, came to the Yankees in 1923 from the Red Sox.

Japan now has 26,000 passenger automobiles and trucks, and 4594 motorcycles.

GRIZZLY ELEVEN TO PLAY STANFORD TEAM

Stanford University and the local University of California will meet on the gridiron next fall at Palo Alto, according to a report made here yesterday. The game will be played September 26. Arrangements were completed yesterday between Grizzly officials and Paul Davis, graduate manager of the northern school. It will be the first time the two institutions have played against each other.

PIPAL HAS TO REBUILD TEAM

'Argue, Spangler, Ellsworth, Powers Are Lost

Tiger Coach Attempting to Develop New Men

Oxy Will Have Tough Time Retaining Laurels

Faced with the huge task of developing men to take the places of the numerous graduated stars of last season's championship cinderpath team, Coach Joe Pipal has started track practice early out at Occidental College this year. One interclass meet for novices has already been held by the Bengal mentor in an attempt to discover some future greats, but so far his search has been as unsuccessful as Diogenes's.

The Tigers, who were the money last season, and ran off with the Southern conference title, will be hard-pressed to make a similar showing during the coming year, graduation having caused a decided slump in their track stock, while Pomona, their closest rival last year, has most all of its '24 team back. Argue, Ridderhoff, Goodenough, Ellsworth, Spangler, Powers and Condit are a few of the men that Coach Joe Pipal will have to replace if the Tigers are to walk off with the conference honors again in 1925.

STRONG IN SPOTS

Pipal's outfit is strong in spots, and woefully weak in others, and the Tiger mentor will have to develop some second and third place grabbers if the Black and Orange is to cop. In the sprints he has Phil Buckman, who made Argue hump last year; Bud Nash, who is Phil's equal, and Greg and Broadhead from the frosh.

The Tigers will be weak in the quarter, with Herb Morey the only returning letterman, Kelos and Eklaff, a couple of likely sophs, may show the stuff later on, however.

The middle distances will be handled by Ken Montgomery and Nick Carter, who made such a wonderful showing in the Olympic tryouts last season. Miller and Bailey from last year's Babe team are showing some promise in these events, while Lavelle is the best Tiger bet in the two-mile run. Hugh Miller is another long-winded youngster, and will probably be Lavelle's running mate.

Wall is the only letterman returning in the hurdles, and Pipal is working hard to develop Tanner and Tifel of last year's peagreeners, to run with him. Both boys look fairly promising, but must develop more speed.

GOOD COMBINATION

The Bud Nash-Frank Bradshaw combination will make Oxy fairly strong in the broad and high jump. Both boys are lettermen of last year, and were point gainers in most every meet.

With the exception of Jock Stevens and Roy Wheeler, it looks as if Coach Pipal will have a hard time gaining any points in the weight events.

Oxy's best bet in the pole vault is Bisner, who, although he is not a letterman, has been showing fair form in the event of late, and it is expected that he will be doing around eleven feet when track season opens.

Runclathe in Dazzling Win at Tia Juana

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 17.—Runclathe, displaying dazzling speed in the mud, took the feature race at Tia Juana this afternoon, with Doubtful second and the well-played Fort Churchill, third. Doubtful caused a lot of surprise by placing, as he was a rank outsider and would have paid heavily if he had copped.

Bobby Allen, a long shot, beat a lot of good mudders in taking the initial race and was quoted at 14.50 to 1. Over the long route of one mile one-sixteenth, Canute ran gamely to head off Romulus, which had been overlooked by the bettors. Nyzam, another well-priced horse, was third.

First race, six furlongs: Bobby Allen (Mellus,) won; Rosepath (Shagland,) second; Prosecutor (Francisco,) third. Time: 1:16.

Second race, six furlongs: Kaala (Creary,) won; Gaylon (Hooper,) second; Fernandez (Friedrich,) third. Time: 1:15 2-5.

Third race, mile and sixteenth: Canute (Fisher,) won; Romulus (Roberts,) second; Nizam (Edwards,) third. Time: 1:51 1-5.

Fourth race, five and one-half furlongs: Nan McKinney (Germain,) won; Mary Elmore (Fisher,) second; Scottish Lad (Francisco,) third. Time: 1:08 2-5.

Fifth race, five and one-half furlongs: Runclathe (Edwards,) won; Doubtful (Gormley,) second; Ft. Churchill (Francisco,) third. Time: 1:07 1-5.

Sixth race, five furlongs: Flitter Bells (Rodgers,) won; Ann Gregan (Shagland,) second; Zig Zag (Moffatt,) third. Time: 1:03 1-5.

Seventh race, mile and one furlong: Wedding Prince (Baker,) won; Tingling (Gormley,) second; Full o' Fun (Cowan,) third. Time: 1:37 1-5.

GOULDING TO WALK IN MELROSE GAMES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Dec. 17. George Goulding of Vancouver, claimant to several world's walking records, announced today he would enter the international Melrose games scheduled to be held in January in Madison Square Garden, New York City. He said among his opponents were to be Willie Plant, American Olympic champion, and Frigerio, winner of the 10,000-meter walk at the 1924 Olympic games.

LACK OF GAMES MAY DISBAND ICE SQUAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Dec. 17.—Boston College, with its greatest hockey team since the sport was organized here, probably will have to disband for lack of games with other colleges. The management was able to book only two contests, the annual fixture with West Point on February 23 and a game with St. Thomas College of St. Paul here Christmas night. The latter engagement has been canceled because the faculty would not sanction a game on Christmas.

OBSERVATIONS

By Bill Henry

Looks as though the boxing game is rapidly blending into the film business. First, we have Jack Dempsey blushingly admitting that he is likely to be so busy looking after the affairs of his beautiful young friend, Estelle Taylor, that he won't be able to box, and now we have Benny Leonard, the lightweight king, making a picture that looks so good that he may shelve the boxing gloves in favor of grease paint.

Yesterday a number of hungry sporting scribes enjoyed a preview of Benny's latest effort, a serial entitled "Flying Fists." Al Kaufman, Jeff Lazarus and Art Wenzel acted as hosts at the Metropolitan, where the picture will be shown beginning next Saturday. No doubt about Benny's being the hero of the picture, but the interesting feature is the fact that Benny really acts and gets away with it.

The story, of course, is one of those Horatio Alger type, where the honest youngster helps his crippled brother and widowed mother by turning professional and massacreing sundry and assorted pugilists. The story is entertainingly told, and the titles by Sam Hellman are very funny. Benny is likely to wake up and find himself as famous an actor as he is a boxer.

Incidentally this story about Dempsey and his retirement is really a very interesting thing. There might easily be a whole lot of truth in it. Dempsey after all, is unquestionably a fighter. He likes the money and everything that goes with it, but he doesn't like to sit down month after month and do nothing except make an occasional raid on the coffers of the vaudeville magnates.

Dempsey really loves to fight and would like to defend his title a great deal more frequently than he has. Dempsey now has money in such quantities that he doesn't care so much about a huge purse. He'd be tickled to death to fight more frequently and for less money. He and his astute manager, Jack Kearns, have stuck together so long that it doesn't seem possible that there would be a serious disagreement between them. But stranger things that that have happened, and Mr. Dempsey seems to be very much in earnest about his intention to retire.

Capt. Dave Ridderhof and his battling Bengals from Occidental have returned from their excursion to Honolulu bearing proof of the fact that it doesn't matter how many yards you make . . . it's the score that counts. This is much the same story that U.S.C. had to tell when the Trojans were beaten by St. Mary's and similarly the yarn Syracuse may be telling of how they made ten first downs to six for U.S.C., and still got licked.

Honolulu papers show Oxy and Hawaii each made eight first downs, the punting avrage was about the same, the Hawaiians made 166 yards from scrimmage to 146 gained by the Tigers, and Oxy made 123 yards running punts back to 78 for Hawaii. Hawaii gained 75 yards by passes and Oxy 48. Total yardage gained was 319 for Hawaii and 317 for Oxy, and yet the Tigers lost 18 to 3. Incidentally the Tigers lost 85 yards on penalties, which, they claim, came at crucial moments.

It used to be that teams as evenly matched as above would be almost equal as to score, and when a team made as many yards as U.S.C. did against St. Mary's it invariably won. But nowadays times have changed, and any team given a few "breaks" is likely to wallop a team considerably stronger. That's what has made football the interesting game it is from the spectator's point of view. That's also one of the reasons why football coaches so often have white hair.

row afternoon. The long layoff should have put them on edge for the final grind.

Every member of the California squad is in good shape and it is the prevailing idea here that the Bears will take the Quakers into camp and keep up their wonderful record of not having suffered a defeat on the gridiron since 1919.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASADENA, Dec. 17.—From now on purchasers who apply for seats in the $3 and $1.50 sections of the Rose Bowl for the Stanford-Notre Dame football game have the best chance of obtaining good position on New Year's Day, it was stated at Stanford headquarters here this morning.

All the $6 boxes and nearly all the regular $5 pasteboards have been applied for and paid for.

A ticket-mailing department, with both night and day shifts, is established on the second floor of the Pacific-Southwest Bank Building here and is mailing pasteboards to purchasers at the rate of 5000 per day.

The Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. casaba flippers started the A.A.U. basketball race auspiciously last night by defeating the Santa Monica Athletic Club quintet, 19 to 13, at the Central "Y" cage. The playing of Payne, center for the Y.M.C.A. outfit, featured the struggle, which was hard fought and fairly even all the way.

Both teams used numerous substitutes, making the game fast and furious all the way. Carpentier, Santa Monica, starred for the losers, making four of his teams' points. Line-ups:

Y.M.C.A. (13.)		Santa Monica A. C. (13.)
Young (3)	F.	Johnson
Herbiman (4)	F.	Hughes (2)

L.A.A.C. WINS

The Los Angeles Athletic Club's quintet got off to a flying start in the A.A.U. basketball league race last night by thoroughly trouncing the Title Trust and Insurance five, 45 to 7, before a good crowd in the Mercury gym. The Mercury five showed much class and was so far superior to the T. I. & T. outfit that the game was not an interesting one to watch.

At half time the L.A.A.C. was leading 22 to 2, and the outcome was never in doubt after the opening minutes of play. Fred Olney, Mercury center, was the outstanding point getter, making fifteen digits. Alling, Laswell and Gerpheide made six each for the club five. The line-ups:

L.A.A.C. (45)		Title Trust (7)
Alling (6)	F.	Walton (4)
Laswell (6)	F.	Weiner
Olney (6)	C.	Oleschlager (3)

Saunder (2)	G.	Sampson

Substitutes—L.A.A.C., Gerpheide (4,) J. Larsen (2,) Nowland (4,) Slaughter (2.) Title Trust, Bowler (1.) Referee, Orr.

DENTALS DOWNED

A wild burst of basket shooting in the second half gave the Griffin and McGary five a 39-to-20 win over the U.S.C. Dental School last night in the first A.A.U. loop basketball game of the season. The game took place in the U.S.C. pavilion.

Griffin and McGary led by the slim margin of 2 points at the half, but the sterling work of Daugherty, forward and Redfern, center, in the last period extracted the game from the Dent's maw quite painlessly, or maybe it was painful. Both squads played good clean basketball and the game was a thriller up to the last minute. Nelson, who shot 11 points, was the individual star of the Dental team. The line-ups:

Griffin & McGary (39)		U.S.C. Dental College (20)
Moore (9)	F.	Partridge
Daugherty (8)	F.	Nelson (11)
Redfern (11)	C.	Griffin (7)

ALHAMBRA ON TOP

The Alhambra Athletic Club basketball team was among those present in the win column of the A.A.U. cage standings last night after defeating the William Lane Company five by a 36-to-21 score at Lincoln High School. The Alhambrans were masters of the situation all the time.

Leading by a 17-to-5 count at half time, Alhambra showed in an entire second team which had a little difficulty holding the Lanemen away from the basket. Fox and Casey starred for the victors, scoring 11 and 10 points respectively. Wintrobe accounted for 14 of the Lane Company's digits, making most of them from difficult angles. The line-ups:

Alhambra A. C. (36)		William Lane Co. (21)
Fox (11)	F.	Wintrobe (14)
Christensen (8)	F.	Ward (1)
Casey (10)	C.	Walker (4)
Mata (4)	G.	Hamilton (1)
Fox (11)	F.	Wintrobe (14)

Substitutes—Alhambra, Lehner (1,) Campbell (1.) Referee, Livermath.

Berry, Zedick in Fast Draw at Culver City

Jimmy Berry and Sailor Zedick, heavyweights, fought a fast draw in the main event of the Culver City charity boxing show last night. The two men did plenty of slugging and were faster than the ordinary run of heavies. Berry had a slight edge, but it was too slight to catch the judges' eye.

Johnny Liles got a decision over Young Danny in the semi-wind-up. It was the best fight of the evening, both boys trying hard and displaying plenty of slugging. In the special event, Kid Chile and Paul Hardy drew. The spectacular part of the bout was the fact that the Kid broke his hand in the first round and went through the remaining three frames to a draw despite the handicap.

Solly Martinez and Young Joe Rivers started the show with a fast draw. Kid Lugo knocked out Young Riley in the third spasm with a right to the jaw. Young Salvadore and Augie Petrangelo drew after a more or less interesting scrap. Billy Shannon won in four rounds over Young Chico.

SEATTLE MAN TO UMPIRE GRID BATTLE

BANTIES SET FOR TITLE GO

Martin Certain to Make Weight for Championship Bout With Goldstein Tomorrow Night

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The New York State Boxing Commission, following a report from one of its deputies, is satisfied that "Cannonball Eddie" Martin, challenger for the bantamweight championship of the world, will be able to make 118 pounds by 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. There is no longer any doubt that the Brooklyn boy will be at the weight when he steps into the Garden ring Friday evening to engage Champion Abe Goldstein in a fifteen-round battle for the title.

Goldstein, who is a real bantamweight and a rather capable champion is already under the required poundage. He will weigh little more than 117 when he steps into the ring against Martin Friday night. The battle has created a great deal of interest in boxing circles and has resulted in no little betting.

The odds quoted today were seven to five with "Cannonball Eddie" on the short end. Investigation, however, proved that there was very little business to be done at this price. The actual price at which business was being done today was even money and this figure will prevail until the men enter the ring unless Martin, the challenger, should be made a slight favorite.

The betting has been light and the indications are that there will be no great volume of business done in connection with this match. This is because Goldstein, the champion, is a temperamental youth who can be regarded as an in-and-outer. He is capable of great fights and also one that could be described as miserable. If he happens to be in the proper mood he is capable of turning in a wonderful performance. If he should be in the doldrums—to use a nautical expression—as he occasionally is, he would be a mark for a man like Martin.

LEGION TO HOLD SHOW

Hollywood Arena to Stage Regular Program Tomorrow Night Despite Gov. Richardson's Edict

Although Gov. Friend W. Richardson, through the Attorney-General of California, ordered all State boxing shows closed beginning at midnight yesterday, the Hollywood American Legion will go right ahead with its program for tomorrow night. Asa Keyes, District Attorney of Los Angeles county, has practically given the Movie City officials his official O.K. by stating that he will not enforce the new edict.

Local sporting men were rather incensed today at some of the statements attributed to Gov. Richardson anent the appointment of the State Boxing Commission. The Governor is reported to have called the matter "a small and objectionable duty," and to have referred to boxing as "an alleged sport."

Dick Hoppe is to meet Ace Hudkins in the main event of the Hollywood show, with Frank Farmer and Ray Neuman battling in the semi-wind-up. E. C. Henderson, football coach at U.S.C., will be the guest of honor at the program, and the Trojan band will furnish special music for the occasion.

Lewis Defeats Great Italian in Mat Battle

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17. — Without the use of his headlock for the finishing touches, Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world heavyweight wrestling champion, defended his title against Challenger Mike Romano here last night.

The champion won the last two falls, while Romano was victor in the first, which he won in 3:43m., after a series of three vicious headlocks, one which he held for two minutes and fifteen seconds. Lewis won the second fall in 1:04:55 with a toe hold and head scissors, and the third in 3:02 with a reverse body lock.

The big crowd, estimated at 11,000, was treated to a real thrill in the opening fall. At the call of time Romano rushed the champion and threw him heavily to the mat with a leg hold. Lewis regained his feet and the Italian sprang at him like a tiger and clamped on his first headlock, which he held for two minutes and fifteen seconds. The champion finally broke it after a great effort, but he no sooner regained his feet than Romano put on another and again Lewis was flopped to the mat. Another great effort and it was broken, only to be applied again, and this time for the desired result.

Says Forward Pass Menace to Grid Game

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WOOSTER (O.) Dec. 17.—L. C. Boles, director of athletics at Wooster College, has started a quiet but vigorous campaign to bring before those interested in football, both the general public and college leaders, what he considers the "menace of the forward pass."

Boles is an advocate of the rushing and kicking game and asserts that the unrestricted use of the forward pass has put the gridiron game in the category of an "outdoor basketball" contest.

Boles suggests the following changes:

Limiting the number of forward passes in each quarter.

On incompleted passes take the ball back to the point from which the ball was passed.

Make the necessary distance to be gained on four attempts eight yards instead of ten.

WOODBURY MEN BOW TO LOYOLA CAGERS

Loyola College pulled a "Knute Rockne" on the Woodbury Business College last night, and succeeded in defeating the latter basketball aggregation by a 46-to-20 tally at the Lion pavilion.

Loyola ran in their subs during the first period, who managed to hold the Business College five even. In the second period the Lion regulars made their appearance on the floor, and they completely swamped the Woodbury casaba slingers. Burk, Sullivan and Tunney showed well for the winners, while Bote, who made fifteen points by himself, was the losers' main standby. The line-ups:

LOYOLA		WOODBURY COLLEGE
Sherwood 4	R.F.	Albright 2
Sullivan 6	L.F.	Bote 15
West 8	C.	Goodwin 3
Brown 6	S.G.	Smith 1
Mahady 0	R.G.	Johnson 0

Substitutes—Melanese, 6; Burke, 3; Fresenich, 4; Tunney, 6.

"Buck" Curtis Defeats Kelly at Wilmington

In one of the most thrilling battles seen at local fight clubs this year, Buck Curtis, the pride of Long Beach, got a decision over K. O. Kelly, Los Angeles, in the main event at the Wilmington Athletic Club fistic entertainment last night. Curtis and Kelly had everything that makes a good fighter and they showed it. Speed, punches, brains were all much in evidence. Curtis was just a shade the better and got the decision.

Billy Hogan, another Long Beach boy, fought his way into a draw with Young Farrell, of Los Angeles in the semi-wind-up. Farrell got away to a fast start but couldn't stand the pace.

Roy Moore and Sailor Foster pounded each other into bloody masses and got a draw in the special event. The bout fairly drenched everything within ten yards of the ring with claret and had the crowd on the backs of the chairs with its fierceness. Both men opened up old cuts on the other and drew blood from mouth and nose.

The show opened with a fast struggle between Champ Monroe and Jimmy Gargil, Monroe winning. The battle was fairly exciting and the decision well received. Then Jimmy Adair and Ted Barton came out and milled around evenly for four rounds, Adair winning. A Battle Royal, with five colored lads in the ring, lasted exactly two rounds in a special event tacked on. A youth answering to the name of Booker T. Washington was the survivor. It drew a lot of laughs.

Battling Ortega and Duke Porter put on a rather tame draw in the third bout. Neither was overdisposed to mix things. Jackie Sherman got a decision over Frankie Carter in another classy bout. The two boys put everything they had into the mill and were nearly even when the gong ended the fourth round.

Hood, Lancho Grab Honors at Pasadena

One of the best fight cards ever witnessed by Pasadena fans was staged at the armory last night, making an appropriate curtain for the 1924 season in the Pasadena arena. In the main event, which was a double-header, Ernie Hood took a decision over Young Polo, and Young Lancho was given the nod over Phil Mata. Both fights were pipping. Hood should have kayoed his opponent, but Polo was too clever for him. Lancho and Mata mixed it fiercely in their half of the event, and it was the opinion of many that the fight should have been a draw.

In the semi-wind-up John Kennedy made short work of Johnnie Belerde. Two crushing rights floored Belerde twice in the first round, once for the count of nine, and the second time for good.

Young Sabio took the special event from Kid Walters, when he slipped an almighty left into the latter's jaw in the third round of the bout.

Joe Hill and Frank Cruz battled through four rounds of classy mitt slinging to a draw in the third fight, while Frenchie Muir dropped Henry Berg for the count in the second fight. By so doing Muir gains the amateur heavy title of Pasadena.

Kid Garcia secured a technical knockout over Dick Gonzales in the first bout on the program.

FERRERA COPS TAME BOUT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Michael Ferrera, described by some of our experts as a "killer," was anything but that tonight in his six-round encounter in Madison Square Garden with Joe Silvani, the Italian youngster from the lower East Side. They gave Ferrera the decision, but he didn't win by any great margin and inflicted little damage on Silvani, over whom he enjoyed a weight advantage of some seventeen pounds.

The bout promised to be filled with rugged action, but it turned out to be a tame affair. The only vicious milling of the whole six rounds came in the last when the two stood toe to toe and exchanged wallops aimed at any spot that was most handy.

turf the general result is a complete ruination of the grass, so Washington Park officials requested Hayhurst to keep his charges off until the field dried.

As Saturday's Glendale-Compton fracas will be the only football affair of note south of the Tehachapis, quite a crowd is expected to be on hand. Coach Pine of Glendale, announces his squad is in fine shape with the exception of Chappelle, center, who was injured in the Santa Maria struggle. Pine is grooming two men to fill the pivot job and expects to bolster that up in fine shape for the Dynamiter contest.

DENNEY OUT

Glendale also has a cripple in Fullback Denney, who was injured in last week's clash with Orange. However, Porter Thompson, who also played on the lightweights this year, filled Denney's position with much eclat in the latter portion of the Orange battle, so the Dynamiters will not be seriously weakened, even if Denney is not able to play.

Both squads will go through a hard workout this afternoon and then hold only a light practice on the day before the game.

In the northern section of the State Bakersfield, for the first time since 1919, is not a heavy favorite to capture State prep honors. "Goldy" Grimth's Drillers have held the distinction of being State football champs for so long that it has become a matter of form for them to win this honor every year. But now Berkeley has the most powerful eleven in its history and Yellowjacket supporters claim that the long reign of the Drillers will end some time during next Saturday afternoon.

THUMPED LODI, 51-0

Last week the Yellowjackets thumped Lodi, 51 to 0, to win the right to tackle Bakersfield and showed so much power that Bay section critics have become much enthused over their chances Saturday. In Clymer, a quarterback, who is a triple-threat man, aside from being a brainy team handler, and Capt. Doughery, the Yellowjackets have a pair of backs that have ripped all opposition to shreds in every game this year. The Berkeley line is also said to be big and powerful.

All this would seem to indicate that Bakersfield will be crushed, but Griffith always manages to turn out a smart eleven at the Oil City and Driller rooters don't appear to be worried. Griffith scouted the Berkeley-Lodi game and probably has worked out a way to stop the Yellowjacket attack. And then again Bakersfield has always had the "Indian sign" on the Berkeley school, never getting worse than a tie in any of its battles with the Yellowjackets.

KNUTE ROCKNE ON DECK AGAIN

the highly touted California air in the vicinity of Pasadena will be filled with nothing but footballs on New Year's Day. Warner, so the reports say, has been placing particular stress on the aerial division of his offense, while Notre Dame has long been known for its success in this department.

NO SET ATTACK

Casual observers, who have followed Notre Dame closely during the strenuous season just concluded, and who have been paying undivided attention to recent developments on Cartier Field, are wont to believe that Notre Dame will enter the Stanford game in much the same manner as it has the other nine played this fall, that is, without any definite line of attack. Rockne's quarterbacks are given thorough instructions during the course of the year in the execution of the offenses with which he supplies them.

At the outset of each game these pilots are sent into the melee to devise their own attack to meet and cope with existing conditions. If they are unable to do this, Rockne substitutes a man, with whom he has discussed the situation, outlining for him the plan of attack best fitted to counteract the attack of his opponents. In view of this fact, it is hardly within the power of anyone to say what Notre Dame will employ against Warner's Cardinals—not excepting Rockne.

Gilmore Oilers to Tangle With Hollywood Nine

Hollywood baseball fans will get their first glimpse of the crack Gilmore Oil baseball team in action Sunday afternoon, when Cliff McCarl's aggregation tangles with the Hollywood Merchants at the Movie City.

The Gilmores will take the field with "Tub" Spencer watching the contest from the bench. In the game against St. Louis colored Giants at Goodyear Park last Sunday, the popular receiver had a finger-nail torn off while catching a foul tip. "Hack" Ennis will take his place behind the bat against Floyd Carleton's outfit.

Ferdie Schupp, the ex-Giant chucker, who lost a tough game last Sunday, will be on the firing line for the Gilmores. Schupp has been enjoying a successful winter season, and is favored to pitch the Oilers to a victory Sunday.

Carleton will most likely start "Buck" Ramsey, the Angels' promising youngster.

ELMAN MAKES FINAL APPEARANCE TONIGHT

For his farewell appearance tonight at the Philharmonic Auditorium Mischa Elman, the Russian violinist, has selected a pleasing program. One of the feature numbers will be Albert Dupuis's "Fantasie Rapsodique," which will be rendered for the first time in this country. The program follows:

Partita, E Minor (Allegro, Adagio, Allemande, Gigue) ..... Bach-Nachez
Fantasie Rapsodique (first time in America) ..... Albert Dupuis
Allegro tempo giusto, Lento tres expressif.
Allegro Scherzo, Allegretto ..... Albert Dupuis
Lullaby ..... Barbella-Verbec
Cantradanse ..... Beethoven-Elman
Nocturne ..... Grieg
Hungarian Dance, A Major ..... Brahms-Joachim
Air de Lenski, from "Eugen Onegin" ..... Tschaikowsky-Auer
Oriental Serenade ..... Cui-Auer
Alhambiti ..... Wagner-Wilhelmj

"FLEET SPORTS"

The U.S.S. Tennessee grabbed the track and field championship of Battleship Division Three on the Long Beach Poly High oval Tuesday afternoon and looks good to annex the Battle Fleet title. The Rebel Ship athletes finished out in front of the cinder dusters from the U.S.S. West Virginia by a scant margin, with the U.S.S. Maryland third and the U.S.S. Colorado team fourth. The U.S.S. Pennsylvania, in Division Three, and the U.S.S. California, in Division Four, look good for the championship eliminations.

Ensign Charlie Wood's swimming team from the U.S.S. West Virginia continued its headlong splash toward the Battle Fleet trophy in the Long Beach High School pool last night by trimming the swimmers from the U.S.S. California, champions of Battleship Division Four. Tomorrow night the West Virginia lads will meet the swimmers from the U.S.S. Pennsylvania, Division Three champs, in the second round of the three-meet elimination for the fleet trophy.

Luck appears to still be with the car-wielders from the U.S.S. Arizona, which ship's boat crews have been running away with all honors in the fall regatta of the Battle Fleet. Saturday morning the series will be wound up with the classic Seattle Shriners' cup race, a two-mile event for raceboats with selected crews.

The twelve from the U.S.S. New Mexico was conceded to be the Arizona's toughest opposing crew, until Allen, who pulled the third starboard oar, was severely burned in the recent explosion of the power boat Lamoyne. Allen's loss will seriously affect the machine-like action of the New Mexico's crew.

The U.S.S. Mississippi, which has been absent at the Puget Sound navy yard during the entirety of the present athletic season, will drop anchor in her old berth Saturday morning in time to cheer her boat crew for a desperate try for victory. The Seattle Shriners' trophy at present reposes aboard the Mississippi.

Lieut. Larue Lawbaugh and the U.S.S. Idaho grid squad are as hopeful as the gang from the U.S.S. Melville that Admiral Robison will approve the post-season contest scheduled for January 4 at the Municipal Stadium in San Diego. Commander Jonas Ingram's boys from the destroyer squadrons challenged the Idaho, Battle Fleet champions, to a return game in the belief that they should have won last Saturday's affray at Trona Field.

Boxers and wrestlers from the U.S.S. West Virginia and the U.S.S. Colorado will clash for the first time tomorrow night on the quarter deck of the West Virginia, in a regular divisional elimination smoker. Ensign Jack Bolton's mitt slingers from the West Virginia are rated to finish on top.

TIGERS IN LAST HOME WORKOUT

will take to California began today. The Bengals will have a complete new outfit when they make their appearance in the Los Angeles Coliseum and will probably depart from their traditional striped sox for a solid old gold of lighter weight, a concession to California climate. The Tiger stripes on the Jerseys will remain, however. Sweat shirts will also replace the heavy sheep-lined coats for wear on the bench, though a few of the latter will be taken along for wear in case of rain.

Warned of the likelihood of a downpour in Los Angeles at this time of year, the Missourians will also be equipped with the usual extra pair of shoes with mud cleats and a set of rubber fabric pants, which shed the water and relieve the players of the weight of the usual water-soaked moleskins when playing on a heavy field.

WHITE SOX TO MEET PIRRONE'S ALL STARS

The colored White Sox who, with the White King Soaps, are laying claim to top position in the Professional Winter League, will meet Pirrone's All-Stars in a three-game series this wee-end at White Sox Park. The schedule as arranged called for a series between the Pale Hose and the White King Soaps. This has been changed, however, and Pirrone's pilitoseers, who are close on the heels of the two league leaders, will battle the star colored nine.

As both nines are playing top-notch ball, the game Saturday and the double-header Sunday ought to provide plenty of thrills for baseball fans.

BUD RIDLEY TO MEET SALT LAKE FEATHER

Bud Ridley, star featherweight boxer of Los Angeles, will leave here this afternoon to meet Lou Paluso, at Salt Lake City in a twelve-round bout next Monday, according to a report made here yesterday. Jack Masinter, Ridley's manager, and several seconds will accompany him. Both men are veterans and a record crowd is expected.

SHIP TROUT EGGS TO STOCK RAINBOW LAKE

It was learned yesterday from Manager Leigh Garnsey of the Rainbow Angling Club that a shipment of 200,000 brown trout eggs is now en route from Wisconsin. Last Sunday found many fishing parties at the club. Garnsey also announces that the surplus membership are rapidly being taken up by Southern California anglers.

BENNY LEONARD'S A FILM STAR NOW

What do the good fighting champs do when they can't find anyone with punch enough to take away their titles? Why, they go in the movies, of course! First it was Dempsey—now it's Benny Leonard. According to the New York critics who have seen his first cinema comedy effort, however, Benny continues to be a "knockout" whether he's in the prize ring or the glare of the Klieg lights. "Flying Fists," his first, is at the Metropolitan next week beginning Saturday.

LANDIS WHIPS BAN JOHNSON

major league agreement, removing Johnson from membership on the advisory council, elected Frank J. Navin of the Detroit club as his successor.

When the advisory council was created after the national commission passed out of existence, it was composed of Commissioner Landis, John A. Heydler, president of the National League and President Johnson of the American League, under the terms of its agreement which provided that its membership should be made up of the two major league presidents and the commissioner.

The amendment to this agreement changed it to provide that any club president could be elected to membership on the advisory council by a majority vote of its league members, in the event league president is not chosen to serve.

The letter from the American League club-owners to Landis guaranteed that legislation would be adopted that if Bandis did not approve of Johnson's conduct in the future, the American Leaguers would adopt any and all measures that Commissioner Landis considered advisable.

The letter further declared that conditions created by President Johnson were intolerable to Landis and gravely harmful to baseball and that Johnson sought to cast suspicion on the 1924 world's series and discredit Landis's action in dealing with crookedness.

The communication to Landis was the outgrowth of the American League peace committee composed of Thomas S. Shibe of the Philadelphia club, Col. Jacob Ruppert, of the New York Yankees, and E. S. Barnard, of the Cleveland club, in their efforts to effect a reconciliation between Johnson and Landis.

This committee conferred with Landis before noon and evidently failed in its efforts to smooth the breach. Landis instructed them to return to their American League associates, carrying with them his suggestions as to the proposals they had submitted to him.

After a second conference, shortly after noon, the announcement was made that the joint session originally scheduled for 11 a.m. and four times postponed, would be held at 2 p.m.

They finally went into session at 3:30 p.m. and after nearly three hours of deliberations newspaper men were called.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

Commissioner Landis, smiling broadly, gave no hint of what action had been taken, referring his interviewers to his secretary, who began reading the communication from the American League club owners.

When the reading was finished, Landis, still smiling, refused to make any comment, except to say this: "I have nothing to say. The letter speaks for itself."

After disposing of the Johnson issue, American and National league club owners adopted a flock of minor resolutions. Commissioner Landis was permitted to grant the players the right to play exhibition games on Armistice Day, provided the games were for charity.

A request of the umpires for increased compensation for officiating in a world's series was referred to the commission for final action.

The proposal of Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn Nationals, that opening games of the world series be held in National League parks one year and American League parks the next, instead of deciding the issue by the flip of a coin, was tabled for consideration at the spring schedule meetings.

President Johnson is under a twenty-year contract at a salary of $50,000 a year. He was elected in 1910 on the twenty-year period, at an increase in salary after serving as president of the league he founded with the co-operation of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, for almost a decade. Comiskey was the leading figure in installing Johnson as president of the American League, but since the 1919 world's series scandal has been Johnson's most bitter enemy.

BANISHMENT IS THREATENED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—The following communication was presented to the major-league meeting by Col. Jacob Ruppert, of the New York American League club:

"We recognize that conditions have arisen that are gravely harmful to baseball and that must be intolerable to you and that these conditions have been created by the activities of the president of the American League.

"While you were dealing promptly and efficiently with a most deplorable exception to baseball's honorable record, our president sought to discredit your action and to cast suspicion on the 1924 world's series.

"One year ago you made known to us in his presence various of his activities and it was our expectation and hope that the unanimous action then taken certainly would operate as a corrective, but in this expectation and hope we have been disappointed.

"We do not extenuate these things or question their harmful effect on baseball. However, he has been president of our league since its inception and we ask you to again overlook his conduct and accept from us these guarantees:

"First, that his misconduct will cease or his immediate removal from office will follow.

"Second, that legislation will be adopted that will limit his activities to the internal affairs of the American League.

"Third, that any and all measures which you may deem advisable to secure the above will be adopted.

"As expressing our attitude toward your administration of the commissioner's office, we tender you herewith a copy of the resolution unanimously adopted by the American League at its annual meeting in New York, December 10, 1924.

U.S.C. ELEVEN TO WEAR BLUE UNIFORMS

When the University of Southern California football team takes the field against the University of Missouri eleven at the Coliseum next week, it will be wearing blue uniforms rather than its usual cardinal colors. The Trojans received word yesterday that Missouri will be in black and gold suits. Coach Elmer Henderson is slightly superstitious concerning the asure union. The Trojans were in blue when they defeated Idaho and Syracuse university elevens.

U.S.C. FROSH FIVE STRONG

Coach Leo Calland Has Nifty Outfit Entered in Southern California A.A.U. Basketball Tourney

Maybe Hercules did pile up some record when he was an infant, but he certainly hasn't got anything on the Trojan Babe, who has chewed up a rather large quantity of high school and college elevens during his teething period, and is about to wrestle with some twelve basketball quintets, entered in the A.A.U. championships, by way of breaking in his muscles for the grind to come. Leo Calland who is training Southern California's infant prodigies, says that, while the Frosh may not walk off with the A.A.U. title, they are going to make tough going for any machine that has to climb over them.

Owing to the fact that Calland has not been able to get at coaching his recruits as soon as he should have, due to a protracted football season, the frosh have postponed their first three games, and will meet the U.S.C. Dental College five in their initial encounter on the 27th inst.

Present signs point to a strong, snappy quintet for the Trojan Babes this year. Thirty-eight men have reported for the indoor sport, and some have exceptional individual ability. Among those who are showing well are: Jones, Crawford Thomas and Howard Elliott at forwards; Jack Bruner and Currin at center; Red McHaffie, "Slim" Hinsdale and Louis of Huntington Park at the guard positions. "Individually the squad is pretty good," said Calland, "the thing now is to get them to work together, and we'll have a fair casaba machine. The Trojan peagreeners will face their first crucial test when they meet the Hollywood Athletic Club.

FLEET GRID SQUADS MAY MEET AGAIN

U.S.S. Idaho Likely to Take on Melville Outfit at San Diego January 4

San Diego Navy sports circles are already on the feather edge over the scheduled post-season game between the U.S.S. Idaho eleven, champions of the United States Battle Fleet, and the squad from the U.S.S. Melville, runners-up who were beaten, 13 to 9, at Trona Field last Saturday by Idaho. Pending the approval of Admiral Samuel S. Robison, commander-in-chief of the Battle Fleet, the game will be played at the San Diego municipal stadium on January 4.

The proposed game comes from a desire of the Melville athletes to get revenge from Lieut. Larue Lawbaugh and his henchmen from the Idaho, who wrested what the destroyer men thought was certain victory from their hands. Lieut. Lawbaugh accepted the challenge last night, with the condition that the Idaho team receive a guarantee of $5000 or 50 per cent of the gate receipts.

Since the game last Saturday the San Diego sports columns are said to have been filled with information to their readers that the "best team lost" and that the Idaho "won on flukes." Hence, the 5000 men of the destroyer squadrons and as many more from the aircraft squadrons, naval training station and marine base at San Diego are crying for satisfaction. Lieut. Lawbaugh declares his entire squad is confident that they will be able to give the boys from the mosquito fleet a full cup.

LEACH CROSS WRITES FROM ROME FOR BOXING BOARD JOB

Leach Cross, who is as well known to fistic followers as the Smith Brothers are to cough-drop consumers, writes to Gov. Friend W. Richardson for a place on the State Boxing Commission, the personnel of which is now being considered by California's chief executive. Leach put his letter in the mail in Rome, Italy, and is believed to be winner of the long-distance application championship.

Cross is now somewhere in mid-ocean on board the Leviathan and plans to be in Los Angeles again about the first of the new year. He is in dead earnest about serving on the boxing board and in his letter to Gov. Richardson introduces a long list of prominent local men to whom the Governor may refer in the matter of references.

Christine of the Hungry Heart

by Kathleen Norris

The story thus far:

Christine Knight, rich, young, beautiful, full of vitality and affection, finds, after a few years of marriage, that her husband, Stuart Knight, has tired of her. When he invites friends to dinner and then sends word he cannot come home that evening, Christine telephones her half-brother, Dan Madison, to take his place. Her friend, Ethel Moore, tries to draw her out about Stuart. But Christine will not talk about her troubles.

Christine walked past the little shops, and along the pleasantly crowded thoroughfares. A little shop, with bowls and lace and candlesticks and bags—? A little shop with cakes and salads—?

Because one couldn't be idle. And certainly one couldn't go on lunching, and going to concerts, and playing bridge—

The concert was drawing surprisingly. Ethel Moore had asked Chris to return the ticket she did not intend to use to the box office, and Chrissie leaned over quite a queue of prospective buyers as she did so. "Mrs. Carter Moore—" she said. It was a name with which to conjure; the resentful line looked at her respectfully. Christine's beauty was an identification ticket anywhere, and she knew she was recognized as she went through the gate and down the dark aisle to her seat.

The orchestra was filtering out to the stage amidst empty Vienna cane chairs. Violins and 'cellos were whining, and there was a constant whimpering and tooting among the horns. A slender girl, very ugly, very badly dressed in some fussy purplish material, ran her bony, clever hands across the strings of the harp and stilled it with a touch of love. Two women behind Chrissie, also dowdy and ugly, were murmuring in exquisite French.

She had studied French conscienciously for almost four years, but she could not quite follow this liquid chatter in undertones.

"Son chien aussi?" one voice finally said clearly in a silence. And the other made that indescribable sound that "h'wan" that means "yes."

"Oh, think you—but don't trouble—thank you so much!"

It was a man's voice, English this time, and the owner was settling into Ethel's seat beside her. Chrissie gave her neighbor a surprised look, under cover of suddenly lowered lights. Where had she heard this voice before?

Handsome, well-groomed, with eyeglasses on a black ribbon, and a face that not only looked intelligent, but that she knew was the manifestation of intelligence—but who was he? A little square, a little florid, radiating a sort of prosperity and content and interest in his surroundings—

Ah, of course! It was — what was his name? Dr. Monteagle, of the morning's lecture. He was caught in the city, between trains, and he had come along to the box office just in time to pick up Ethel's ticket.

Chrissie opened her beaded bag surreptitiously and glanced within; her fingers fumbled until the program was uppermost, and she saw his name. Alan P. Monteagle, M. D.

She liked the way he settled himself for enjoyment; the keenly appraising look he gave the now assembled orchestra, his motionless attention to the music.

"Good!" he said heartily when the first movement ended. And he clapped with big, square, palms set sideways, box fashion, and making a most heartening noise.

"So you like music as well as emigrants, Dr. Monteagle?" said Christine quietly when the symphony was completed and there was an intermission.

Instantly he wheeled in his seat, and his big arms, folded on his breast, came down to the arms of his chair. He gave her a quick, friendly, unsurprised grin.

"I like music better than anything else in the world!" he said warmly. "But you mustn't tell on me!"

He was accustomed to this sort of thing, Christine could tell. He was, after all, a sort of public character. She felt quite at her ease with him.

"I was at your lecture this morning—" she began, openly. After all, Mrs. Stuart Knight was sufficiently established to take this chance, or any other she chose, without self-consciousness.

"Yes, I remember you were!" Dr. Monteagle said, nodding.

This was so crude, and unnecessary that Christine felt a trifle daunted. If there was to be a pace set, at least she must be the one to set it.

"I can't believe that!" she said, quietly, disapprovingly, unsmiling.

"Well, now let me see how I can convince you," said the man, simply. "You were on the aisle, about the sixth row, and you dropped your fur and leaned down to pick it up. There was a lady with you—your mother—"

"Why, I do think that is perfectly astonishing!" Christine exclaimed, her beautiful eyes round, and an expression of childish pleasure and amusement on her face. "That out of all that crowd you should see me—!"

"I saw more than that," the man assured her. "It seemed to me that you did not listen to one word I said! I don't blame you—I don't blame you," he hastened to add, laughing. "At your age you have better things to think about!"

His expression was only friendly, indeed almost brotherly, but Christine felt it was time to say, with a hint of dignity:

"Perhaps I was thinking about my baby!"

His kindly eyes twinkled behind his glasses.

"You have a baby!"

"Indeed I have — Betty-Lou. She's almost two."

The man gave her a quick, scrutinizing look.

"Are you twenty?"

"Oh, older than that!" she said. And she looked down at her program, a little fluttered, a little cool, and wondering if he would speak again.

He did speak, but it was about the music this time. Christine was presently glowing and eager again; she loved this sort of talk. About the composer, and the theme, and the permanent place of Humperdinck among the musicians.

"You love music?" Dr. Monteagle said, watching her.

"I love—" She left the sentence unfinished.

"Life?" he supplied, smiling.

"Well, perhaps that's nearer. You don't know my name," said Christine, with her engaging simplicity, "I am Mrs. Stuart Knight."

"No relation to Col. Archer M. Knight, I suppose, of Washington."

"My husband's father," stated Christine, pleased. "Do you know him?"

"He was operated upon at Hopkins, some six years ago," Monteagle reminded her. "I was the surgeon."

"Oh, I remember! They told me of it. But that was before I was married," Christine responded cordially. "I remember even the name now! Oh, why don't you let them know you're in town? They'd be so pleased to see you again!"

"I leave on the five o'clock," he told her.

Her lambent eyes fixed themselves upon his for a few silent seconds; he was looking deep into them as the house darkened again and the music began. And when there was again silence he said:

"If you really think Colonel and Mrs. Knight would like to see me—?"

"I know they would," Christine assured him positively.

"And how do I find them?" the man asked.

"You dine at my house at half-past seven," she smiled.

"No, but may I really?" He had brightened extraordinarily, and she saw how handsome, how distinguished-looking he was, now entirely the born gentleman. Thirty-five, Christine surmised; thirty-six perhaps. At all events he was at that delightful age when the crudeness of youth is gone and its freshness remains.

"I'm having a dinner, and they're coming," she summarized it simply. And with an upflashing of blue eyes she added: "Come and be my lion!"

"I wonder if she's unhappy," Alan Monteagle mused, watching her beautiful face. "She's very young, yet she's so—poised, somehow. I wish I could remember the son—it seems to me—but perhaps I have somebody else in mind. Anyway, there are millions, and I suppose it was a catch for little Sweet-and-Twenty here. Lord what a little patrician! I beg your pardon?" he said aloud.

"I asked if Mrs. Monteagle was with you?" Christine repeated. "In that case I can stop at the hotel at once—"

He liked her assured little social manner.

"Mrs. Monteagle," he said, smiling. "Is still in the Never-never Land!"

"You're not married? All the easier!" said Christine gaily.

"Your address is in the telephone book?" he asked.

"Oh, I'll write it—" And write it she did, with a small gold pencil, on her card. Then they came out into the garish late afternoon light.

GRAND CANYON CHARGE DENIED

Defendant Files Answer in Mining Case Suit

Senator Cameron Said to be Interested in Claims

Fight to Bar Government Occupancy Planned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Dec. 17. — In the United States court there has been filed an answer of G. H. Stetson, alone, in the case of the government against himself and eight others, charged with illegal occupation of certain Grand Canyon lands, contained within fifty-five placer mining claims in a group located as Platinum Nos. 1 to 150. This is one of the cases in which United States Senator Ralph H. Cameron is understood to be interested. Attorneys for the defense are Campbell & Shadle of Phoenix, H. L. Partridge of Globe and Bernadotte P. Lester of Pasadena. The prosecution is being conducted by Harold Baxter of Phoenix, special assistant to the Attorney-General.

Defendant Stetson, who gives his residence as Philadelphia, Pa., and not at Pasadena, as stated, makes only general denial concerning a majority of the allegations of the complaint, but on the part of himself and associates asserts legal right to occupation of the ground in question, on which it is stated assessment work was done in past years by C. M. Donohue (now United States Surveyor-General for the Arizona District) and D. W. Steele. Declaration is made that the plaintiff has entered upon the land and has destroyed certain buildings, and has prevented the defendant from entry that he may do the essential assessment work for the current year.

ASKS POSSESSION

So the answer, which also is a cross-complaint, asks for peaceable possession, for injunction against the government in any possible resistance against the defendant's effort to do assessment work or to secure samples of ore, and for the sum of $1000 for damage already asserted done.

Notice also is given that on the 22nd inst., the defendant will move the court for a restraining order against the government's agents in regard to the question of occupancy of the property.

Attorney Lester submits affidavit that "since the location of these claims the methods of assaying for metals of the platinum group have been changed and improved, and new methods of assaying for such metals have been discovered, so that platinum and other metals of the platinum group are being detected, segregated and estimated in ores heretofore considered to have contained no metal of this group."

NO PLATINUM

There is understanding that the United States, in a parallel case pending in the Phoenix Land Office, has submitted expert evidence to the effect that no platinum has been found on certain Cameron-Stetson mining claims. Many official assays have failed to discover this particular mineral in the Grand Canyon region, but Senator Cameron has stated that faulty methods of assaying have been used.

The bill of complaint, pending action here, however, carries no reference to the mineral or non-mineral character of the ground. It is based upon a charge that mineral locations have been made on land not subject to such entries, and that such locations therefore have been void and valueless from their inception. All such ground, according to the government, has been withdrawn from entry since the establishment of the Grand Canyon Monument in 1908.

ALBANIAN DICTATOR IN FLIGHT

Exiled Premier Zogu is Reported as Leader of Rebel Forces

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VIENNA, Dec. 17.—Achmed Bey Zogu, former Premier of Albania, who was exiled by the present Premier, M. Fannoli, has returned and has placed himself at the head of the revolutionary troops who are attacking Scutari, dispatches from Belgrade announced last night.

According to one report, Scutari already is in the hands of the rebels and Premier Fannoli and his government have fled from Tirana. M. Fannoli, whose brief period as Albanian dictator was punctuated by a famous speech before the League of Nations in which he tore the League to pieces, is reported to have escaped to Italy. M. Fannoli is a Harvard graduate. He is a leader of a little group of Christians, while Achmed represents the old feudal barons. The Belgrade government has announced itself neutral in the quarrel.

OKLAHOMA WHEAT GROWERS HOLDING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 17.—Between 15 and 20 per cent of the season's wheat crop in Oklahoma remains in grower possession, according to estimates of dealers. Investigation has shown that there are a few areas in the northern part of the State where 50 per cent of the grain has not been sold by growers. There are many others where all the wheat has been sold. Elevator stocks are low in most places.

Light receipts of wheat from growers were reported during the first half of December. Practically all that moved was purchased by Oklahoma and Texas millers, who paid premiums above export bids of 4 to 6 cents per bushel. Mill buying was not heavy, but steady.

The

Welte-Mignon (Licensee)

Becomes a Beloved Member of the Fireside Circle

THAT delightful hour just after dinner—when the family is gathered around a cheery log fire—how you will enjoy the Welte-Mignon* then!

Now it is Paderewski playing his own lovely minuet—so perfect is the reproduction that one can scarcely believe that the master himself is not at the piano. Not only Paderewski but hundreds of the world's greatest masters are ready at a moment's notice to contribute their genius to the evening's pleasure. And the Welte-Mignon* makes such a simple problem of entertaining—for, after all, who does not enjoy music in some form? A program of Chopin, played by its matchless interpreter, the great De Pachmann, for tea—an evening with the incomparable Paderewski for the entertainment of your dinner guests—or perhaps a delightful impromptu dance, with the Welte-Mignon* to furnish the music.

With the famous Welte-Mignon* in your home you will possess the supreme instrument of its kind—one that reflects the very soul of the artist whose playing it interprets. The Welte-Mignon* was the first reproducing mechanism pronounced perfection by the greatest artists. Today the Welte-Mignon* stands unrivalled in its field. It provides the standard for all other reproducing actions.

The price of a Kranich & Bach equipped with the Welte-Mignon* reproducing action is $2800.00. And when one considers that it will provide a lifetime of pleasure, such a price seems little enough. At PLATT'S in the beautifully appointed music room, you may listen to the lovely Kranich & Bach in strictest privacy and quiet. Won't you come in soon?

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO ACTRESS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Claire Le Maire, former leading leady at the Imperial Theater with Gazzola, the Gilbert players and other theatrical companies, died of heart disease in the Darlington Hotel. She was the wife of Gabriel Rosanoff, assistant concert master of the Riviera Theater, and daughter of the late E. J. Gilbert and Mrs. Claire L. Gilbert of the Darlington.

WESTERN CANADA FARMERS PROSPER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINNIPEG, Dec. 17.—Farmers of Western Canada will have $175,000,000 more to spend this year than they had in 1923, because of higher prices for wheat, according to estimates of financial experts. Bankers throughout the prairie Provinces report that many of the farmers who produced this wealth already have met their obligations, are entirely out of debt and have good bank accounts with which to face another year.

The rapid growth of agriculture in Western Canada in recent years is shown by figures in a recent bulletin of the Alberta government. Ten years ago Alberta had to import its eggs from China, its butter from New Zealand and its cheese from Ontario. This year Alberta will export 4,000,000 pounds of butter. Cheese production has totaled 1,850,000 pounds. The Province's egg production has increased from 72,000 dozen in 1920 to 660,000 dozen this year.

FIRST HOMESTEADER'S WIDOW STILL LIVING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BEATRICE (Neb.) Dec. 17.—Mrs. Agnes Freeman, 81 years of age, widow of Daniel Freeman, first homesteader in the United States, has deeded eighty acres of land to each of her seven children and four grandchildren. Nearly all of the tracts are part of homestead entry, No. 1, six miles west of Beatrice, the filing on which was made by Mr. Freeman, January 1, 1863. The total value of the property deeded to her children and grandchildren amounts to about $160,000. Mrs. Freeman, who is in good health, lives in a comfortable farm home on the first homestead. The old log cabin first occupied by the homesteader and his wife has been carried away, a little at a time, by persons seeking souvenirs.

Cured his Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 60 L Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—[Advertisement.

Body Lies in State at Elks' Club in New York

Tarrytown Cemetery Will be Resting Place

Union Men to Lay Down Tools in Leader's Honor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The body of Samuel Gompers, in its bronze casket, lay in state at the Elks' Club today and tonight, while thousands filed by in silent tribute. Tomorrow burial will take place in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery in Tarrytown.

Those who joined the crowd that went to the club saw a building of many stories draped in black from pavement to parapet. They saw a huge assembly hall, its balconies and stations dimmed by purple drapery; an honor guard of veteran labor men standing by the casket and hundreds of floral tributes. Near the casket were the crossed antlers and a Bible, the Elks' symbol of sorrow.

All day and far into the night, the slow procession of men and women moved through the dimness of the room of state. The labor leader's widow, his sons, daughters, grandchildren and brothers joined the throng late in the afternoon, when Mrs. Gompers arrived from Washington.

Final arrangements for the services were completed with the announcement that an asphalt sarcophagus, provided by labor groups at Baltimore, had been transported from that city to Sleepy Hollow Cemetery to receive the casket.

The Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York ordered all members to lay down tools for two minutes at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, at which time it is expected the funeral cortege will start for Tarrytown, after a two-hour service at the Elks' Club.

Metropolitan police will give the funeral train honorary escort to the suburbs; then mounted State troopers will perform the civil honors to the end of the journey.

Services at the grave will be conducted by S. Cecile Masonic Lodge of New York City. At the Elks' Club, the ceremonies will be presided over by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and James Duncan, senior vice-president of the American Federation of Labor. The Elks' ritualistic ceremonies will be observed. The services at the club will be broadcast.

Massachusetts Man Presents Paper 200 Years After Execution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAUNTON (Mass.) Dec. 17.—Registry of deeds officials were given a surprise recently when Marsden J. Perry of Providence, R. I., filed, through his attorney, a deed which was written in 1724 and never recorded. The paper is in excellent condition and testifies to the transfer of certain Briggs Corner property from the family of F. H. Briggs to Mrs. Elizabeth Wilmarth of Attleboro, Mass.

LONG BEACH ACCUSER OF THAW QUITS

Gump Refuses to Go East to Prosecute Case; Three Indictments Dismissed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Three indictments, charging Harry K. Thaw with assault, kidnaping and conspiracy, pending since early in 1917, were dismissed today by Judge John F. McIntyre in General Sessions, because of the refusal of Frederick Gump, the complainant, to come to New York and testify.

Gump, a boy of 19 years of age when he told the police authorities that Thaw had kidnaped him in Kansas City, brought him to New York and assaulted him with a whip in Thaw's suite at the Hotel McAlpin, is now in business at Long Beach, Cal. He said that because of business reasons and for his own peace and happiness he did not desire to press further charges against Thaw.

The dismissal of the indictments leave Thaw a free agent, without restriction by courts, without charges of any sort against him for the first time since he shot Stanford White, eighteen years ago. Thaw was not in court today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) Dec. 17.—Orville Wright, who, with his brother Wilbur, invented the airplane, celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of its first successful flight today by working in his shop. Many congratulatory messages from aeronautical societies in America and abroad were received.

The first flight in an airplane was made by Orville Wright at Kittyhawk, N. C., in a crude biplane which attained a speed of thirty miles an hour. The flight lasted fifty-nine seconds. Since that day flights of seventy-eight hours duration have been made and a speed of 266 miles an hour attained.

Community Tax Inquiry Pushed by Shortridge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—United States Senator Samuel Shortridge of California today made another attempt to ascertain why the Treasury Department has taken no action on the California community property tax question. He held conferences with Secretary Mellon and Atty.-Gen. Stone and announced afterward that the situation was well in hand.

The Senator explained that the Treasury Department was awaiting expression from the Attorney-General on one legal question, the nature of which was not disclosed. He hinted that important developments might be expected in a few days.

REPORT CHARGES HUGE INDIAN FUND DIVERSION

THREE MILLIONS INVOLVED IN STATEMENT MADE TO CONGRESS COMMITTEE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKMULGEE (Okla.) Dec. 17.—Loss, diversion or dissipation of Indian funds totaling more than $3,000,000 is charged in a report to the Congressional committee which recently investigated Indian probate affairs at Muskogee, as made public here by Hugh Murphy, former Okmulgee county judge.

The report says the alleged diversion took place four years ago and that it was carried on with the sanction of State courts. The report's arraignment is directed at the office of the Commissioner of the Office of Indian Affairs and referred to "the Indian bureau" and the "Indian department." It makes no charges against the Board of Indian Commissioners.

FIVE HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGES AT REDONDO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 17.—A raid netting five asserted peddlers of contraband liquor put a crimp in the holiday liquor trade last night when Detective Sergeant Alder and Officer Stiewell took Harry Mervine, W. A. Zinn, A. D. Friesen, Paul Smaley and G. W. Blue into custody. Along with the five considerable evidence was taken, goods valued at several hundred dollars being confiscated, officials conducting the search stated.

THE CAREER OF SAMUEL GOMPERS

Late Chief of the American Federation of Labor; His Purposes and Accomplishments

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—Samuel Gompers, who was within himself, it may be said, the American Federation of Labor since he organized it in 1881, was born in London January 27, 1850. His father, Saul Gompers, was a cigar maker. Samuel attended school from his tenth year, then was apprenticed to a shoemaker, but disliking the work, he learned the trade of his father and while working as a cigar maker he attended evening school for four years. He came to the United States when he was 13 years old, and settled in New York City.

Gompers was a man of indomitable will, unflagging energy and a shrewd, cunning, resourceful and resolute leader. He had a strong personality, complete poise and was a convincing and able talker. He ruled the American Federation of Labor with an iron hand, and alone shaped its policies, methods and objectives.

When Gompers was 14 years old, after being in this country only one year, he helped to organize the Cigar Makers' International Union which he served as secretary and president for six years. He also edited its local paper in that period. Gompers worked at his trade until his thirty-seventh year. Since that he was a writer, an agitator—to use his own words, a "persistent agitator"—and an organizer of labor unions.

He was intimately connected with if not the guiding spirit of every great labor union dispute in this country during the last thirty years, and head of the labor union forces in numerous strikes instituted by the trade unions affiliated with the American Federation.

OPPOSED THE REDS

As a proponent of union labor, Gompers was violently one-sided. While for political reasons he stoutly opposed Socialism, syndicalism, revolutionary propaganda and other forms of ultraradicalism, neither had he any sympathy with any industrial democracy not inspired and controlled by trade unionism. He kept the federation free of Red doctrines largely because the Reds threatened his own rule.

All during his long career Gompers was severely criticised, particularly for his lack of consideration for the rights of communities and the responsibility of unionism for methods inflicting serious injury upon the public. He was accused of false economic teachings, and for destructive attacks upon the judiciary and the established order of things under the Federal Constitution. He bitterly assailed his critics, always seeking to carry the impression that each attack was a covert attempt to break trade unionism in America.

He was not a prominent figure on the streets of Washington, but no one attended at the capital in the session of Congress with more interest than he. Labor legislation was his hobby and he frequently appeared before committees to argue for or against bills affecting the interests of union men. Probably no other man sponsored so much legislation designed to protect the interests of the working class.

It must be said of Gompers that in his partiality to union labor he saw only the union side. He threw all his influence and pledged the support of the American Federation of Labor to the perpetuation of union labor conditions at any price. He frankly approved breaches of faith. He wrote at length and spoke long and loudly on what the American Federation of Labor did for the working man, but he said nothing to weaken the hold of the vicious forces which did and do control in unionism. On the contrary, he strengthened them, and as the leading champion of conservative labor in the country, he was put in the position of condoning, if not approving, conditions and methods which disgraced organized labor.

THE McNAMARA CASE

Following the arrest in 1911 of John J. McNamara and J. B. McNamara in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case, Gompers called all the concerted force of labor to defend the McNamaras, and the unions' purse-strings were loosened to the men who later confessed their guilt.

Immediately after the arrest of John J. McNamara, one of unionism's leading figures, Gompers declared it "was the first act of a tragedy contemplating the assassination of organized labor."

Gompers was openly accused of knowing of the guilt of the men before their confession, and was, in fact, in their close confidence. When the trial was over, he announced that there was nothing more to say except that he had been "cruelly deceived." During the subsequent trials of forty unionite leaders of the dynamite conspiracy, Gompers sounded a subdued note of protest. On their confession he was silent.

The unions raised huge sums of money, upon the urgings of Gompers, to defend accused men who confessed crime. It was his custom to express horror when such crimes were found out, but to do nothing to cleanse the unions of others who might be equally guilty. It seemed that his motto was "thousands for defense, not one cent for purification."

From first to last Gompers opposed the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment. "The workers should have their beer," he said. "They are used to it and it keeps them contented."

IN POLITICS

Despite the fact that on numerous occasions he announced himself as a conservative leader, his record in the last Presidential election does not bear him out in statement. "Labor should not, as a body, declare itself in support of any political party," he had said in every campaign for the last forty years. Yet, last summer, at Atlantic City, the convention over which he presided went on record as officially supporting the candidacy of La Follette.

Samuel Gompers was not averse to using drastic means to further what he considered the interests of the working man. He was found guilty of committing contempt of court in the famous Bucks Stove and Range case in 1909, but escaped serving a jail sentence because of a legal technicality. In many of his speeches to labor bodies he breathed his defiance of the courts of the United States and declared that they had no right to issue injunctions in labor struggles. "The boycotting of business firms who incur its enmity is an inalienable right of labor," he said. He declared himself continually at war with the courts because of their "conservatism." In 1917, when the country was at war, he said that if any law were passed to make strikes unlawful, he, for one, would violate it.

In a speech at St. Louis in 1910, Mr. Gompers advocated the elimination of negroes from the labor unions of America. He said that the supremacy of the Caucasian race in the unions should be maintained, and that negroes, for the most part, lacked the necessary knowledge of what the unions really stand for in the economic world.

EXPEDITION OF PORT BILL SEEN

Los Angeles Harbor Cited as Urgent Necessity

House Committee Sanctions Appropriation Limit

Action Will Tend to Speed Adoption of Measure

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Expedition of the bill for new harbor work in the Greater Harbor of Los Angeles has been arranged by the action today by the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors, which agreed to an amendment to the bill limiting appropriations under this measure to $10,000,000 a year. It is expected that the committee will reject all efforts to amend the bill in any way and the efforts of the House leaders will be to secure the immediate enactment of this measure at this session of Congress.

Scores of proposals for this and that small harbor project have been submitted to members of the committee. If any of these projects are considered they would all have to be taken up and the fate of the bill would therefore be jeopardized by the proposed changes. With a favorable rule and the elimination of all amendments it is believed that the House will speedily pass the bill and send it to the Senate. There is little or no opposition there to such a program as recommended by the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors and once this measure passes the House it is almost certain to become law in the next few months.

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Chairman Dempsey of the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors made the following statement today.

"There has been a general misapprehension as to the pending rivers and harbors project bill. It has been thought that the bill is an appropriation measure, and that it provides for the expenditure of $53,000,000 during the coming fiscal year.

"The bill only authorizes appropriations to be made in the future covering a period of five years. No expenditures will be made during the coming year, and thereafter not to exceed $10,000,000 will be expended annually until the projects adopted are completed.

"The reports of the engineers on the projects to be adopted by the pending bill recommend an expenditure during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, of $16,840,750. In view, however, of the general policy of economy the committee has deemed it best to redraft the bill, and to provide that no expenditures shall be incurred in the coming fiscal year, and that not to exceed $10,000,000 shall be expended any year thereafter.

"I am unable to learn that any one questions the merit of any item in the bill. It provides new projects where they are needed the country over, and many of them are of the highest importance. The Hudson River improvement will carry deep-water navigation to Albany, where there are six railroads and exchanges can be had in every direction. The harbor at Los Angeles is inadequate and an additional breakwater is provided which will give abundant space for the unparalleled growth in tonnage of that remarkable city.

A canal running from New Orleans to Corpus Christi, Tex., is adopted which will enable the people of the country to secure the only surphur we have, which is located on this canal, at a low transportation cost and by direct instead of roundabout routes. Three hundred thousand dollars is appropriated for a survey of the Tennessee River and its tributaries, where we find there can be developed 3,000,000 horsepower so that it can be sold at a cost of approximately $15 per horsepower. These are but a few of the instances showing the vastly important steps taken by this bill to increase and improve facilities for water navigation."

Beware the Cough or Cold That Hangs On

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—[Advertisement.

During Christmas week your car will be driven lots more than usual. Johnny will be home from school and outside of his own "secret" errands, Mother will have him driving her on a hundred extra trips to the stores and markets for the things "she almost forgot." Then, too, you may be planning a long trip to Arrowhead or some other place during the week. Most folks do.

Get your car in tip-top shape so the Holidays will not be marred by engine trouble or other mechanical breakdown. A few hours on a McBryde grease rack will do it!

WEST JOINS IN EXPRESS RATE FIGHT

Commissioners Plan to Seek Enforcement of Cut Recently Ordered

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Dec. 17.—State public utility commissioners from several States west of the Mississippi River or their representatives, meeting here today, agreed to combine to resist the injunction suit brought by railroads of the Southwest against the Interstate Commerce Commission's order lowering express rates west of the Mississippi. The commission's order is effective March 1, next.

The suit brought by the railroads was filed in Federal court at St. Paul recently and seeks to prevent the express rates from going into effect. The case will be heard in St. Paul the 29th inst.

States represented include Iowa, Colorado, Kansas, Minnesota, South Dakota, California and Oklahoma.

Under the rates fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to take effect March 1, express tariffs in the Middle West States west of the Mississippi and on the Pacific Coast will be reduced 10 to 19 per cent. In the zone beginning in Western Colorado and extending to a point equal to the western boundary of California the tariffs would be reduced 30 to 35 per cent. The order of the commission had the effect of slightly increasing the rates east of the Mississippi.

TRIP MEANT NO EXPENSE TO DUCHESS

Hotel Suites, Motors and Ocean Passage Provided for Sake of Publicity

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The visit to this country of the Grand Duchess Cyril, wife of the self-proclaimed Czar of Russia, was without cost to her, and thousands of dollars have followed her home, said the New York World today, referring to her trip as "one of the most ambitious publicity stunts in the history of advertising."

The following were provided free for the sake of publicity, the World says:

Passage from Europe to America and return.

Presidential suite at the Waldorf Astoria.

Royal suite at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia.

Suite at the New Willard Hotel, Washington.

Mrs. Henry D. Loomis, who arranged for the visit of the Duchess to this country as a guest of the Monday Opera Club admitted that the trip was free.

Asks Congress to Appropriate Tax Refund Sum

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—An appropriation of $50,000,000 to be used in repayment of Federal taxes illegally collected was requested of Congress today by the Treasury.

Secretary Mellon estimated that between November 1, last, and June 30, 1925, claims to the amount of $94,000,000, in addition to those already adjusted, would be allowed for payment.

The request disclosed that as a result of claims allowed by the Internal Revenue Bureau, refunds on taxes illegally collected had been paid during the last four fiscal years and up until November 1, of $381,194,978.94.

LONDON POLICE END SEVEN-YEAR SEARCH

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Dec. 17.—A man and a woman have been jailed for the death seven years ago of Isabella Bullion, 34 years of age, in her home at Glasgow under mysterious circumstances. She had been strangled in bed with her own hair. Her brother Hugh found the body and notified police. The trail for the slayer suspects was lost several times in the long search which followed.

JUVENILE CRIME LESS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—That juvenile delinquency is decreasing throughout the country, in spite of crime waves in the larger cities, is the conclusion reached by the National Probation Association in a report of a nation-wide study just completed. Statistics from many parts of the country indicate that fewer children are now brought before the courts than was the case a few years ago. In the two largest cities, New York and Chicago, the decrease has been marked.

LARGE FUND MISSING AS BROKER DIES

No Record in His Effects of $100,000 Intrusted to Him by Friends

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—Alfred J. Messner, mysterious self-styled investment broker, died suddenly yesterday morning, and with his death began a quest for more than $100,000, which had been intrusted to him by friends for investment, but of which no record has yet been found among his effects.

The quest for the vanished fortune began today when friends and clients of the dead broker appealed to Public Administrator Hynes to find their money or some record thereof. Other clients, who did not give their names, made inquiries of the same nature.

Messner, who was 57 years of age, died in his apartment at 1020 Post street Tuesday morning from pneumonia. Dr. Paul Weinholz was in attendance. Because Messner died intestate and because none of his acquaintances knew who might be his surviving relatives, the office of Public Administrator Hynes took the estate in hand.

Messner's estate, so far as Joseph Derham, assistant to the Public Administrator, could find, consisted of the following asset: One second-hand automobile, $189 balance at the Liberty Bank, $59 found in the apartment, jewelry valued at $400, and one empty safe-deposit box at the Liberty Bank.

Audáz Asalto al Alcalde Cryer

El alcalde de la ciudad de Los Angeles, Cryer, fué asaltado y detenido en su propia casa por un aventurero audáz, que retuvo a la primera autoridad municipal, en contra de su voluntad, por tres horas, bajo amenaza de privarlo de la vida.

Benjamin J. Critchlow, que antes fue practicante de "masaje curativo" y últimamente era enfermero en el Hospital de la Comunidad de Hollywood, habló por el teléfono con el alcalde Cryer, el mártes por la tarde, diciendose un agente especial del Departamento de Justicia, que venía a Los Angeles con una comisión secreta, y deseaba tener una entrevista con el Sr. Cryer. El alcalde convino en recibir al supuesto agente, a las 8 de la noche, en su residencia; a la hora convenida, el referido Critchlow llamaba a la puerta de la casa del alcalde y era recibido inmediatamente por él. En cuanto se dió cuenta el visitante de que no habia testigos, sacó un revolver y apuntándolo a la frente del funcionario, le declaró ser un "desesperado" y necesitar una fuerte suma de dinero. Cryer no tenía fondos en su casa; pero su asaltante, sin abandonar su actitud amenazadora, lo obligo a pedirlos por teléfono a Vernon, donde en esos momentos habia función de boxeo y los fondos de las entradas se le podrian proporcionar. Pero el gerente de la empresa no se encontraba en su despacho y el alcalde logró deshacerse de su asaltante, ofreciendole que le entregaria los fondos en el palacio municipal, al dia siguiente.

Todavía tuvo Critchlow la temeridad de presentarse al siguiente día a exigir el cumplimiento de la promesa al Sr. Cryer, siendo, desde luego, detenido y puesto en la cárcel, par castigar su osadía.

SUGAR COMPANY CHIEF ON STAND

Financier Questioned in Honolulu Deal

Sale of Hackfeld Stock is Under Fire

Banker Unable to Recall Price Offered

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—A. W. T. Bottomley, president of the American Factors, Ltd., successors to H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., of Honolulu, owner of large sugar interests in Hawaii, was momentarily placed on the witness stand by the prosecution today when the testimony of Richard Trent, president of the Trent Trust Company, failed to bring out certain points in connection with the asserted illegal and fraudulent transfer of the Hackfeld interests, valued at $17,500,000 to the American Factors, for an asserted consideration of $7,500,000, the basis for the suit now in progress.

The point in question regarded the sale of approximately 5000 shares of seized enemy alien stock, under the Trading with the Enemy Act, of the Lihue Plantation Company, the agency of which was controlled by the Hackfeld concern prior to its reorganization in 1918, and now one of the largest assets of the American Factors.

On being questioned in connection with an offer of Charles M. Cooke, of C. Brewer & Co., and owner of large Hawaiian interests, of $500 per share for the Lihue stock after Trent had advised the alien property custodian the stock was worth $200 a share, Trent testified his memory was hazy regarding such an offer. Bottomley was then put on the stand for brief questioning and testified he knew of such an offer and that the Cooke interests were willing to pay $500 a share for 2000 shares, which, with their present holdings, would give them control of the Lihue company. Plaintiff counsel contended that Trent and his associates tried to block this offer through the alien property custodian by recommending the stock be split up in small blocks.

NEW COAST AIR BASE IS ANNOUNCED

Government Island in Oakland Estuary to be Flying Field

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—Secretary of War Weeks today announced the War Department's plan to convert Government Island, in Oakland estuary, into a flying field and base for aircraft of all descriptions.

The announcement was contained in a letter to Congressman McLafferty of California who, on behalf of Oakland and Alameda, has been petitioning the government to relinquish its war-time lease on the island.

The plan includes the partial discontinuance of Crissy Field, San Francisco.

Government Island is made-land, 110 acres in area, equidistant from Oakland and Alameda, in the San Leandro end of the estuary. Crissy Field is sixty-five acres in area.

The island is half a mile out in the estuary, but is surrounded by mud flats at low tide. A road at the end of Fifteenth avenue, Oakland, gives easy access to the island.

Fifteen acres of the island already is in use as a training field for fliers of the Three Hundred and Seventy-second Reserve Aero Squadron.

"The War Department has investigated Government Island in the Oakland estuary," the Secretary's letter said in effect, "and has found it more desirable than Crissy Field for an air base.

"Fog conditions that hinder landing and flying at Crissy Field were not found to be present on Government Island, and other disadvantages of Crissy Field were overcome on the island."

Fund Sought to Kill Plague Rat in New Orleans

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Supporting a request for an appropriation of $275,000 to combat bubonic plague-ridden rats at New Orleans, made today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Acting Surgeon-General White said that the outbreak, as reported to the public health service, was confined to rats. No human cases, he emphasized, have been reported, and the appropriation was sought merely to enable the experts to get to work immediately upon extermination of the diseased animals.

The money, Congress was informed, would be placed at the command of the public health service.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Heavy oil, which its discoverer claims to be ichthyol, has been found in small quantities in the Carpinteria district, ten miles south of Santa Barbara, according to reports received by local operators interested in that district. The oil was found in F. W. Lea's Higgins wildcat well at a depth of 1260 feet. Its gravity is reported to be about 7 or 8 degrees, Baume. Owing to its heavy gravity, the oil will not flow, and cannot be pumped without using steamjacketed tubing. Small quantities have been taken out with the bailer, but at present the well is standing idle. Ten-inch casing was set at 1221 feet, it is said, and an attempt to run six-inch casing was halted when the pipe stuck in the hole.

According to engineers the Lea well is not located on a structure and the oil found is probably a seepage from a structure located in the ocean. The well is only a few hundred yards from the coast line. Owing to the small quantity of the oil, and the difficulty and expense of extracting it, operators discount the commercial value of the discovery, although the supposed presence of ichthyol may make limited operations profitable.

New Well Near

E. J. Miley expects to bring in the Marland No. 2 in the southeast part of the Rosecrans field early this morning, according to official reports. The well was bailing yesterday afternoon, and showed indications of a successful water shutoff, it is said. The well is down 4520 feet.

Miley's Marland No. 3 made 800 barrels of salt water during the water shutoff test on Tuesday, and will be recemented, according to officials. The trouble is believed to be due to a defective cement job. Bottom is at 4133 feet, with the water string at 4092 feet.

Star Gets Well

The Star Petroleum Company has completed its Shoemaker No. 1 in the central part of the Rosecrans field with an initial production of 800 barrels a day, clean oil, according to field reports. Gravity of the product is 38 degrees, corresponding to that of other wells completed in this area.

The Star well is 4612 feet deep, and for several days was believed to be on the edge of the O'Dea and Vaughan zone. This well, and the Associated Oil Company's Haviland well, offsetting each other, both were drilled to about the same depth, and set casing at about the same point, and both showed wet on the water test.

Well Shows Wet

The Barnsdall Oil Company's O'Dea No. 2, which Barnsdall officials estimated to be making around 2500 barrels a day, began showing a large water content late Tuesday night, according to field reports. The well made a good start, flowing more than 1800 barrels in twenty-four hours, until water broke in, it is said.

Barnsdall officials yesterday admitted that the well is showing a considerable cut of emulsion, but stated that they were not sure as to the cause.

Marine Well Wet

The Marine Oil Company, with three wells drilling in the Rosecrans field, started off with a poor cement job on its No. 31 yesterday, according to field reports. This well was drilled to 4294 feet, and eight-inch casing was set at 4291 feet. It is being recemented, it is said.

Marine No. 31 is drilling at 4540 feet, and No. 33 is rigging up. These two wells both are in the Athens area of the field. No. 32 is in the Maxwell district.

Redrilling Rowell Well

The St. Helens Petroleum Corporation, one of the earliest operators in the Rosecrans field, is still struggling with its Rowell No. 1, according to field reports. The St. Helens began drilling on this lease shortly after the Union found oil in its Rosecrans No. 1, but ran into successive fishing jobs. Bottom of the hole is at 4559 feet, but the crew is redrilling at 4393 feet.

The well is near the Pacific Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 well which is idle at 5678 feet.

Official Report

Oil-field operations reported to State Oil and Gas Supervisor R. D. Bush during the week ending the 13th inst., show twenty-six new wells started, as compared with nineteen during the previous week. Of the twenty-six, notices to drill filed this week, six were for wells in the Rosecrans field, three in the Torrance field, two in the Dominguez field, one in Huntington Beach field, one in Coyote Hills field, one in the fields of Kern county, and one in Napa county. The total new wells this year is 1308, as compared with 1354 at the same date last year.

Tests of water shutoff this week numbered nineteen, as compared with thirty-six during the previous week. Yearly total to date, 1531; total to same date last year, 1897.

Deepening or redrilling jobs this week numbered sixteen, as compared with thirty-two during the previous week. Total to date this year, 815; total to same date last year, 571.

Abandonments this week numbered fourteen, as compared with eighteen during the preceding week. Total to date this year, 476; total to same date last year, 285.

PRODUCE MARKET IN SAN FRANCISCO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—There was a little improvement in trading on fruits and vegetables today. Bananas prices were ranging from 6@7 cents, but demand for this fruit was limited. The oranges market appeared steady under moderate activity and liberal supplies.

Bananas, per pound, Hawaiian, 6@7; Central American, 6½@7½.

Receipts of artichokes were heavier and top prices were about $1 per crate under yesterday's quotations. Fancy peas from the San Luis Obispo district sold from 12@15 cents per pound. There was a weaker feeling on southern bell peppers without any price changes.

Artichokes, 13.50@16.50 per crate; 5.00@5.50 lug.

Cauliflower, 60@75 cents dozen. Celery, local, 2.25@2.75 crate; fancy, 3.00.

Eggplant, southern, 10@13 cents.

Onions, green, 1.25@1.50 sacks; dry jobbing, yellow and browns, 2.25@2.75 cwt., according to size; prices to retailers, 25@35 cents higher.

Peas, 10@15 cents pound, Francisco, San Diego, 1.50@2.25 L. A. lug; 1.25@2.00 crate.

Receipts: Flour, 3060 quarter sacks; corn, 3200 centals; potatoes, 1247 sacks; onions, 228 sacks; hay, 34 tons; lemons and oranges, 1356 boxes; live stock, 2260 head. Grain unchanged.

Nearly 14,500,000 golf balls were used in the United States in 1924.

For Permanence in Radio

You can select a

NEUTRODYNE

without fear of its becoming obsolete

THE Neutrodyne radio receiver you choose today will still be delivering superlative service years and years from now! The Neutrodyne principle has been tested in the crucible of radio experience. It has been proved beyond question to be scientifically correct. This is your greatest assurance of permanence.

Neutrodynes are so highly Selective that you can set your dials at predetermined numbers and bring in exactly the station you want to hear, provided that station is on the air. And that same station will always come in at that identical setting. Also you may depend upon this —with a Neutrodyne—you can tune out anything that interferes.

Neutrodyne for realism

The Neutrodyne is superior in Tonal Quality. The skirling notes of the piccolo and the muted brass of the trombone are reproduced with a fidelity that is almost uncanny. Piano is "piano"—not "tinpanno"—on a Neutrodyne. The human voice is that of the living, breathing speaker—as though he stood there in the room beside you. It is difficult to conceive of improvement upon such realism.

The Neutrodyne excels in Distance. Be sure of this: if you can't get it on your Neutrodyne, nobody can! Neutrodyne picks the air clean. Nothing within range of your aerial (whether outside antenna or indoor) can escape your Neutrodyne. With a Neutrodyne, all the air is a great telephone switchboard. You decide what you want to get—set your dials—and there it is!

Neutrodyne for reliability

Perhaps the greatest virtue of Neutrodyne is its absolute dependability. You may invite guests for a "radio evening" without wondering if your Neutrodyne will "perform." Neutrodyne is the set of no apologies; the set of no alibis. With a published program and your Neutrodyne, you can get exactly what you want to hear—and get it better!

Have you, perhaps, identified radio with squeals and howls? Be assured, these catcalls were never created by a Neutrodyne. For a Neutrodyne cannot create squeals. Technically speaking, it cannot "heterodyne." Therefore, the Neutrodyne disturbs neither you nor your neighbors. You hear only what you wish to hear.

Neutrodyne followed broadcasting

Neutrodyne was invented in 1922, after modern broadcasting was established. The three other major receiving systems were invented previous to broadcasting. They were made first for dot-and-dash code (radio telegraphy) and adapted later to broadcasting. Neutrodyne was specifically designed to receive the broadcasting of music and speeches. It did not have to be "adapted."

In order to protect the public from fraudulent Neutrodynes, the Hazeltine Corporation was formed, and Professor Hazeltine entrusted his great idea to just fourteen hand-picked, licensed manufacturers. These fourteen radio builders are grouped into one association, known as the Independent Radio Manufacturers, Incorporated. No other manufacturers may use the genuine Neutrodyne principle! Look for the Neutrodyne label on the set you buy.

If it hasn't this label, it isn't a Neutrodyne. It is there for your protection.

Hazeltine Corporation (Sole Owner of Neutrodyne Patents and Trademarks). Independent Radio Manufacturers, Incorporated (Exclusive Licensee of Hazeltine Corporation).

GLASS LISTING PASSES BOARD

Stock Exchange Campaign is Bearing Fruit

Utah Mining Concern Shares Approved for Trading

Trust Counsel Appointed for Security Bank

Resulting from the campaign of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange for the listing of the stocks of industrial corporations, President Frank H. Pettingell announces the approval by the governors of the application of the Southern Glass Company, operating a glass plant in Los Angeles. The company has a capitalization of $500,000 and has 267 stockholders. The stock will be called today.

The board of governors has also passed the stock of the Emma Silver Mines Company for listing. Properties are owned in the Little Cottonwood mining district near Alta, Utah, aggregating twenty-seven patented silver claims.

The Southern Glass Company was organized in 1916 and is financed largely by Los Angeles capital. The company is paying dividends of 8 per cent on its capital stock and to date, has disbursed a total of 67 per cent. No funded debt is reported.

Officers are W. J. Latchford, president; Baird Marble, vice-president, and Fay G. Bennison, secretary and treasurer. Additional directors are W. H. Daum and John H. Fisher.

The Emma Silver Mines Company has an authorized capitalization of $5,000,000, of which $2,000,000 is outstanding with a par value of $1. The company has no funded debt. Main offices are in Salt Lake City.

George H. Watson is president; D. G. Kisselberg, vice-president, and Robert F. Marvin, secretary-treasurer. The same men compose the board of directors.

Counsel Named

The appointment of E. E. Wiley as trust counsel of the Security Trust and Savings Bank was announced yesterday by President J. F. Sartori. Several changes and promotions among the personnel of the Security branches were announced at the same time.

Mr. Wiley is an alumnus of the University of Chicago, and since his graduation has been continuously in the employ of Armour & Co. He was general counsel of the Armour Leather Company just previous to coming to California.

W. J. Ellery, assistant vice-president, Long Beach branch, has been transferred to Monrovia, effective January 1, where he will be given the additional title of manager of the two Monrovia branches of the Security. He will work under the general direction of Vice-President John H. Bartle of Monrovia, and will fill the vacancy to be caused by the retirement on January 1 of W. A. Chess, who has served the same bank continuously for thirty-five years. Mr. Chess is to retire on a substantial Security pension.

George H. Anderson and C. L. Nichols of the First Monrovia branch of the Security are promoted to assistant managerships. W. F. Johnson, acting manager of the Montebello branch, has been appointed manager of that branch. Arthur E. Cresse and R. B. Chamberlain have been appointed to the advisory board of the Highland Park branch.

Dividends Declared

Dividends declared and announced yesterday include the following:

Directors of the Mt. Diablo Oil Company approved the regular monthly dividend of 1 cent a share, and a Christmas dividend of 1½ cents a share, both payable January 1.

Directors of the White Eagle Oil and Refining Company in Kansas City declared the regular quarterly dividend, No. 22, of 50 cents a share, payable January 20 to stockholders of record of the 31st inst.

The East Pasadena State Bank, Pasadena, though only one and one-half years old, will pay its first dividend on the 22nd inst. Deposits of the institution are more than $350,000, and resources approximately $350,000. A large amount of furniture and fixtures has been written off and approximately $4000 remains in the undivided profits account.

FARMER TURNS STUDENT

California Bankers Encouraging Use of Simplified Methods of Accounting; Efficiency Keynote

BY EARLE E. CROWE

In the last few months a new era in the management of agriculture has been introduced in California. Through the encouragement of Leo S. Chandler, vice-president of the California Bank and president of the California Bankers' Association, and interested bankers throughout the State, the farmer and the orchardist are taking up the study of farm accounting as a necessary adjunct to the business of managing agricultural properties on a profitable basis. The farmer has turned student, and many of them are learning amazing things about the prosaic occupations of producing crops that were not thought of before.

Mr. Chandler is devoting his spare time to preaching the gospel of farm management as a business up and down the State. At the regular fall meetings of the various bankers' groups held in Del Monte, San Francisco, Long Beach, Fresno, Stockton and Eureka, he has impressed upon the bankers the importance of systematized methods of accounting in the operation of farms. He has told them that the prosperity of the State and the earnings of the banks are measurably contingent on these efforts to place the farm on the same business basis as the hardware or the grocery store.

STATEMENTS REQUIRED

Mr. Chandler's message is predicated on the simple proposition that the farmer should be required to submit a financial statement of his operations when applying for a loan just as much as the manufacturer or the merchant. He maintains that the banker is not an agriculturalist, but, nevertheless, he grants loans of thousands of dollars each season to men who are unable to present a statement of their profits and losses. Neither is the banker, a manufacturer or a merchant and this fact is realized when it is insisted that these applicants show in black and white a detailed condition of their businesses.

To correct this glaring discrepancy in banking as well as in agriculture, committees of the California Bankers' Association have worked out simplified methods of accounting for each important branch of farming. These forms are intended to show the dairyman, for instance, the expense of maintenance and the profits from the sale of the butter fat and milk of each cow. Accounts are set up for labor expense, for marketing cost, feed, etc. The fruit grower similarly is given forms to depict the income and outgo from the various phases of his operations, and the amount of net worth at any given time.

A number of banks in the State have entered with considerable enthusiasm into the plan to make the former a business man. Officers are appointed to supervise the instruction of the agriculturalists in the accounting systems. As soon as systems become operative to a larger extent the bankers will begin to demand that each applicant for a farm loan present a financial statement, or consent to the installation of such a system.

Much of this work is being handled through the agricultural committee of the California Bankers' Association of which William T. Dinsmore, vice-president of the Security Savings Bank of Riverside, is chairman. This committee is responsible for the enlistment of a fair percentage of the banks in the State in the campaign, and will present the results of its work at the annual meeting at Santa Barbara in May.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

Accounting systems for the farmer, were first promulgated at the annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association in Chicago this year. At this convention it was also included as part of the program for efficiency in agriculture that cow-testing machines ought to be installed on dairies, and diversifaction in farming practiced as much as possible. As a step in this direction it was decided that pig clubs should be fostered among the school-children.

In adopting this program as the work of the California Bankers' Association, Mr. Chandler has urged the members to encourage the cow-testing feature. This, he believes, is an integral part of successful farming.

"I was told," he said yesterday, "by H. C. Carr, former president of the association, that if all the dairy cows in California were brought to the Class C standard designated in Humboldt county that the income from agriculture in the State would be increased $30,000,000 annually. There is little doubt but that the utilization of this mechanical appliance will show many dairymen they are carrying cows at a total loss. It is merely good business that these losses be eliminated."

EFFICIENCY DEMANDED

In pushing the campaign for efficiency the bankers are only doing what the business economists have introduced into mercantile endeavors. The Harvard School of Business Research has developed and placed in practice specialized systems of cost accounting for many different lines, each of which has shown shoe merchants, grocerymen and hardware executives, for example, that losses really result when they think the business is operating at a profit. It is all part of the new scheme of business in which the dominant note is efficiency.

In the application of this program to agriculture, the head of the California Bankers' Association believes that no greater contribution to the maintenance of general prosperity can be made. The farmer's dollar, as he puts it, eventually comes to the merchant on Seventh street in Los Angeles or to any other business man. The more dollars the farmer makes above his expenses, the more are placed in circulation and the merchant benefits correspondingly. To substantiate this principle Mr. Chandler quotes an extract from an address made at the convention in Chicago by Edwin T. Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture:

"If the farmers of the country receive only $1 more per acre than the average return, the conditions for business and labor are better, but if the farmers receive $1 per acre less in any year than their average return, depression follows. This is positively proved over the entire period since the Civil War."

BANKER TO TERMINATE ACTIVE DUTY

T. E. Newlin Will Retire from Vice-Presidency on First of Year

Almost twenty-four years of service with Los Angeles banks will be ended on the new year by T. E. Newlin, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, who plans to retire January 1. Mr. Newlin has been a vice-president of Southern California's oldest banking institution for over twenty-one years, and has taken an active part in the business and banking life of Los Angeles.

For practically the duration of his association with the Farmers' and Merchants' he has been a member of the board of directors of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, and has served continuously on the finance committee. He is also a director of the Rivera State Bank, which he helped to organize.

Mr. Newlin came to Los Angeles from Kansas, where he was an officer for several years in the National Bank of Lawrence. His initial association here was with the first California Bank, which later merged with the American National Bank, which Mr. Newlin assisted to form. After he severad his connection the American National combined with the Citizens' Banks.

Since his affiliation with the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank he has witnessed the growth of deposits from $8,000,000 to over $48,000,000. The bank was located at the corner of Commercial and Main streets when Mr. Newlin joined the organization.

In spite of an active connection with business affairs he found time to serve as the clerk of Los Angeles county for four years. He was elected in 1894.

Mr. Newlin is retiring only from his executive duties, and will remain on the directorates of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank and of the Security Trust and Savings. He will devote the major portion of his time to his agricultural interests.

COTTON ADVANCES ON SPECULATIVE BUYING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Cotton prices advanced somewhat through the resumption of moderate speculative buying, coupled with a small amount of short covering. Selling on a scale up by prominent spot interests served to check the advance, which ran to 35 points in all months except March, which never got above its previous close, and ended with a 5-point recession.

Not all of the gain of the other months was lost, however, and they finished 24 to 30 points higher. Sentiment continues mixed with spot reports from the South, but this is regarded as somewhat offset by large crop prospects.

Spot cotton up ¼ to 24.35 to 23.89.

REDUCTIONS IN PRICE OF CARS GOSSIP

Low-Priced Coach Models and New Lines Talked of Prior to Gotham Show

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Price reductions, low-priced coach jobs and entirely new lines are causing considerable speculation within the automotive industry, according to Motor. Unusual interest is felt in trade circles, therefore, in the New York show, which will open in three weeks, for it is expected to clear the air of many uncertainties.

Practically all the major producers as well as many of the smaller ones will have something new to display and not all the forthcoming jobs have been discounted. Nearly every company, from the lowest to almost the highest price class, will have a coach, the price of which will approximate that of the touring car. Competition in this particular model will be exceedingly keen. It is the genral expectation that 80 per cent of all cars sold in 1925 will be closed models.

The New York show is likely to disclose whether or not all the recent price cuts have been permanent. There is a well-founded suspicion that in some cases they have been prompted by temporary exigencies. Notwithstanding numerous reductions, there is a feeling that the trend throughout the year will be upward. It certainly will be unless lower prices can be offset by manufacturing economies effected in the face of rising material costs.

There are again reports of impending mergers of passenger car companies, but most of them are entirely without foundation. Several combinations are in prospect in the parts field, however.

BAD CHECKS

The forgery detail of the Los Angeles police department detective bureau yesterday issued the following bulletin on spurious checks:

Los Angeles merchants are urged to accept no checks from a man representing himself to be Dr. William E. Crowe, who has been issuing a great many fictitious checks recently. This man is described as follows: Jewish, black hair, dark eyes, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, 45 years of age, heavy set, smooth shaven, dark complexion, dark blue suit and dark felt hat.

The checks presented by this man are drawn on the Citizens' National Bank and a number of rubber stamps are used to give the impression that they are authentic. The number of the check is stamped with red ink, the name of Murdock & Murdock is stamped in the upper left-hand corner, susually in black ink, and the amount of the check is usually stamped. It is the man's custom to order a battery delivered to his residence, and the address given later proves to be fictitious, and in payment for the battery he presents a check and requests the balance in cash.

Report any information regarding this man's activities or whereabouts to the office of the forgery detail at Central Police Station, MEtropolitan 6100.

Kettleman Hills Lease Furthers New Oil District

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 17.—Further progress in the development of a potential petroleum field near here was noted today when Mrs. Ella Ragan leased her 560-acre ranch in the Kettleman Hills district, Southwestern Kings county, to the Los Angeles Investment Company, of this place.

The lease runs for twenty years, the consideration being $11,200 and an eighth royalty on oil production, the company agreeing to begin drilling operations within ninety days and drill one well on each ten acres.

The Ragan stock ranch is widely known among pioneers. There is still much leasing of property and rumors of oil strikes in the Kettleman district, though no oil-producing wells have yet been opened for production.

An Investment in the New Home of Barker Bros., Incorporated

AN outstanding feature of the current issue of $1,500,000 First Mortgage, 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of the Sun Realty Company, to be secured by the new home of the Barker business on Seventh, Flower and Figueroa Streets, is the fact that the entire building is leased to Barker Bros., Incorporated, for a period of thirty-five years (fifteen years beyond the maturity of the bonds) at a rental which will provide a net income of approximately three times interest requirements. The significance of this feature is apparent to all who are familiar with the remarkable growth and success of the Barker business, which is today generally recognized as the largest and strongest house furnishing business in the world, with its greatest period of development yet to come.

The details of this attractive offering are set forth in a circular which will be mailed upon request. Write, or telephone TRinity 6041.

Backed by California Utilities Earning

THE WESTERN POWER CORPORATION, through its operating subsidiaries, the Great Western Power Company of California and the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, serves with electric light and power an area of 49,858 square miles, comprising 24 California counties with a total population of approximately 1,700,000 people.

We are offering the 6½% Sinking Fund Secured Gold Debentures, Series "A," of this important California utility, due December 1, 1954, and priced at 98½ and interest, to yield a generous return of over 6.60%.

These Debentures will constitute the only funded debt of the Corporation and are secured by pledge of all the outstanding common stock of the Great Western Power Company of California and by at least a majority of the common stock of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation.

Based on current markets for these stocks, the equity back of these Debentures is approximately 2½ times the amount of this issue.

Despite unfavorable operating conditions, net earnings for 1923-1924 available for these Debentures were about 4.30 times annual interest and over 3.60 times annual interest and sinking fund requirements of this issue.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Greek Loan Absorbed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Foreign financing monopolized interest in the investment market today. Preparations were completed for the public offering tomorrow of a $50,000,000 Belgian loan, in the form of thirty-year 6 per cent bonds priced at 87½ to yield about 7 per cent.

Twenty-fold oversubscription of the $11,000,000 American portion of the Greek government loan, repeating the success of an earlier offering in London was followed by the rise of the bonds to a premium of 1 2-4 points, although they subsequently fell back to around the offering price of $3. Allotments of the issue, it was announced, would average about 5 per cent of subscriptions.

Reports were current in the financial district that bankers were about to complete negotiations for $15,000,000 loan to the Krupp Works of Germany to be followed by the public offering of securities.

Bond prices in stock exchange trading held firm, but showed little change. Acceptance of the "Nickel Plate" lease terms by the Pere Marquette Railway aided the bonds of the so-called Van Sweringen roads, the Erie general 4s gaining a point. Magma Copper 7's, moving up 1 3-8, led an advance in copper company liens, based on the rising price trend of the red metal, and gains of a point or so by a variety of other industrial liens.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and is republished the minute the sheltie is emitted when it is three as the low, and both four and nine are omitted when they are the same in the hundreds.

NEW YORK CURB

Utilities Advance

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Constructive forces were at work in today's curb market, the general list moving to higher ground with buying stimulated by a series of bullish demonstrations in the public utility issues. Oils dragged during the early part of the session, but eventually pointed upward. Prairie Oil and Gas standing out with a gain of 5 points.

Lehigh Power Securities was the sensational feature of the public utility group, soaring 7 points to a new high at 97 and closing near the top. Asiatics Light and Traction closed 6 points higher at 143 and American Power and Light showed a net gain of 5⅝ at 63¼.

Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal was pushed up 5 points to a new high at 132 in anticipation of an extra cash or stock dividend before the close of the year. Steady accumulation of the Curtiss Airplane issues sent the common stock to 17⅝, and the preferred to 58, both at new highs, in expectation of an increased governmental and commercial demand for aircraft. Other strong spots in the industrial group were Goodyear Tire, Durant Motors and Ford Motors of Canada, the last named jumping 21 points to 925.

The feature of the bond list was the heavy demand for International Match 6½s of 1941, which sold 3½ points above yesterday's low at 171½.

Knowledge is Bliss

Ignorance may be bliss, and it may be folly to be wise—in poetry—but not in business. Successful business knows, from costly experience, that Ignorance is anything but bliss. And that the only connection folly has with wisdom is when business has been foolish enough not to be wiser sooner.

Nine out of ten infirmities and failures in business are directly traceable to barren Ignorance—ignorance of trade conditions, of costs, of markets, of simple organization, system, management, control. And, above all, ignorance of the new order of things in business today—the order of exact knowledge based on dependable facts and figures.

Ignorance is the bandage to the eyes, the chain to the feet, of Progress. Knowledge is the wings lifting business to Power and Profit. A business that knows itself does not fail. A business that guesses and gambles never fails to fail. A lot of "pretty little words" perhaps, these paraphrased epigrams. Ignorance will claim they do not apply to business. Knowledge knows they do.

MERGER TALK INCITES BUYING

Rails and Industrials Hit New Peak Levels

Consolidation Rumors Run Through Market

Bear Traders Are Rebuffed; Money Rates Firm

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. — With speculative imagination fired by reports of forthcoming railroad mergers, involving some of the large eastern and western systems, stock prices today resumed their march to higher ground on an enormous volume of trading, the day's sales again aggregating nearly 2,000,000 shares.

Both the rail and industrial averages were elevated to new high levels, the former reaching the highest figure in seven years and the latter attaining the highest point since 1919, when the post-war boom was at its height. Sixty issues, including sixteen rails, broke through their previous 1924 maximum quotations.

Chief speculative interest centered in the eastern rail shares Lehigh Valley recorded an extreme gain of 7 1-2 points at 85, the highest price in eight years, and then fell back to 82 3-4; Reading common advanced 3 3-4 to 79, the highest price since the segregation of the coal properties, and then slipped back to 77 3-4; Baltimore and Ohio touched 84 7-8 for the first time since 1917, and then yielded to 82 5-8.

Net gains of 1 to 4 points were recorded by New Haven, Lackawanna, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Southern Pacific, Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred, Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago and Northwestern, Delaware and Hudson, Louiseville and Nashville. "Soo," Rutland preferred, Western Maryland second preferred, Western Pacific and a few others.

American Can was run up to 153 1-4 and then slipped back to 151 3-4 for a net gain of 1 1-4 on the day, but the other pivotal industrials showed little change. United States Steel common closed 1-8 lower at 117 7-8, and Baldwin was unchanged at 124 7-8.

Professional bear traders threw large blocks of stocks into the market in an effort to check the advance, but they met with little success. American Woolen and Woolworth, in each of which a large short interest is supposed to exist, were run up 6 3-8 and 8 1-8 points, respectively, on urgent short coverings.

Commercial Solvents issues continued their sensational gains, the "A" being boosted 12 points and the "B" 10, but the "A" stock forfeited about half of its gain and the "B" fell back 5 1-2 points from the high. Net gains of 3 points or more were scattered throughout the list.

Call money held steady at 3 per cent all day. Time funds were plentiful at 3 1-4 to 3 3-4 per cent, but lenders were disinclined to make any concessions in rates. Commercial paper held firm at 3 1-2 to 4 per cent.

Foreign exchange rates moved irregularly within narrow limits. Demand sterling held fairly steady just above $4.69, but French francs were slightly reactionary, being quoted around 5.35 1-2 cents. Spanish exchange was week, dropping about 10 points to around 13.97 cents. Czecho-Slovakian exchange developed pronounced strength, establishing a new high record for the year at 3.03 3-8 cents.

FLAXSEED MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DULUTH (Minn.) Dec. 17.—Continued light receipts and active bidding again enabled to make a firm flaxseed market. Later there was selling for profits and the market eased with part of the early advances lost. A new season's top at 3.05 for spot seed was set before the reaction. Close: December, 2.97; January, 2.96; May, 2.96½; track, 2.97@3.01; arrive, 2.97@2.96. Minneapolis flaxseed demand good; offerings moderate; 2's, 1 cent spot, 2.96@3.07; to arrive at 2.95@3.04. Receipts, 28 cars; last year, 22 cars.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Speculation for the rise was resumed on the stock exchange today, and advances of 2 or 3 points or more were numerous. Even the averages moved up more than a point and a half into new high ground, but closing prices showed half of that early gain to have been canceled.

It was, in fact, again a market in which the declines of considerable scope occurred simultaneously with rapid advances. Something like thirty separate stocks gained 2 points or more for the day, but in eight others there were equally large declines. The character of the trading was, perhaps, fairly illustrated by the fact that while one industrial specialty advanced 8 points under exceptionally heavy buying, another declined 8 points on sales of 200 shares.

The day's movement really converged, however, on the railway shares, in which advances ranging from 3 points upward were numerous the high-priced shares being this time rather conspicuous points of strength. It is difficult to doubt that the progress of the Nickel Plate merger negotiations and the exceedingly random inferences drawn regarding other projects of the kind are at the bottom of much of this railway share speculation. Few people deny that the railway outlook has until lately been much misjudged, and the intrinsic value of the properties much underrated, but blind discounting of the terms which are imagined as likely to be offered for future amalgamation is perilous.

In 1901 one railway wishing to buy another used to offer a price far above the market, or else bid openly for its stock against the speculators, issuing collateral trust bonds to pay the price of effect the exchange, and sometimes, as in Union Pacific's case, mortgaging its own property to raise the money. But this is not 1901. Not only are there nowadays two stubborn parties to every bargain of the kind, but the Interstate Commerce Commission has a voice in every such proposal.

The midweek report on the steel trade's progress showed the industry to be producing now at 80 per cent of capacity, a ratio not matched since the downward turn of activity grew emphatic in early April. This present rate is still 10 per cent under that of March, and 11 per cent less than in the spring of 1923. But it compares with an active capacity of barely 66 per cent last October, with 45 in August, and with 40 per cent or less in July, and it exceeds the rate of twelve months ago for the first time in the current year.

This happens, so the Iron Age points out, at a time of year when steel production usually slows down. It has been accompanied by larger specifications from buyers than had been expected in December, and by the discovery that for the first time in many months, some of the mills are getting behind in deliveries. The whole movement of the trade since election day has presented the picture of normal and intelligent expansion, such as might have been foreshadowed by the stock market's advance in August.

Whether the more recent and much more excited demonstrations on the stock exchange should be held to foreshadow a trade movement later on, like that which occurred in at the beginning of 1923, is still debatable. The stock market always indicates trade recovery or reaction in advance, but it does not always accurately indicate the character of it.

Grain Markets Encounter Wild Wave of Buying

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—All deliveries of wheat and rye sold at a new high on the crop early today as the result of enthusiastic general buying based on bullish foreign news. A leading continental house at the seaboard, which has been talking bearish and circulating reselling talk all the way up, turned bullish on wheat overnight and predicted a price of $2.

December sold up to 1.68 and May to 1.72½, many local bulls taking advantage of the upturn to secure profits and a break of 1¾@1¼c from the top followed. The close was ⅝c higher on December, and ⅛@2¼c lower on the deferred deliveries, with July leading. December finished at 1.66¼. May at 1.70@1.70⅛ and July at 1.47⅛@1.47⅝.

Corn at the top was within ⅛@⅝c of the best figures of the season, May touching 1.31⅝ and July 1.32, but there was heavy and persistent selling by a house that has recently been a free buyer, and the undertone was heavy throughout the day. Prices broke 2¾@2⅞c from the top and closed 2⅝@3¼c lower, with December, 1.23¼; May, 1.28@1.28⅛, and July, 1.29⅝@1.28⅝. Oats broke in sympathy with corn and closed 1⅝@1⅞c lower. Rye showed independent strength and gained ⅛@⅜c, with May selling up to 1.53¾ and closing at 1.49¾.

Cables from abroad bordered on the sensational and were the main bullish influences during the day. Within two months of harvest Russia has come into the market as a buyer of flour, taking 130,000 barrels at the Atlantic seaboard. The foreign demand for wheat, which has been slow for several weeks, revived materially with sales estimated at more than 2,000,000 bushels for the day in all positions. Canadian mills were heavy buyers of futures at Winnipeg and export sales of flour in the last few days were reported as the largest in history. Winnipeg closed 1¼c higher to ⅝c lower.

Many traders expressed the view that had it not been for the independent weakness in corn, wheat would have closed much higher. Part of the selling of wheat during the day was based on the belief that when corner talk and seasonal claims as to the world's position commence to be made that a sharp reaction is in order.

Bartlett-Frazier, who have been aggressive on the buying side of corn for a number of weeks, headed the selling today and put sufficient long corn into the pit to satisfy all demand and were largely responsible for the decline. Part of the selling was for J. A. Patten, who was inclined to take a bearish view of the situation after the close. Country offerings to arrive were not large, and the spot basis was unchanged to ¼c lower, with the poorer kinds showing the weakness.

Selling of oats was in the way of taking profits by longs and in sympathy with corn. May sold up to 63⅝c early and broke 2¼c, and closed at 54@54⅛c.

Prime cables reporting Russia was after 1,250,000 bushels cash sos in this country were largely responsible for the independent strength shown in that grain. Under normal conditions, Russia is the largest world's exporter.

Provisions were firmer early on an advance of 2s to 2s 6d in lard in Liverpool and on investment buying, but reacted from the top with grains and on profit taking. Lard closed 5c lower to 15c higher; ribs, 25@30c higher, and bellies, 5@20c higher. Foreign demand for lard was slow.

BIBLE TEXT IN SPANISH URGED HERE

Suggestion Made in Talk at Interdenominational Council Conference

That inexpensive editions of the Bible should be printed in Spanish and put in the hands of all Spanish-speaking people was urged by Rev. A. Wesley Mell, Pacific Coast representative of the American Bible Society, yesterday in his address to the delegates of the Interdenominational Council on Spanish-Speaking Work in the Southwest, meeting at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

The cultivation of a fraternal spirit, better methods of federation and co-operation, and the study of the best means for spreading divine truth was urged by Rev. H. A. Bassett, Albuquerque, N. M., who lead the discussion.

Other speakers at the second day of the conference were Rev. E. R. Brown, superintendent of Mexican work; Rev. W. T. Gilliland, Plaza Community Center, both of this city, and Rev. Charles E. Vermilya, Home Missions Council of New York.

About thirty delegates are in attendance at the conference, many of them coming from Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and New York City.

In the evening Miss Grace Stanley, State commissioner of elementary education, talked on the Mexican in the public schools. She was followed by Rev. Paul C. Elliott, who addressed the delegates on the Mexican in California.

The conference will close this afternoon with a business session when reports of committes, findings, relations, and other details will be discussed.

Salvation Army Filling Baskets for Needy Folk

Although the Salvation Army lassies with the traditional kettles will not be seen on street corners here this year owing to the fact that the Community Chest cares for the financial requirements of the Yuletide, the work of the Army will go on just the same, Col. C. R. Boyd, Southern California divisional commander, stated yesterday. Funds provided by the Chest, he said, will provide for all the relief work, and full time of the workers will be devoted to carrying out the program.

Christmas relief work of the Army this year will include the distribution of baskets to 850 needy families, a party for 1500 kiddies on the 23rd inst. and cheer for 100 youngsters at the General Hospital.

CLUB TO WELCOME WARDE

Frederick Warde, Shakesperean actor, will be welcomed back to Los Angeles by the members of the local Shakesperean Club at their meeting this evening at 313 West Third street. Mr. Warde will continue his lectures before the club, beginning with the January meeting. Members and invited guests only will be admitted to these lectures.

MAYOR HELD PRISONER BY GUNMAN IN OWN HOME

Gunman is Arrested When He Goes to City Hall to Get Cash Mayor Was Forced to Promise

Mayor Cryer was held a prisoner in his own home for two hours Tuesday night by an armed intruder who held a gun against his temple for a good part of the time disclosed yesterday with the arrest at the City Hall of A. Critchlow, former chiropractor and now a nurse at the Good Samaritan Community Hospital.

The gunman was arrested late yesterday afternoon when he appeared at the City Hall to collect the money which Mayor Cryer had promised him Tuesday night. He is now in the custody by Detectives Lentz and Littlefield, to whom he made a detailed confession of his fruitless attempt to force Mayor Cryer to hand him a large sum of money.

STORY OF EXPERIENCE

The full story of his hectic experience with Critchlow was told to Mayor Cryer after the latter's arrest by police. He stated that Critchlow had called him on the telephone at about 4:30 Tuesday afternoon and represented himself as a Department of Justice agent on a secret mission here. He asked Mayor Cryer to see him at his home that evening and Mayor Cryer made an appointment with him for that hour Critchlow arrived at Mayor Cryer's home on Lanham street. In response to his ring, Mayor Cryer opened the door.

The intruder went with the Mayor to the latter's library and displayed a heavy-calibered revolver at the Mayor's side and commanded him to keep silent.

"I'm a desperate man," he said, "and I must have money. My life depends upon it. You can do anything to me. You are the Mayor of a great city and have means of getting money. You must have a large sum immediately. I was brought out that I was without money and was forced to Mayor Cryer to

CALLS FOR TIME

Mayor Cryer explained that he asked for time. Mrs. Cryer and the children were in another room. He feared that their entrance into the room would cause the intruder to shoot.

He conversed in low tones for some time, Critchlow meanwhile keeping his revolver trained on Mayor Cryer said. Finally Mrs. Cryer and their two children entered. They passed the room where he and the gunman were and the latter whisked the portiere cover over his weapon and kept it from their gaze.

Mayor Cryer explained to Critchlow that he didn't have any money with him.

"I don't say money and you get it," was the grim reply, "and you'll have to get busy and think fast."

Several seconds later the intruder explained to Mayor Cryer that he would call on at Vernon and owner of the Vernon arena, and obtain a large sum for him or he would shoot to kill.

With the intruder's gun pressed against his head, Mayor Cryer looked up the phone number to get Doyle. Then he called the number, with Critchlow still keeping the revolver at the Mayor's head.

Doyle was out when the Mayor called and his secretary responded. Mr. Cryer requested the latter to have Doyle call him at his home.

About ten minutes later Doyle called.

"I want a little money right away," the Mayor said.

"What are you doing, kidding me?" Doyle countered in response.

"No, I'm not kidding," the Mayor said, while Critchlow jammed the gun more forcibly against his head and whispered:

"No, not a little money, a lot of money."

Doyle then replied that he would give the money to the Mayor if he would come for it to Vernon. The telephone conversation was thus terminated.

HANDS TREMBLE

Informed that to get the money they would have to go to Vernon, Critchlow objected, scenting trouble. He was obviously nervous; his hands were trembling and his face was bedewed with sweat.

During this time, one of Mayor Cryer's children three times passed the door of the room in which they were seated and each time Critchlow admonished Mayor Cryer to keep silent on pain of death and covered his revolver with his coat.

Critchlow finally agreed to accompany the Mayor to Vernon in the Mayor's car. Mr. Cryer called his chauffeur, Joe Loquet, and the latter arrived in a few minutes in response to the telephone summons.

The approach of the car was heard by the Mayor but he deliberately kept quiet and Critchlow remained in ignorance of the fact. Mayor Cryer continued to bide his time. He kept the intruder in conversation meanwhile, hoping that something would arise to end the strange situation.

ATTORNEY CALLS

Some time later Mike Shannon, attorney for Doyle, called on the telephone and stated that he had been informed by his client that the Mayor wanted some money. He suggested that the Mayor stop and pick him up on the way to Doyle's.

The Mayor turned to Critchlow

INCE WILL FILED IN COURT

Document Names Widow and Lawyer Executors and Lists $1,666,000 Assets

Thomas H. Ince, film magnate, who died at his home here November 19, last, after an attack of indigestion, left an estate valued at $1,666,000, according to his will filed for probate yesterday in Superior Court.

The estate consists, according to the will, of the following property: home in Benedict Canyon, $250,000; bonds, cash in bank and accounts receivable, $200,000; stock in the Thomas H. Ince Corporation, $1,036,000; stock in the Ince Investment Company, $125,000; other stocks, $15,000 and personal property, consisting of furniture, automobiles and yachts, $46,090.

The will, which was signed October 3, 1921, appoints Mrs. Ellen Priscilla Ince, the widow, and Attorney Ingle Carpenter, as executors. The beneficiaries are the widow and three sons, William Thompson, 15 years of age; Thomas H., Jr., 12, and Richard Kershaw, 9.

The will provides that the executors shall control the property for five years. They are directed to lease or contract for the use of the Ince Studio at Culver City in such a way that it will be profitable and that the good will built up by the Ince Corporation shall be continued before the public. The executors are prohibited from investing any of the funds of the estate in motion-picture productions or in anything except savings bank investments.

During the next five years the will provides that the income from the estate shall be paid to the widow monthly except in case the income for any quarter exceeds $10,000. In that case such excess amount shall be added to the principal of the estate. After five years have passed the executors shall transfer the estate to the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank to be held in trust, the trustee being required to pay one-fourth of the income to Mrs. Ince and three-fourths to the children.

The principal of the estate is disposed of as follows: As each child reaches the age of 25 he shall be paid $10,000, provided he is engaged in a business or profession and provided Mrs. Ince agrees in writing; at 30, each is to be paid one-half of the balance due him from the estate, provided he shall have been engaged in a business or profession for five years and provided Mrs. Ince agrees in writing; at 40, each shall be paid the balance due him from the estate, provided he is in a business or profession and that Mrs. Ince's consent in writing is given. If Mrs. Ince does not agree in writing at any of the above times, the will provides that the payment shall be withheld until such consent is given.

If Mrs. Ince remains unmarried for seven years after her husband's death, she shall have paid over to

MORS IN THREAT TO KILL M'COY

Letters Score ex-Fighter for Affair With Wife

Selby is Called Moral Leper by Irate Husband

A threat to kill Kid McCoy for the theft of the love of Mrs. Teresa Mors and an offer to buy back his wife's affections by paying a small fortune to McCoy were disclosed late yesterday afternoon in two letters written by A. Albert Mors, husband of the woman for whose death McCoy is now being tried on a charge of murder, and introduced at the trial in Superior Judge Crail's court.

The letters were written last June by Mors to R. Davis, a brother-in-law of Kid McCoy, and at a time when Mors was making valiant efforts to regain the love of his wife after McCoy is said to have invaded the home of Mors and stolen the affections of his wife. They were brought into court in a sealed safety-deposit box rented by McCoy and in which articles of jewelry, declared by the State to have been stolen from Mrs. Mors by McCoy, were contained, and entered as exhibits for identification purposes in McCoy's trial. Counsel for and against McCoy admitted that the scathing letters may later be introduced as evidence.

McCOY DENOUNCED

"The threat to kill Kid McCoy was contained in the first letter written by Mors to Davis. In it he terms McCoy as a professional lover and praises Mrs. Mors as a "decent, God-fearing woman," whose love he hoped to win back from McCoy. The letter was written on June 1, at Santa Barbara, and states as follows:

"Dear Sir:

"Before I receive reports that your brother-in-law comes to my store to fasten his illicit friendship with my wife, I beg you to warn him away. His ilk is not wanted. If I hear he has been there I will go to Sacramento to see the Governor of the State on the grounds that he is an undesirable citizen in regard to his morality.

"If anyone comes into your home in the guise of friendship and made professional love to your wife you would probably do more than I am doing. I went to see Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Mrs. Jennie Thomas is McCoy's sister) at Eagle Rock but they apparently scoffed at what I told them. In any case it did no good. If he will stay away from my wife, who has always been a decent, God-fearing woman, I may win her back. If, however, he shows the beast that he is, God knows what will result.

"Possibly he has never met a man like me before. I know that I have never met a man like him, who, from what I learn, is a failure in everything.

"You are the responsible head of the house and his family, so I beg you to call him away, else I may be forced to kill him for betraying my home and dishonoring my hearth. You can use this letter against me. I will go to the District Attorney with you and even sign whatever is necessary to commit myself to the unwritten law.

[Signed]

"A. ALBERT MORS."

The second letter was written by Mors to R. Davis from San Luis Obispo on the following day, June 2. In it he delves deeper into his scathing denunciation of McCoy and his love for his estranged wife—"A curious mixture of saint and sinner"—and brands McCoy as a "moral leper" who has "broken every human and divine law" by invading the Mors household and stealing the love of Mrs. Mors from her husband.

The woman who was known to the world as a man and her "wife" are shown above as they were photographed by friends in Chicago just before the couple moved to Los Angeles.

"MR." BEACH HELD ROMEO

Love Letter From Chicago Girl is Found in Effects of Sex Masquerader

Corroboration of the belief that Paul J. Beach, revealed in death as a woman, who had successfully posed as a man and a husband, was engaged in an affair of the heart involving a Chicago girl when death intervened, was uncovered yesterday in the examination of Beach's effects by Louis P. Waterman, deputy public administrator.

In a letter addressed in a feminine hand and mailed in Chicago on the 4th inst., only a few days before the body of the woman was found last Thursday in the home she had built at 2022 Tenth avenue, an unidentified girl who signed herself merely "Evelyn" expressed the hope that some day her dreams about Beach might come true.

The letter, a missive of a single paragraph and bearing no salutation at the head, follows:

"I am tired tonight, sweetheart, and just long for a nice big broad shoulder to lean on, and with the world all shut out, just rest. It seems to me it would be a little bit of Heaven to know I never had to go to the old office again. I believe I should grow young again, if I could just creep into some little nest, and know that I need not worry where the next meal was to come from, and had a strong arm on which to lean and an understanding heart to beat in unison with my own. Some day, dreams may come true.

"Good night, dearest, and God bless you.

"EVELYN."

Further investigation of the papers found among Beach's effects indicate that since, and possibly before, the death of Florence Dillon, who was legally married to Beach at Sacramento, June 9, 1918, the woman known to the world as a man had affairs with other women.

A notebook containing the names, addresses and telephone numbers of more than a score of women living in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Cleveland and Minneapolis, was found. A check of these names is to be made in the hope that some clew as to the real identity of Beach may be made.

Another significant discovery was made in the examination of the dead woman's effects. Nearly a dozen hypodermic needles and syringes for the injection of drugs, together with a vial containing a solution believed to be narcotic and another vial containing tablets of a powerful narcotic were revealed. This discovery substantiates the theory that Beach's death was brought about by an overdose of drug, probably morphine, but until the examination of the dead woman's stomach has been completed by County Chemist George Walker, this cannot be established.

The examination of the stomach was begun yesterday and will probably be completed today. In the event that the stomach shows evidence of a sufficient quantity of the narcotic to have brought about death, an investigation of Beach's movements and habits will be undertaken to ascertain, if possible, whether the overdose was self-administered, accidentally or with suicidal intent, or whether it was administered by another person.

Efforts to reach a woman in New York, who signed herself as "Aunt Aggie" in several letters to Beach, were being made. On "Aunt Aggie" are based the only substantial hopes for ultimate identification of the woman who for years carried on successfully a sex impersonation, the most remarkable in the annals of Southern California. Nowhere in the effects of the MELANCHOLY interest attaches to the case of Louis D. Oaks who, on Thursday, was thrown out of the police force upon a cold and unfeeling world.

As a flat-footed cop on a beat—as a man hunter—Oaks was a success. As a Chief of Police he was a tragic failure.

He is the fourth Chief of Police to hold office in this city, during my recollection, to be lured on to ruin by the siren call of vamps.

Like the others, he was too naive and unsophisticated to resist the flapperies of these remnant-counter Du Barrys.

"CALL ME LOUIE"

Even without the blandishments of the fair, but frail, Oaks would have failed. There wasn't enough activity going on under his police cap.

Oaks is the administrative genius who, upon assuming command of the police force, as Chief, made the deathless remark to his men: "Don't call me Chief, boys; call me Louie."

As a quite-to-have-been-expected result, he had about the worst disciplined police force in the history of the city. Certainly the most insulting and ill-mannered.

TALKED BACK TO COPS

During Oaks's administration, the police force became possessed of a most amazing superiority complex. "Talking back" to a policeman became the final crime.

A woman writer of my acquaintance was "bawled out" for missing a traffic signal during that period. She has bad eyes and couldn't see the signal.

The policeman roared at her as though she were a criminal and added, "I never saw a woman yet with any brains."

She promptly turned her car around and drove back to him.

"My brain earns $150,000 a year for me; how much does yours earn for you?" she said. Whereupon the cop, in his majestic self-importance, arrested her and sent her to the station.

If nothing else, Chief Vollmer, who followed Oaks, taught some of the principles of common politeness to the police force.

JUDGES WANT AUDIENCES

It was to be expected that the new $6,000,000 jail and Courthouse wouldn't please anybody; that always happens with public buildings.

The judges of the Superior Court have, however, registered an amazing complaint. They want to provide for larger audiences. They think that at least 100 spectators should be seated in each courtroom.

TRAINED WEEPERS

I don't doubt that a good "house" is pleasing to the vanity of the lawyers; also is valuable publicity. Especially around election time.

As an old Courthouse reporter I know, however, that there are too many spectators at criminal trials; not too few.

It is a dismal and dangerous fact that juries are influenced more by the crowds in the courtroom than by the testimony. It is a common thing for these wise-cracking criminal lawyers to pack the courtroom with trained claques.

They are ready to weep and sniffle at the drop of the hat.

JUDICIAL SPOOFING

The contention of the judges that there should be a big gang present because of the constitutional right of the defendant to a "public" trial, is all bosh and piffle—as they very well know.

In these days of newspapers, twenty seats for spectators constitute a public trial as much as 20,000. After all, it's a lawsuit: not a free show.

SEAT 'EM ON A RAIL

If I were the architect of the Courthouse I would provide the spectators with seats. And those seats would all be on a single fence rail strung across the room. And that rail would have plenty of splinters.

CHEAP MELODRAMA

The most dangerous fact in modern civilization is that the trial of criminal offenders invariably takes on the character of a cheap melodrama.

WOMAN CAPTURES INTRUDER

When an intruder entered the room of Mrs. Peggy Harbour, 560 North Hill street, Tuesday night for the second time in two nights she decided things had gone too far. So, putting on her kimono and arming herself with a pistol, she sallied forth from the adjoining room of a friend, to capture the miscreant.

According to the story told the police, events began to happen swiftly. Mrs. Harbour entered her room with the pistol in the pocket of her kimono and as Jesus Hereida, a Mexican, jumped out of the closet at her, she stuck the gun in his stomach.

Hereida went out in the hall quietly, it is said, but once outside tried to make his escape. Mrs. Harbour screamed and aid —appeared on all sides. Hereida was swamped by willing attackers and finally was caught by Harold McGuire and T. M. Murphy, of 763 North Broadway.

At Central Station Hereida was booked on suspicion of burglary.

Mrs. Harbour declared she believed Hereida was Los Angeles' most persistent burglar. Monday night, she says, she was awakened by some one going through her dresser. Only half awake, she declared, she made a move to get up and the intruder fled. She says she called to him to come back. Nothing was missing but five packages of gum, an examination of the dresser disclosed. She said the man was Hereida.

Feeling a strong "hunch" that her visitor would return, Mrs. Harbour declared, she decided to sleep in the adjoining room of a friend. About midnight, she said, she heard the door being opened and knew that her "hunch" had been correct.

MANIAC HUNTED IN POISON CASE

Man Suspected in Redondo Murder Attempt

Threatening Notes Linked to Effort to Kill Pair

Writer Said to Seek Revenge for Fancied Wrongs

Redondo police and deputies from the Sheriff's office expect today to effect the arrest of an elderly man suspected of a possible connection with an attempt to poison Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Melich who reside on Riverside Drive at the edge of Redondo.

According to Detective Alder of Redondo investigation has revealed that four or five persons in the beach city have been the recipients of threatening letters, apparently written by a crazed man who is seeking revenge for fancied wrongs.

Investigators believe that the writer of the threatening letters may be involved in the Melich poison plot.

Several days ago Mrs. Melich became suspicious of the pinkish color of sugar in a bowl left on a table in her home. She knew she had not placed the bowl on the table and therefore examined the contents of a large can of sugar in the kitchen which she found had the same peculiar coloring. An analysis of the sugar made by County Chemist Walker revealed that it contained enough poison to cause the death of 500 persons.

Chief of Police John V. Henry of Redondo has been assisting Deputy Sheriffs Stensland, Hackett and Weir in an investigation of the case, although the Melich home is situated just outside the city limits of Redondo.

Chief Henry said that the several instances of letters reported to Redondo police were worded in revengeful terms and contained threats to poison those to whom they were addressed. All of the missives were typewritten.

The names of those who received the letters were not made public.

The man under suspicion as the writer and sought in connection with the Melich case is known to police, investigators said and his arrest is expected hourly. He is believed to be a dangerous paranoiac, harboring delusions that certain persons have offended him and that he must exact a fearful revenge.

Alder said that one man in Redondo was threatened by the mysterious writer some time ago. This man was in good health at the time. He is now a hopeless invalid, totally blind, and with his mind affected.

BOOK SALE FRAUD CHARGED

Officers Report Draftsman Also Bought Medicine and Raised Figures on Slips for Refund

Dictionaries and diseases figured prominently in a get-rich-quick scheme evolved and practiced by T. D. Kriton, 31 years of age, according to postoffice inspectors who took Kriton into custody yesterday on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. The defendant is held in the County Jail under $1500 bond pending a hearing before United States Commissioner Long Saturday.

Kriton, formerly living at 345 South Flower street, is a draftsman. He was arrested yesterday by police on complaint of a book dealer who said he had stolen a dictionary from his store. Information obtained from Kriton led the police to believe he is the man responsible for losses sustained by other merchants in recent months. This information was turned over to the Federal officers.

The officers say Kriton for a time plied a profitable trade in dictionaries which he sold for $12 or $15 each after he had paid $1 apiece for them on installment contracts. When the available supply of dictionaries ran short, Kriton, it is asserted, turned his attention to patent medicines which he purchased from Los Angeles druggists. His plan in handling the medicines, the officers say, was to raise the figures on the sales slips obtained at the drug stores and thereupon use the slips in securing refunds of the price of the medicine from the manufacturers on their guarantee of "no cure, no pay."

HEATH GIVES FLOOD OF CIGARS COLD SHOULDER

Traffic-law violators who approach Chief of Police Heath and other police executives with a box of cigars in one hand and their tags in the other in the hope that the spirit of Yuletide will cause these executives to intervene in their cases will find themselves confronted by an excessively cold shoulder. Chief Heath stated yesterday that he had received a flood of Christmas gifts, almost all accompanied by traffic tags which the senders ask him to straighten out as a sort of a Christmas gift. Tags and presents are being returned as quickly as they are received. Those who call in person with their gifts and troubles are also being shown the door as quickly as they arrive.

PROPERTY OF LATE JIMMY MURPHY SOLD

Two lots owned by the late Jimmy Murphy, world famous auto race driver and 1924 speedway champion even though dead, sold at auction yesterday in Probate Court for $20,500. The property is located in Beverly Hills. The auction was conducted by Attorney Thomas White. Murphy, who was killed in a race in Syracuse last summer, left an estate valued at $150,000.

HEMMI DEFENSE TO START

Government Rests Case Against Torrance Lawyer on Testimony of Mail Loot Discovery

Evidence for the defense will be submitted today before Federal Judge James in the case against J. U. Hemmi, Torrance lawyer, charged with receiving money stolen from the mails. The government rested its case yesterday after introducing the testimony of postoffice inspectors who found buried in Hemmi's back yard $5500 of the $25,000 stolen from the mails last December at Anaheim.

The government also introduced a written statement by Hemmi in which he said Joseph R. Abernathy gave him the money for safe keeping and that he understood it represented a commission on a real estate deal Abernathy wished to keep secret. Postoffice inspectors testified Hemmi showed them where the money was hidden.

Charles R. Wheeler, formerly in charge of the registry division of the Anaheim Postoffice, was placed in jail yesterday under $15,000 bonds and his hearing before Commissioner Long was set for next Monday on a charge of receiving money stolen from the mails. Wheeler, acquitted last summer when tried with Abernathy on a charge of conspiracy to rob the mails, was employed as a barber at Whittier when arrested Tuesday on a bench warrant.

Abernathy was convicted and sentenced to serve five years at Leavenworth. He testified Tuesday in the Hemmi trial. His testimony was a confession of guilt in which he said Wheeler aided him and J. Lloyd Findlay, mail truck driver, to steal the $25,000 from the mails. He said that after his arrest he told Hemmi the money given him for safe keeping was part of the stolen money.

great influence over my wife. It is also clear what his motives are. I do not believe, infatuated as she is, that she will ever marry him. I am convinced she will find him out before they can get married, which is one year. If, however, she should be so far gone mentally and marry him, then I am absolutely convinced he would not get any community property, which is all he is after. She would be her natural self again when her interests are exposed to any danger or risks from this direction. Besides, before this affair is over, she may be stone broke.

"Now I am influenced by quite other motives. I believe in my wife. I have known her for seventeen years. A curious mixture of saint and sinner, but the saint predominates. Knowing Selby (Kid McCoy) and his record, which is an open book, I quite frankly ask you to find out from him what amount of cash he would take to leave my wife alone.

"I am sure you realize that this letter, while addressed to you, bears you no personal ill-will—quite the contrary—because you are the only one in the whole wretched affair that has spoken the truth. The easiest way is the best way, and if your brother-in-law will be reasonable perhaps after all is the best way out.

CALLED MORAL LEPER

"Naturally I withdraw the admonition of silence I asked you to observe. In any case, I no longer ask for silence or secrecy, because tomorrow I am about to take a very radical step, so kindly don't delay a minute if the suggestion is feasible.

"I am simply doing this because at heart your moral leper of a brother-in-law covets his neighbor's chattels as the Ten Commandments expressly prohibit. However, he has broken every law, human and divine, and so I don't suspect this offer of mine will occasion him any qualms except cupidity.

"Otherwise, insanity or death, murder or suicide may result. This scandal will grow and grow unless settled at once. I am simply offering to buy him off his prey. At 51 he probably cowardly realizes his inability to making a living and he seeks this way of providing his future. Man proposes and God disposes so his carefully laid plans may miscarry.

"Please telegraph or write me, care Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

"Yours truly,

"A. ALBERT MORS."

McCoy's brother-in-law stated last night that he called the expugilist into his office and showed the two letters from Mors. McCoy requested that he be permitted to take them and show them to Mrs. Mors, which was granted by Mr. Davis.

In reply to the question as to how much money he would take to be bought off, McCoy is said to have replied:

"It would take more money than there is in the world. Don't pay any attention to those letters."

He is then believed, after receiving the letters from Mr. Davis, to have locked them up in his safety deposit box, where they were found on August 29 by Detective Lieutenant King of the District Attorney's office.

STATE CLOSES CASE

Introduction of the letters and the testimony of F. A. Andreani, attorney for Mors in all his marital battles, closed the case of the State against McCoy. The sudden termination of the prosecution evidence came as a complete surprise to McCoy's attorneys for Albert Mors, husband of the slain woman, was not called as a witness.

For two weeks it had been believed that Mors would be called as the State's chief witness against McCoy, and for that length of time Defense Attorneys Giesler and Shreve had been girding themselves to rip his testimony to shreds on the witness stand. But Mors did not testify.

Mors, though, will not escape the ordeal of dodging the interrogatory fire of the defense battery. He will be called as a witness for the defense, a subpoena having been served on him in the courtroom at the close of yesterday's session of the trial.

MAY CALL MORS

"We did not call Mors to the stand," Chief Trial Deputy District-Attorney Fricke explained, "because our case of murder against the defendant is complete without his testimony. All that he would have been able to testify to has been told by other witnesses. We may call him on rebuttal, however."

An attempt to impeach the testimony of Sally Teague, Mors's housemaid who testified Tuesday that McCoy had broken up the marital happiness of Mors and his wife, will be made by McCoy's attorneys, according to admissions yesterday. Sally told the jury the couple had displayed extreme affection for each other until McCoy appeared on the scene. Attorney Andreani also testified Mors and his wife were on affectionate terms with each other as late as August 11, last, the day before the death of Mrs. Mors.

RELATES VISIT

Andreani related a visit of Mors and his wife to his office, during which Mrs. Mors traded a valuable diamond ring for Roland, a police dog said to belong to Mrs. Mors and which Mors had hidden from his wife. When the exchange was concluded, according to Andreani, Mrs. Mors kissed her husband, he wept, she winked and they departed together.

The kiss, Attorney Giesler proved by the witness, was only "a peck on the cheek." On cross-examination, Giesler introduced the Mors divorce documents for the purpose of impeachment. The complaints, it was shown, set forth that Mors and his wife were separated as early as January 11, 1923, and had never lived together since that date.

"The State is attempting to show that the defendant came between Mors and his wife," Attorney Giesler informed the court, "though the divorce complaint proves they were separated and that Mors refused a reconciliation which Mrs. Mors solicited."

READS STATEMENT

Detective Lieutenant Jarvis occupied the witness chair during the morning session, utilizing all the time in the reading of McCoy's statement given to the police shortly after his arrest. This statement contained McCoy's original story that Mrs. Mors committed suicide and that the wounds other than the bullet wound were inflicted by herself while he struggled to take the pistol from her.

After a long conference last night with the defendant Mr. Giesler announced that testimony will be introduced by the defense to substantiate McCoy's declaration that Mrs. Mors committed suicide and that this element will form the backbone of the defense case.

Mors probably will not be placed on the stand today.

Among the witnesses to testify today, said Mr. Giesler, will be Mrs. Clara Simpson, a close friend of Mrs. Mors. McCoy and Mrs. Mors remained in Mrs. Simpson's house until 2 a.m. of the day she met her death. Mrs. Simpson is expected to testify that their relations were affectionate and that McCoy was in the habit of handling Mrs. Mors's jewels and helping her in business affairs. Other witnesses have been summoned to substantiate this.

Testimony will be given, said Mr. Giesler, tending to show that Mrs. Mors was despondent and agitated but a few hours before she died.

From Mr. Giesler's statement the conclusion was drawn that insanity will not figure as a defense, at least to the murder charge.

This fund, the will provides, shall be used to establish a farm or beach resort for poor people, where they may recuperate after treatment at the county or public hospitals.

Mrs. Ince is appointed as the guardian of the persons of her sons and the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank is named as the guardian of the property of the sons. The petition was prepared by Attorneys Carpenter and Charles W. Fouri.

FISH IS FOUND GUILTY; ACTRESS ALIBI FAILS

After failing in efforts to get two motion-picture actresses summoned as alibi witnesses for him, Sam Fish heard a jury yesterday pronounce him guilty of robbery on two counts. He will be sentenced by Judge Collier Monday. Fish is said to have feigned insanity during the course of his trial. He declared on the stand he was at a party on October 3, last, the night of both robberies, at which two actresses were guests. He was accused of taking a diamond ring worth $3000 from Rosa St. Ember and jewelry and money to the value of $3200 from J. J. Sperling.

COURSE ON WAR CAUSE

A study of the influences that brought about the great war will be included in a course on Europe Since 1870, at Metropolitan College of the University of Southern California, beginning in January, 1925. Discussion of the struggle for commercial supremacy, the imperialistic policy of the nations, the formation of the great alliances and the effect of the disturbed conditions in the Near East will occupy twelve weeks. Dr. V. C. Gilliland is in charge of the course, which grants full university credit. The group will meet on Thursdays, from 4:15 to 6:35 p.m., beginning January 8, 1925.

CRITCHLOW TELLS OF CRIME

Attempt to Extort $500 From Mayor Cryer is Revealed in Detail by Confession

Ben A. Critchlow, self-styled chiropractor and physician's assistant, who attempted to extort $500 from Mayor George E. Cryer Tuesday night, told J. C. Chapman, inspector of detectives, that his temporary residence was the Hollywood Community Hospital, 1891 North El Centro avenue, Hollywood, in a signed confession issued shortly after his arrest in Mayor Cryer's office yesterday afternoon.

Critchlow denied that he had ever been treated for any mental disorder and said he had been assisting Dr. Broadbent at the Hollywood hospital because he was a chiropractor and had no license to practice in this State. He admitted the possibility of mental deficiency, but said it was due to worry during the past two weeks as his wife had returned to the home of a sister in Ogden, Utah, and he had encountered financial reverses.

After phoning Mayor Cryer and telling him that he was a government operative and had been warned to keep away from the City Hall when in conference with the Mayor, Mayor Cryer agreed to an appointment in his home later that evening, Critchlow said. Mayor Cryer met him at the door and after taking his hat and offering him a chair, prepared to be seated himself, Critchlow said. As Mayor Cryer sat down, Critchlow placed his revolver against the Mayor's breast and warned him that he must be quiet. Mayor Cryer refused to become excited, Critchlow said, and was greatly troubled and surprised when he informed him that he was adopting stern measures in an effort to secure money, which he needed very badly, Critchlow said.

While talking to Mayor Cryer, Critchlow said he knew Mrs. Cryer and her two children were in the rear of the home and after more than an hour, when Mrs. Cryer went upstairs with the children, Critchlow hid his revolver behind his coat. Mrs. Cryer paused on the landing, overlooking the silent drama, but continued upstairs, unaware of the danger surrounding her husband. Critchlow had previously told Mayor Cryer that if any member of his family entered the room they would be forced to stay and Mayor Cryer, powerless to warn them of their danger, said last night that his greatest fear was that Mrs. Cryer would enter the room.

"Mayor Cryer is very nice. He said he didn't carry any amount of money in his home and I said I didn't suppose he did. I decided that he might be able to raise some. He didn't know how he could do it—the banks were all closed and then I remembered that there would be fights at Vernon and that Jack Doyle would loan him money if he asked for it. I made the Mayor call Jack Doyle up—I held my revolver against his side and told him what to say. I could hear everything he said and I knew that Doyle doubted that it was the Mayor calling. A short time later the phone rang, it was Doyle calling the Mayor up. Doyle wanted to know if the Mayor couldn't come down himself for the money. In the meantime Mr. Doyle must have gotten in touch with his attorney, Mr. Shannon, for Shannon phoned and wanted the Mayor to go with him in his machine. Just before this the Mayor and I decided to go down in his car, but when the chauffeur arrived, I was leaving and was on the porch.

"Before leaving, I apologized to the Mayor and he said he wanted to help me and told me I might come to his office yesterday afternoon. When I got there he was out," Critchlow said.

Critchlow said he was 41 years of age and had been a resident of Los Angeles since 1921 and that he had been arrested only once in his life and that occurred when he was caught stealing a ride on a freight train in Georgia. He said he was born in Ogden, Utah, and spent most of his life there, coming to Los Angeles with his wife a few years ago. Critchlow said he was praying for an opportunity to live down his disgrace and promised police officers he would offer no resistance if he were to be held in custody. After leaving Mayor Cryer's home Tuesday night, Critchlow said he returned to the Hollywood Hospital and slept very soundly.

I.W.W. PLOT ON MAYOR'S TOTS TOLD

May Day Plans of Reds to Kidnap Pair Recalled by Extortion Attempt

Ben A. Critchlow's attempt to extort money from Mayor Cryer marks the second time that peace officers have been called to protect the Mayor and his family, it was recalled by police officials last night.

Informed by Federal secret service officers in March, 1922, that the I.W.W. planned as a part of their May Day outrages to kidnap the Mayor's two children, Edward, then 9 years of age, and Catherine, 6, a cordon of police officers stood on guard about the Cryer residence for more than a week and for days the children were escorted to and from school by policemen.

So alarmed became the Mayor at the time that he and his family left their home four days before the May Day activities and did not return until May 2. The presence of the officers about the Mayor's home is believed to have frustrated the I.W.W. plot, as no attempt to kidnap the children was made.

According to information made public at the time, the Reds were said to have carefully plotted the abduction of the children as a demonstration of the power of their organization.

Crossing Crash Hurts Fatal to Mrs. Beckstrom

Mrs. Mary E. Beckstrom, 32 years of age, died yesterday at the Pacific Hospital from injuries received Tuesday night when an automobile driven by her husband crashed into a Pacific Electric El Segundo freight train at One Hundred and Twentieth and Figueroa streets. Her 10-year-old son, also injured, was removed to their home, 934 West One Hundred and Twentieth street.

The body of Mrs. Beckstrom was taken to the Ruppe Mortuary.

GUNMAN AVERS HE NEEDS CASH

He Makes Full Confession of Extortion Attempt

Heath Issues Statement on Strange Case

Praises of Mayor Praised by Police Head

give him the import of his conversation with the attorney. 'He will never stop for him,' Critchlow's rejoinder.

'Well, I've done the best I can; there is nothing more I can do,' said the Mayor.

He seemed to quiet the investigator. He relaxed somewhat and encouraged the Mayor in a conversation about general politics. At this Critchlow led up to the query for a crime such as he had committed.

'You're a lawyer,' he said. 'What will I get for this?'

EXPLAINS PENALTY

Mayor Cryer explained to him that he would be charged with extortion if he obtained the money and attempted extortion if he did not. The penalty for this, he told Critchlow, was a term of one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Throughout the two hours or more in which he was kept a prisoner in his home, Mayor Cryer remained exceptionally cool. Several times he tried to grapple with the self-styled chiropractor presented themselves during this period, he did not be refrained from seizing him because of the fear for his children. Neither Mrs. Cryer nor the children knew what had happened until yesterday morning.

As the time passed, Critchlow appeared to grow more nervous. He looked at his watch out repeatedly and several times swallowed some of the tablets which he carried with him.

MOVIES POLICE

It was after 10 p.m. when Critchlow turned to the Mayor and asked him if he were honest. The reply was in the affirmative. Then he asked the Mayor if he would take a sum of money at the time. The reply was again in the affirmative. Mayor Cryer then consented to make an appointment with Critchlow for the next day. Critchlow, however, refused to meet the city's chief executive at that time and stated he would be in the Mayor's office at City Hall in the afternoon.

Critchlow then grabbed his hat and left the house.

Mayor Cryer immediately communicated with Chief of Police Heath. The latter went to the home in person. He entered through a rear door and the two men remained in conference until midnight discussing plans for Critchlow's capture.

WAIT FOR CALL

Detectives Lieutenants Lane and Hynes were assigned to wait at the City Hall yesterday for the appearance of the visitor, though it was believed he would never come to City Hall.

Critchlow arrived at the Mayor's home at about 2 p.m., and Kinney, secretary to the Mayor, whether the latter was in. He was placed under arrest.

At police headquarters Critchlow told how he was the man who held up Mayor Cryer and robbed him of $10.

"There are worse things in life than losing a little money, and one of these is losing one's reputation. I am glad that I have turned so many weeks," he said.

RETURNS MONEY

Critchlow stated that he was in straitened circumstances and that this had led to the unsuccessful attempt to extort money from the Mayor.

Critchlow seemed to be perfectly calm. They placed him under a charge of attempted extortion.

Many persons, including many guests at the home by detectives during the night, stated he was a patient at a sanatorium at 1911 South Carlton Way, where he had served as a nurse. He stated that he had been in the hospital under the name of his wife, he said, when he was arrested at Ogden, Utah.

Concerning the various guns which were found in the room was issued

Visiting Elks Enjoy Dinner and High Jinks

Hundreds of visiting Elks from all over Southern California gathered at Los Angeles Lodge, No. 99, for the annual Christmas high jinks and midnight frolic, which was preceded by an old-fashioned turkey dinner.

Harry Girard's Glee Club and forty singers started the ball rolling and put the diners in a good humor for the general entertainment that followed.

At 8 o'clock the program began, largely made up of contributions by local members. Each number followed smoothly through to the next. As a finale Harry Carroll's "Pickings" arrived and staged the midnight frolic.

FOR TAX ABOLISHMENT

State Official Announces Plan on Federal Inheritance Levy

The abolishment of Federal inheritance taxes, which at the present time amount to as much as 40 per cent of an estate under certain circumstances, is to be recommended at a meeting of governors and inheritance tax attorneys of all States which has been called in Washington for the first week in February, Ralph W. Smith, California State Inheritance Tax Attorney, declared yesterday. Smith, who expects to attend the meeting, said it is understood President Coolidge will take a part in the sessions.

The Federal tax was adopted as a World War measure, Smith said, and had been used by the government during the War of 1812, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War. In each case the tax was maintained for about two years, he said.

HURRAH FOR OMAHA

In two respects Omaha claims preeminence. It has more telephones per person than any other city in the world—one-fourth as many telephones as inhabitants—and it gave the Bryan brothers to the world. Rival cities refuse to recognize both claims; they say the two should be classed together and called "talking machines."

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Mischa Elman has announced that he dotes on crab meat and will continue eating it all the time he stays in Los Angeles. But let no ambitious tyro suppose that he can grow into a great violinist by simply devouring crabs. A would-be literary genius once thought he could develop into a De Quincy by eating opium. He landed in the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital.

BREAKING THE RECORD

A Dutchman named Takkenberg is traveling from Amsterdam to Marseilles, a distance of 900 miles, by somersaults. The fact that the people of France are taking such great interest in this freak performance is one of several reasons why thoughtful Frenchmen are worrying over the future of their country. As to the tumbler, if there is anything in reversion to type, his ancestors must have been tumble bugs.

ANOTHER STAND FOR THE RIGHT

President Coolidge has again emphasized his determination to always do the right thing in the stand he has taken on the navy inquiry. He has expressed his conviction that adequate defense for the nation should be the only consideration in navy building and the relative strength of navies should not enter into the question. If all national leaders were animated with the Coolidge spirit world peace would be within hailing distance.

NAMING NEW CATS

By crossing lions and tigers the Maharajah of Nawanagar, richest ruler of the poorest subjects in the world, has produced a new species of cats, which zoologists are trying to name. One side insists it should be named Tigon; the other side favors Liger. It must be confessed that either name is better than the long Latin and Greek names by which other cats are known. Wise men will wait to see which way this new cat jumps before taking sides.

THE TAIL AND THE DOG

England used to be the dog and the colonies the tail. Now their relations are reversed. Whatever wagging is done in the future, it will probably come from the former nether end of the combination. The attitude of Canada and Australia on the oriental situation is already more important to the empire than the dictum of the Cabinet officers at Westminster. Once England dictated the policy of the colonies. Now the colonies will express their views, and England will hasten to acquiesce.

THE OLD-FASHIONED PIPE

Even the most ardent of the antismoking brigade should be pleased with the news that the briar pipe in British Columbia is making headway against the insidious cigarette and is cutting down the sales there of the too-popular coffin nail. If men must turn their mouths into chimneys and their lungs into incinerators the old-fashioned pipe is less harmful than the soggy cigarette. In fact the cleanliest form of smoking was the one introduced in the days of Raleigh, the church-warden clay pipe with a foot-long stem, that was only used once and then destroyed.

IT WORKS BOTH WAYS

In Chicago the usual procedure has been reversed. The cry against colored folk invading exclusive white residential districts is an old one. But to have the negroes protest against their best residential district being spoiled by an influx of whites is something new. Yet this has happened in Chicago, where the Granville Hotel on Grand Boulevard has been turned into a resort for hoboes. Respectable colored people have a just cause for complaint in this instance, especially as the planting of "poor white trash" among their elite is shrewdly suspected to be a ruse to force the negroes to buy the hotel at a fancy figure.

GOOD RAILROAD SHOWING

American railroads generally made an excellent showing for the months of September and October. The ratio of operating expenses to total revenues was only about 70½ per cent, the lowest figure reached, except in one month, since 1917. This was brought about chiefly by a large increase in net operating income and by greater efficiency in making up and handling trains. There has been a rise in the average of pay to the workers, but this has been offset by a reduction in the number of employees, eliminating of duplication and more economical methods in the use of fuel. Thus in September the amount of coal consumed in freight service per 1000 gross ton miles was 136 pounds as compared with 146 pounds for the same period last year. The traveling and shipping public have benefited along with the railroad shareholders from from the economies effected.

OUTLAWING WAR

One has but to read the report on recent naval operations by Admiral Eberle, which appeared in The Times of Wednesday, to discover how unfounded were the criticisms of the Treaty of Washington uttered by the Democratic speakers and press during the late campaign. Conditions in China have been even more critical than during the days of the Boxer insurrection. All the river provinces have been torn by war and revolution; yet the lives and property of foreigners have been respected.

One reads that the main waterways of China have been patrolled for four months by torpedo-boat destroyers and other light craft flying the flags of England, France, Japan and the United States. These craft have been a constant reminder to the orientals of what would happen if the foreign colonies were molested.

Such an object lesson would hardly have been possible ten years ago; for there was no agreement for unified action among the great powers. Under the old diplomacy a single nation would send a part of its fleet to protect its nationals and, after the trouble passed, the nation in question would demand reparation, generally in the form of territorial concessions. It was through this process that the gradual dismemberment of China was taking place.

That condition no longer exists. The treaty negotiated at Washington in relation to China formed a plan for common action, not for the purpose of conquest, but to preserve the peace of the Orient. When the Chinese see the four nations that brought Germany and Austria to their knees joining in a naval demonstration they recognize the reserve forces that, if necessary, can be called into action. And, equally important, they recognize that the demonstration is wholly in the interests of peace, that no division of territory will follow.

Those inclined to violence are restrained by the very present fear of punitive action; while those who desire only peace and security are aware that these foreign nations are sincerely interested in the welfare of the Chinese as a people and the country as a nation.

It is an inspiring spectacle to the world at large, these four great nations acting in common accord to preserve the peace of the Far East. When fleets are thus used for the common defense and not for purposes of aggression one begins to understand what the naval policy of the present administration really means. President Coolidge desires that whenever the American flag appears in the waters of a foreign country its peaceful purpose shall be manifest. He desires that the Navy shall be maintained in a state of high efficiency, not for the purpose of building to the limit permitted in the Limitations of Armaments Treaty, but to protect American interests and rights wherever they may be threatened and, secondly, to aid in the preservation of the peace of the world.

When the condition that now prevails in the Pacific area shall be extended to embrace the whole of the earth the outlawry of war will be in a fair way to accomplishment.

FIRST PERSON SINGULAR

In some of the schools of Los Angeles pupils are not permitted to begin literary compositions with a capital "I," and the stressing of the personality of the writer by the frequent use of this letter is discouraged. Formerly teachers paid scant attention to such little touches of gentility. It is being argued by some persons that by this suppression of the "I," as well as in other practices, our educators are putting a club in the hands of those who are pointing out that our present school system does not make for individuality.

The fact that "I" is sometimes a very much overworked word should not destroy its value in school or out. Of late years it has been adopted by European sovereigns instead of what was really the ambiguous "we." In the old days one never felt certain whether a king was speaking for himself, his government or his whole country. In his recent speech from the throne King George made scant use of "I" and none of "we" as a variant, but instead employed the term "my government." The question arises whether the dictates of modesty are better served by the use of the possessive pronoun in such a way or by a frank, outspoken "I," though in this case it would seem to indicate a recession of royal prerogative.

Most of our Presidents, and particularly Roosevelt and Wilson, have not been afraid to use the word "I" as often as they pleased. Coolidge, though of strong personality, employs the perpendicular letter but little. In his latest message to Congress it is used so sparingly that one would sometimes like to insert it. Yet, when it seems necessary for him to repeat it to gain a point, he does not hesitate to do so, as in this paragraph, in which the word occurs four times:

"When I approved the present tax law I stated publicly that I did so in spite of certain provisions which I believed unwise and harmful."

The omission of a single "I" from this sentence would cripple its force.

Montaigne liberally sprinkles his pages with "I's" and so do Franklin and Whitman. Thoreau apologized for the frequent use of this pronoun in his writings and conversation by saying, "I should not talk so much about myself if there were anybody else whom I knew as well." Browning, while not much given to self-exaltation, saw no good reason to hide himself behind expressions more remote than "I." He lugs himself in by the boot straps, however, in one of his poems by audaciously referring to "Robert Browning, maker of plays."

Paranoiacs, imbeciles and inebriates are strongly given to insistence upon the "I," and so are master criminals. Just before the headsman's ax descended upon the neck of the fiendish young Prussian who not long ago confessed to the murder of twenty-seven men and the cutting up of their bodies, the condemned man made a long statement, every sentence of which began with the word "I."

On the other hand, there are people so full of genteel timidities that they have a horror of the harmless capital letter. For years the editor of a leading New York magazine used to substitute "the writer" or "the present writer" for every "I" he found in an article, though most of his readers doubtless would have preferred it to the more impersonal expression.

While it is well for educators to implant in our youth sentiments that make for such character as "vaunteth not itself and is not puffed up," they should avoid the inculcation of any ideas that may lead to the formation of a self-depreciatory habit or too humble an attitude before the world.

Horning In

SMALL BONDHOLDERS

Uncle Sam lately asked subscriptions for an issue of some $200,000,000 of refunding bonds, carrying 4 per cent interest. As soon as the announcement was made citizens from all over the land began to send in their orders. The banks and big fellows were, of course, heavily represented, but there were also thousands of small orders—some from investors who only wanted a $100 bond. But the whole country seemed to be in on it and before the limit of time had expired the subscriptions reached nearly $1,500,000,000.

The government takes the position that it is best for its obligations to be in the hands of the largest number of persons possible. If every man is a stockholder in the company he is likely to prove a good citizen. Furthermore, a man who has money in government bonds has a social and financial standing not to be acquired in a lifetime of speculation or gambling.

Accordingly, the administration has served notice that perhaps the bankers and trust companies will have to wait. The bonds will go to the small investors. No subscriptions of more than $10,000 can be accommodated at this time. Many banks had large orders from big customers, but they will necessarily be sidetracked under the rule. The banks do not get as much advantage as the hired man who seeks to put his season's savings into a $100 bond.

The point is that we are becoming a bonded people. We are not bond slaves. We are not trafficking in bonded liquor. But, as a nation, we are a race of bondholders and therefore there is quite a rush when Uncle Sam shows some of his own wares. We are buying the bonds of dozens of foreign countries and of scores of foreign cities. We are taking on the securities of thousands of industrial or mining corporations, but the obligations of Uncle Sam are loved best of all—even if they do not carry as high a rate of interest as certain other investments.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

Complaints are heard that in these days of specialization the old-fashioned family doctor is fading out of the picture. Not so—that is, not wholly so. There are still numbers of them standing in harness and now Northwestern University is running a full-fledged educational plant with the expressed purpose of turning out more of their kind.

Likely young medical students are being trained for general or family practice. They are being taught to do everything from pulling teeth to filing corns. They can brew herb teas for headaches or they can carve a man's kidneys or flush his stomach. They are qualified to treat everything from dandruff to locomotor ataxia—that is, they are as competent as a college training and a little experience can make them.

It is certain that the family doctor, who knew the physical characteristics and mental moods of each member of the household, is missed. Specialization has reached such a stage that there are strong men who spend their lives administering ether to patients about to be operated on for appendicitis. There are experts who give their careers to the matter of extracting birdshot from the human frame. There are wise men who do nothing but measure the beatings of the heart or count the corpuscles in the blood.

But, thank heaven, the kindly and considerate family doctor is not to be lost forever. We may still have a sympathetic physician as well as a synthetic one. The lure of special lines of medicine and surgery with larger fees and easier hours is great, but it will not hold every student. The family doctor finds his compensations. He is the friend and adviser. He has adventures and experiences that never come to a specialist.

SMOOTH SAILING

According to their reports, eight of the Congressmen elected did not spend a penny in their campaigns. This is what might be called the easy life.

Just About It
by James J. Montague

OLD WILLIAM

The joy of life which you and I
Have always found so sweet,
The swirling tide that rushes by
Along the crowded street,
The hope of better things to be
To which we fondly hold,
Bring happiness to you and me
But they leave William cold.

No beauty finds he on the earth,
Or in the skies above,
He cannot see a cause for mirth
Or find a thing to love.
Apart from all the world he stands
Emotionless and grim;
The rose has withered in his hands,
The sun itself shines dim.

A child, he laughed and larked and played
As happy children do,
He followed rabbits through the glade,
The songs of birds he knew;
For loveliness and light he yearned,
And took the world on trust,
But now all goodly things have turned
To ashes and to dust.

Sad that the knowledge of the truth
Should wrinkle in a frown
The forehead that once glowed with youth,
And bow the spirit down.
Sad, happiness cannot be his,
To fill his soul with cheer
Sad, sad, indeed, that William is A sophomore this year!

BELATED JUSTICE

Secretary of State Jordan is another official who says that there must be a just legislative apportionment of California and the southern section must have the representation to which its population and taxpaying power entitle it. The constitution compels this act of justice. The provision is mandatory. The various members of the Assembly have sworn to support and defend the constitution. Individual legislators when interviewed from time to time profess their respect for the constitution and laws of the State. They concede that Southern California is entitled to increased representation and they admit that it must be accorded. But there it stops. We have the law, the evidence and the argument, but justice still limps.

HOOVER GIVEN CREDIT

Our world trade is now more securely distributed than ever before. It will increase rapidly as Europe recovers, but it has become much less dependent on Europe. In this result the Department of Commerce has played no small part. Mr. Hoover has worked indefatigably to promote our foreign commerce. He notes that 7500 queries about trade prospects are now received daily by the department and that export houses recently estimated at $500,000,000 the foreign transactions in which the department had helped them either to promote sales or to avoid losses.—[New York Herald-Tribune.

RIPPLING RHYMES

DIFFERENT WAYS

Some lonely pilgrim in the night makes strong appeal to me; I hand him wholesome things to bite and eke a cup of tea; I've sympathy for one poor wight, but not for fifty-three. The man of comprehensive mind takes broader views, I know;
the masses at their horrid grind, the legions in their woe, he will defend in words refined, and stake them with his dough. I read until my heart is sore of hosts who have no pie, of homeless people by the score beneath a wintry sky; but one lost pilgrim at my door calls forth the deeper sigh. I read of hosts who wait in vain for luck to come to bat; of tribes who live in want and pain hard by Mount Ararat; one woman weeping in the rain means more to me than that.
I am not big enough, I fear, to grasp collective woe; the single cases, always near, still keep me on the go, and so I pack a keg of beer to Richard Henry Roe. He is afflicted with the itch and also with the hives, and so I smear his back with pitch and see that he survives; not trying, with a gesture rich, to save a thousand lives.
The great ones travel to and fro on errands fine and high, they feed the legions stricken low and soothe them when they die; one hobo sobbing in the snow will get my choicest pie. WALT MASON.

LETTERS TO The Times

Mote and Beam

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I read articles published in your paper recently relative to a raid by the Sheriff's office upon a gambling game in Pasadena, and to the Police Station, in which a man was shot; and I cannot help but wonder if it would not have been more to the point if, before going to Pasadena, the Sheriff's officers had first gone a few blocks from their offices here in Los Angeles and closed up some of the houses and establishments that are selling, and have been selling, liquor at this time in violation of the law.

As a law-abiding citizen and taxpayer I would ordinarily go to the Sheriff's office and report these misdemeanors; but, upon two occasions in the past when I have gone to the Sheriff's office upon perfectly legitimate business, once carrying with me a letter of introduction from a prominent Federal official and friend of the Sheriff, I have been very curtly received by the lords who evidently guard the entrance to the Sheriff's sanctuary, and I have never gained an interview with Sheriff Traeger.

I know nothing of the efficiency or inefficiency of either the Sheriff's officers or of the affairs of the Pasadena police force; but I do know that when business has taken me, a middle-aged woman, to the offices of the Pasadena police force I was never received by the subordinate officers of Chief of Police Kelly with the greeting: "Wha' da' ya want?" and upon telling that my business was with the superior officer, to be interrogated with: "Wha' da ya want to see 'im about?" by a man with a big cigar stuck in the corner of his mouth, as has happened on the two occasions when the writer visited the office of the Sheriff of Los Angeles county.

MRS. CAMERON MONTAGUE.

Christmas on the Way

PASADENA, Dec. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Commercialism makes its preparations for Christmas far ahead of December 25 because it knows how people will buy and buy to the very limit to satisfy the idea of giving and receiving.

Would it not be well at this time to give some consideration to the one who, after all, is the originator of Christmas? Why wait for preachers to remind us just a few days before Christmas of the Christ? Why not think of the spirit of Christmas before we do our buying, which sometimes is just so much give and take without any of the spirit of Christ-child who should be the center and circumference of all of our Christmas festivities?

Many years ago I tried to find a phrase or sentence which would express to my mind and the world in a brief way what was the life of Jesus Christ.

In the Book of Acts I found this saying given by Simon Peter in explanation of Jesus' life on earth and how it tells us in a way that satisfies our conception of the beauty of Jesus' life. "He went about doing good."

"Back from Exile"

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am a visitor to your city from London, Eng., and I am amazed to read your leading article "Back from Exile," dealing with the attitude of King George to the British government and people appearing on page four of your issue dated December 15. I have taken an active part in public life in England for thirty years and I think I can claim to know the conditions there.

I would like to point out to you, and I hope you will see your way to give the information to your readers, that the King's speech is not prepared by the King, but by the government. The statements therein are the statements of his ministers and not those of His Majesty. They represent the policy of the government of the day. The King, acting in a strictly constitutional way, never expresses an opinion of his own in connection with political affairs. The form of the King's speech on this occasion is exactly the same as it has been when Labor, Liberal and coalition governments have been in power. The policies are different, but these are the policies of the government and not of His Majesty.

The impartiality of the King is recognized by all parties, including the Socialists recently in power, and His Majesty follows the advice of Socialist and Liberal ministers in exactly the same way as that given by his conservative advisers now in office. The King knows no party and therein lies the strength of the British throne and constitution. D. HAZEL.

Through Crimson Glasses

ALTADENA, Dec. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your editorial today in regard to Gloria Gould's indictment of modern society and its foolish foibles you justify its existence, because once in a while it dances for charity, that the poor orphans may have a Christmas dinner and that it also knits socks and sweaters for the soldiers. Surely it is a terrible indictment of our present social system that the poor victims of it should be dependent on such a precarious method for their daily needs.

The State takes our money and squanders it in devious ways—even to the extent of 93 per cent in recent years—without our consent. The preservation of the human being is the least of its concern, although Aristotle said over 2000 years ago that the function of government is to see first that men live and, second, that men live well—free from worry. It can be done, why not try.

If, as you say, working women go to movies to see the "simulacra of society and its palatial settings," are they helped or made happy by such exhibitions of the vulgar rich? No, not at all. It seems only to make them envious and discontented; or more probably disgusted, at least it will set them to wondering why it is that there are such discrepancies in life and where it comes from and if God is in His heaven, what is the matter with the world, that the wicked and unscrupulous enjoy the good and the fairest of life forever on the ground floor.

So I consider your remarks false and your justification of the present social order a perversion. KATE CRANE.

Councilman Mallard said that the city would gladly co-operate with the county officials if the county would not tamper with or slice off the lot on which the City Hall is to be built. Councilman Mallard said that one plan calls for the reduction of the size of the City Hall lot from 340 feet frontage to 350 feet.

Supervisor Bean said that the people of the city and county had been discussing and hoping for a civic center for many years, and that now that the people had authorized it and located it north of First street, the center should be developed along a definite plan so that it will be beautiful, accessible, harmonious and of service to the community. He called attention to the fact that the city and county had employed the Allied Architects' Association to prepare without compensation, a civic center plan and that the association had spent $40,000 in preparing the plan, as a community contribution, and this plan would be officially presented to the city and county about January 1. In order that those attending the conference could examine the civic center drawings and plans of the Allied Architects' Association the conference adjourned, subject to call of the chairman. At the next meeting of the conference the civic center plans will be exhibited.

"The meeting revealed," stated President Lacy after the meeting, "that there is no real fight on between the City Council and the county Supervisors.

"The county Supervisors made it clear at the meeting that under the State Constitution they were not permitted to condemn property for opening new streets in the city but could condemn property for the establishment of a civic center.

"However, as no definite plan has ever been presented for a civic center.

"However, as no definite plan has ever been presented for a civic center, they are unable to condemn any property for such a project."

POWER REVENUE

President Workman and Councilman Mallard yesterday continued their negotiations with the Public Service Commission to secure for the use of the city in purchasing the City Hall site $1,241,120 collected in taxes for the payment of the first year's interest and sinking fund charges on the $13,500,000 power bonds, but remaining unspent in the city treasury as these charges have been paid from power revenues. Under the plan now being worked out, this money will be given to the Power Bureau and used for the purpose for which it was collected, that is, the payment of interest and sinking-fund charges on the $13,500,000 power bonds. The Public Service Commission will temporarily cease paying these charges from power revenues until the total saved from the revenues is $1,241,120, and this revenue saved then will be considered surplus revenues of the city, which under the city charter must be returned to the treasury. This return will be made and the city will have the amount it needs to pay for the City Hall site.

If the recommendations of the referees are approved by the Superior Court, the cost of the City Hall site and the new Spring street will be $3,633,357, of which the city has already purchased one parcel by negotiation for $309,000, leaving to be paid a balance of $3,424,357. The $309,000 was paid out of the $2,500,000 bond issue voted for this purpose last year, so that the city will need to raise $1,133,357 to complete the purchase of the land for the street and the City Hall site. The use of the unexpended money collected for interest and sinking fund charges on the power bonds is the method now being worked out to raise this money without making another bond issue necessary.

SLAYER SUSPECT ON STAND

Young Tells Halting Story of Asserted Struggle in Which Mrs. Trewett Was Killed

Final arguments in the trial of William T. Young, asserted love slayer charged with the murder of Mrs. Jennie Trewett, were begun yesterday in Judge Hardy's department of the Superior Court and the case is expected to reach the jury today.

The prosecution concluded its case yesterday afternoon and the defense immediately placed Young on the stand in his own defense. The asserted slayer told a halting story of his infatuation for Mrs. Trewett, her continuous rebuffal of his advances and of his final frenzy which ended in her shooting and death.

He had been drinking heavily for several days before the killing, Young said, because Mrs. Trewett had refused his advances. On the day of the murder, he said, he went to her home in a final effort to persuade her to go away with him.

She refused, as before, he said, and they quarreled. In a frenzy, he said, he had drawn a gun from his pocket and they struggled for it. She wrested the weapon from him and they continued the struggle, the revolver exploding and killing Mrs. Trewett.

The final prosecution witness was Clarence Kneiling, son-in-law of Young. He was questioned in regard to testimony he had given at the inquest in which he was said to have declared that his father-in-law had come to his house on the night of the slaying and announced:

"Well, I have killed her."

On the stand yesterday, however, Kneiling denied giving such testimony or hearing Young make any sort of a confession at all.

In rebuttal to Young's testimony in his own defense, Dep. Dist.-Attys. Jordon, Davis and Works placed City Marshall Perason of Covina on the stand. He testified that several days before she was killed Mrs. Trewett had communicated with him and asked that she be protected from Young because he had threatened her.

ROBINSON, BAR PIONEER, DEAD

Noted Southland Attorney Eighty-one Years of Age

Known in Rail Associations During Early Career

Served as First Bailiff for State Supreme Court

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 17.—Edward J. Robinson, pioneer attorney of California, who has been prominently identified with the development of the State since 1851, and who is widely known in Southern California, died today at his home, 560 South Los Robles avenue. He was 81 years of age.

Mr. Robinson, who has lived in California for three-quarters of a century, came here when a boy 7 years of age. He grew into early manhood in Sacramento and was admitted to practice before the State Supreme Court in 1865. At that time he associated with many of the early financiers of California. He was the first bailiff of the California Supreme Court. It was while in Sacramento and San Francisco that Robinson became associated with the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific railways. For many years he was connected with court work at the State capital and was active in political circles.

ANNOUNCED CANDIDACY

Two years ago Mr. Robinson announced his candidacy for the office of State Senator from Pasadena, but withdrew his name before the primary election.

He was a native of Aurora, Ill., and is survived by two sons and a daughter, Robert A. Robinson of San Francisco, Edward B. Robinson of Pasadena and Miss Grace G. Robinson of Pasadena. Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Forest Lawn, Glendale.

During the last few years of his life, Mr. Robinson spent much of his time writing reminiscences of the early days. He recalled his trip across the Isthmus of Panama, the arrival of the first pony express rider in Sacramento and his knowledge of the famous Fair case in San Francisco.

SAW PONY EXPRESS

On April 3, 1860, Mr. Robinson saw Billy Baker, the first pony express rider, leave Sacramento. Ten days later he saw Harry Hoff reach Sacramento after riding the last lap of the cross-continent journey which marked the institution of the famous pony express. He recalled the efforts of the Union Pacific to lay six miles of track per day when that railroad and the Central Pacific were both driving east, and went to complete the road across the country. Then the Central Pacific started to lay seven miles per day. The Union Pacific then announced that they would lay seven and a half miles and finally the Central Pacific announced that they would lay ten miles of rails each day. Mr. Robinson loved to tell this story and of the $10,000 wager made during the competitive project.

POISON IN SALESMAN DEATH

Police Consider Murder and Suicide Theories After Finding Cyanide in Granger's Room

Murder and suicide were theories entertained by the police last night, after the revelation that Claude E. Granger, 50 years of age, a salesman, who died in his room at 143 West Fourteenth Place last Monday night, probably met death from cyanide poisoning.

Granger, of whom little was known, was found lying on the floor of his room by his landlady. At first it was thought that he died from natural causes, but later the landlady found a half-used can of cyanide in the room, and recalled the mysterious visit of a woman to Granger's room early on the day he died. Later it was discovered that he carried a life insurance policy.

WOMAN SOUGHT

Detective Schubert of University Police Station, in charge of the investigation, bent every effort last night to find the mysterious woman, while the county autopsy surgeon ordered a chemical analysis of the contents of the man's stomach to determine the cause of death.

The mysterious woman who visited Granger, Mrs. O. Bjerklund, his housekeeper, told Detective Schubert, called about 9 a.m., on the day Granger died, represented herself to be the man's wife, visited him for a time and left. Mrs. Bjerklund discovered Granger's body about 6 p.m.

DENIED HE HAD WIFE

She later recalled that Granger had once told her that he had no wife.

While suicide was considered by the police as a plausible cause of death, Mrs. Bjerklund told investigating officers that he had always seemed healthy and happy.

The body of the dead man was taken to the McKellar undertaking parlors.

STONE WILL BE LAID FOR NEW CHURCH

Dr. Charles F. Aked Will Speak at Ceremony Sunday on Wilshire Boulevard

The Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church will lay the corner-stone of its new edifice at Wilshire and Plymouth boulevards next Sunday at 3 p.m. Dr. Charles F. Aked, internationally known pulpit orator, will deliver the main address.

Dr. Frank Dyer, pastor and founder of the church, will preside, and will welcome Dr. Aked, who is coming to Los Angeles to be preaching colleague with Dr. Dyer. Dr. Aked comes from Kansas City, Mo., in which city he has been pastor of the First Congregational Church for five years.

E. P. Clark and A. R. Varian, representing the Los Angeles Congregational Extension Society; L. P. Sims, chairman of the general building committee of the church, and C. H. Lind, head of the construction committee, will lay the corner-stone.

The church was founded three years ago next Sunday by Dr. Dyer, who came here from Tacoma, Wash., after serving eight years in that city. The date is also the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock. At present the edifice is one-third completed, and it is hoped to have the structure finished before June 1. Services are now conducted at the Ambassador Hotel Theater.

The church, when complete, will cost $500,000. The main building is 164 feet long by sixty feet wide, the main auditorium having a seating capacity of 1400. Italian Gothic styles have been followed in the architecture.

BABCOCK WELFARE MANAGER

Work With Federation to Include Community Chest Direction

George M. Babcock was appointed general manager for the Los Angeles Community Welfare Federation at a meeting of the organization's directors yesterday. Mr. Babcock has accepted the position and will take charge of his new duties January 1. Included in the work connected with this office will be direction of the Los Angeles Community Chest.

During organization of the Community Chest Mr. Babcock served as chairman of the budget committee. In this capacity he aided greatly in bringing the 125 chest agencies together on a harmonious basis. He also served efficiently during the campaign and is thoroughly familiar with community chest work. The budget committee decided on the allocations made each institution affiliating with the chest. Mr. Babcock is at present business manager of the Business Men's Co-operative Association.

The new manager will take the place vacated by Col. C. A. Simmons, who managed the recent campaign and whose contract expires January 1. In commenting on completion of his work Col. Simmons expressed appreciation of the spirit shown by team workers in the drive. He also pointed with pride to establishment of several records in the campaign. Outstanding among those records is that of 188,172 subscribers exclusive of 145,242 school-children. Both these figures are far greater than any ever before attained in a first-year community chest campaign. Another difficulty overcome was that of the great amount of territory covered in the local campaign. Col. Simmons said he plans to take a long vacation.

Officer Cleared of Extortion in Torrance Case

A charge of extortion and bribery in which he was jointly accused with B. M. Anderson, former Chief of Police of Torrance, and A. P. Morewood, a Redondo attorney, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Collier against Stanley B. Abbott, Torrance motorcycle officer.

The trial of Anderson and Morewood was postponed to today because of the illness of the latter. A doctor sent word Morewood was unable to attend court. Morewood was ten minutes late when the case was called Tuesday and was fined $25 for contempt of court.

The indictment charges that Morewood and Anderson took $750 from B. M. Frynier, J. A. Draffon, F. Mangold, A. A. Higgins and E. L. Higgins to release them after arrest. They had been made prisoners for reckless driving and disturbing the peace.

ACCUSED OF MURDER

Complaint Issued Against Sailor in Slaying of Mrs. Hanmore

Domingo Villa, a Filipino sailor on the U.S.S. Nevada, was accused of murder in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Davis and Clark. Villa is in the General Hospital recovering from an asserted suicide attempt; Mrs. Emma Hanmore, whom he is declared to have shot, died in that institution. Before her death she told Detective Lieutenant Oker, the latter says, that Villa forced her to write a note indicating she intended to kill herself and then shot her. The Filipino met Mrs. Hanmore at a dance and became infatuated with her, it is asserted. The shooting took place in her apartment at 704 Hanford street.

H. J. STONIER TO SPEAK

Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary of the University of Southern California, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon and meeting of the Southern California Commercial Teachers this noon at the Elite, which will be one of the events of institute week.

Miss Mae McMillan, president of the Commercial Teachers' Club, will preside. Mr. Stonier will speak on "Crucial Problems in Education in California."

Flyer Missing in Gale is Alive, Mother Feels

A mother's intuition tells Mrs. Fred A. Miner of Santa Monica that her son, Frederick Blakely Miner, still lives, and she came to Los Angeles yesterday to enlist further support in the search for her boy.

Miner, with Harry A. Mitchell, a navy aviation rigger, left North Island November 23, last, in an airplane which they had overhauled and were preparing for commercial use. Neither has been seen or heard from since that time.

"Mitchell told somebody they were going to Ensenada, Mex.," Mrs. Miner said, "and it just seems to me that somewhere the boys are alive, maybe hurt, and are trying to get word back home."

A terrific gale sprang up shortly after the boys took off, Mrs. Miner said, but she does not believe it carried them off to sea or some one would have found the wreckage.

Navy and civil authorities have been searching for the two. They rode in a blue plane, one wing of which had been repaired and was unpainted. The Miners live on Twenty-ninth street, near Pico street.

WOMAN SAYS HUSBAND WED WITHOUT DIVORCE

Mrs. Ella C. Becker, who charged that her husband, Henry C. Becker, grew tired of her and simply went ahead and married another wife without the formality of an intervening divorce, was before Judge Summerfield yesterday seeking an alimony award pending trial of her suit for separate maintenance. "He left me once about ten years ago and then came back in 1920," she said. "In the meantime I had accumulated a little furniture. He mortgaged that and left me four days later." It was since their second separation that Becker took on a new wife, Mrs. Becker charged. Becker was not in court. Because of doubt as to Becker's ability to pay alimony the court continued the case until Monday for further testimony.

FINAL DECREE GIVEN IN WILCOX DIVORCE CASE

Harriet Wilcox was granted final divorce decree from Byron A. Wilcox, said formerly to have been a wealthy Boston cafe owner, yesterday by Judge Summerfield. An interlocutory decree was entered a year ago on her assertions of cruelty. One of the chief items mentioned by Mrs. Wilcox at that time was a party given by her husband in their home during her absence. She said she returned home and was met by several women, one of whom urged her to mount a table and give a dance of the seven veils. That convinced Mrs. Wilcox, she asserted, that her husband was not entertaining the proper kind of guests. The decree was obtained on application of Attorney Daniel M. Hidley.

MAN SAYS WIFE PUT ACID IN HIS CLOTHES

Albert Lake donned his underwear one morning in good faith and confidence that, as the advertisement had assured him, they would not bind or hamper him in any manner. A few seconds later, he was tearing them off hastily, according to his suit for divorce from Minnie O. Lake, filed yesterday. Mrs. Lake had smeared them with carbolic acid, he declared, causing him physical anguish. She also told untruths about him to a committee of his lodge brothers, Lake averred.

PROBATION CASES CLOSED

At the request of Probation Officer Carl May, Judge Hahn yesterday closed officially the cases of seven defendants who had been on probation, gave them the reward of "not guilty" on the records and dismissed the charges. The cases disposed of were those of J. W. Bordell, F. L. Hull, Mrs. O. Smith, G. Bradbeer, M. Borsby, N. C. Wood and H. S. Karr.

ELEVEN IN STRIP POKER NET

Nine New Complaints Issued as Result of Sherman Affair; First Arrested Held on Three Counts

Nine new complaints, three against adults and six against juveniles, were issued yesterday by Judge Archbald of Juvenile Court as a result of the District Attorney's investigation of a "strip poker" party at Sherman, in which two arrests had previously been made. Marshall Mitchell, 35 years of age, the first man arrested, was held yesterday by Justice Baird to answer three counts of a statutory offense.

The nine new accused are Walter Standberg, 947 Palm avenue, Sherman; Ollie Dryer, 821 Clark street, Sherman; Joseph Bacon, 4570 Matilija avenue, Van Nuys; Clifford McKee, 17, 936 Doheny Drive, Sherman; Jimmie Marberry, 17, 1124 Fifth street, San Bernardino; Kenneth Carroll, 18, 9020 Harratt street, Sherman; Bill Zinsley, 17, address not given; Jack Kitzelman, 19, 950 Palm avenue, Sherman, and Arthur Holman, 17, 950 Palm avenue, Sherman.

THREE GIRLS INVOLVED

The same three girls who testified in the Mitchell case were involved in all these cases, it was said. Jimmy Mitchell and Kenneth Carroll are asserted to have been present at the "strip poker" game. Walter Standberg took one of the three girls joy riding, it is charged, and Joseph Bacon, another, while Ollie Dryer is an uncle of one of the girls and is asserted to have contributed to her delinquency. Clifford McKee is said to have attempted to attack one of them, and Zinsley, two. Kitzelman and Holman are both accused of statutory offenses. All the charges are based on asserted happenings of the last few months and the girls involved are 13, 14 and 16 years of age.

In holding Mitchell for trial Justice Baird denounced him in vigorous terms, characterizing him as a "social wolf" who should be placed where he would no longer be a "menace to society." Bail was set by Justice Baird at $10,000, with the recommendation that it be not reduced.

BOY IN CASE

The charges against Mitchell were based on asserted relations with three girls, 16, 14 and 13 years of age, who testified at the hearing yesterday.

Grant Naylor, against whom a similar charge had been made, was turned over to juvenile authorities after it was testified that he was under age.

Mitchell was arrested by Investigator Chriss of the District Attorney's office after an investigation conducted by Chriss and Assistant Superintendent of Attendance Edna Carrick of the local schools into nonattendance of the three girls.

GIRLS TESTIFY

Witnesses yesterday included the three girls in the case and Kenneth Carroll of Sherman, in whose house the party is said to have occurred. Carroll said he was working in a store when Mitchell, another man and two of the girls came to see him. Afterward they left Carroll at the store, he testified, and went to his shack at the Sherman lumber yard. When he arrived home, Carroll declared, the party was in progress. Carroll testified he did not indulge in improper relations with the girls, although urged by Mitchell to do so. One of the girls was not at the party, it was testified, the charge involving her being made as a result of another party.

Investigator Chriss stated yesterday that he is investigating a report that Mitchell abandoned a wife and two children in Salt Lake City.

CHAUFFEUR PROTESTS DEDUCTION FOR SUIT

A chauffeur's livery which was being purchased for Fred Reilly to wear when he drove for Violet R. Urson, who is said to be Gloria Swanson's manager, became the subject of a wage claim filed by Reilly yesterday with Deputy State Labor Commissioner Santee. Reilly said he worked three weeks for Mrs. Urson and that his services were paid for with the exception of $32.50 which he claims wrongfully is being withheld to apply on the purchase price of his driver's suit.

MAN FACES CHARGE OF ROBBING MALLEN HOME

W. P. Robbie was held for trial in Superior Court under $10,000 bail by Justice Scott yesterday on a charge of burglary. Robbie is accused of breaking into the home of H. J. Mallen at 3915 Sunset Place and stealing $104 in cash and $100 in checks. One bill Robbie is declared to have stolen had the name of H. C. Merritt written on it in ink. This was introduced into the evidence.

WIFE CHARGED WITH THREAT TO END LIFE

After twenty-five years of married life Mrs. Minnie O. Lake became so jealous of her husband that she threatened to kill herself if he did not discharge a woman employee, Albert O. Lake declared in a divorce complaint filed yesterday in Superior Court. Lake declared that on one occasion his wife told him she had taken poison. A physician was called, the complaint stated, and it was found that Mrs. Lake was bluffing. Lake asks a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. According to the complaint, they were married in 1898 and were separated February 28, 1923.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the charmingly arranged affairs of the day will be the tea with which Miss Ellen Andrews and her sister, Miss Violet Andrews, are entertaining at the home of their parents in Lafayette Park Place, honoring their cousin, Miss Ruth Andrews, who will become the bride of Royal Stone the night after Christmas, and Mrs. George L. Andrews, formerly Miss Isabelle Anderson of Santa Ana, one of the brides of the summer.

The house will be elaborately decorated with flowers and foliage, pink roses and maidenhair ferns adorning the tea table, while in the other rooms of the house orange and yellow tones will be employed with foliage and ferns. The guests are mutual friends of the guests of honor and the young hostesses and the affair will be most informal.

Assisting the hostesses in receiving will be their mother, Mrs. Lewis W. Andrews, and the mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. A. V. Andrews, while others assisting throughout the various rooms and presiding at the tea and coffee urns will be Miss Elsie Wright, Miss Elinor Remick Warren, Miss Mildred Finley, Miss Constance Chandler, Miss Helen Hardison, Miss Josephine Scott, Miss Jean Dublin, Miss Gladys Wetherby, Miss Gertrude Andrews, Mrs. Marshall Andrews, Mrs. Erle M. Leaf, Mrs. James Shelton, Mrs. Frederick Williamson, Mrs. Secondo Guasti, Jr., Mrs. W. O. Miller, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, Mrs. Warren Bradley, Bovard, Mrs. Marshall McComb, Mrs. Charles Toney, Mrs. Eugene Blanche, Mrs. Bruce Haya Chapman, Mrs. Mark Finley, Mrs. Henry Rives, Mrs. William Dickinson, Mrs. Lyle Reinhold and Mrs. Wellington Folsom Bonner.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Richard A. Dunnigan of 431 South Oxford avenue entertained with a bridge luncheon at her home last Thursday afternoon, when the decorations were carried out in Christmas motif. Royal poinsettias and foliage were combined in the centerpiece of the table and great jardinieres filled with the gorgeous blooms were tastefully arranged about the house. Christmas candles lighted the board where covers were arranged for Mrs. Dunningan, Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. George Watson, Mrs. Daniel B. Cavanaugh, Mrs. J. P. Gaskill, Mrs. Louise Spratlin, Mrs. Robert Malone, Mrs. Mattison Morrill, Mrs. Harry Brandle, Mrs. M. Leonard, Mrs. N. Vehland and Mrs. Leon H. Watkins. This is the first of a series of affairs with which Mrs. Dunnigan is entertaining, the next luncheon to be after the holidays.

Reception Tea

Mrs. William Henry Russell of 455 South Lorraine Boulevard is issuing invitations for a tea Saturday afternoon, the 27th inst., in honor of Mrs. Clark Stull Smith, who, with Col. Smith, has come recently to make her home here. Col. Smith is the brother of Mrs. Robert London.

Dinner Party

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Winfield Miller of West Adams street are entertaining Sunday afternoon at their home with a tea, honoring Mrs. William Armstrong Moses, who, with her daughter, Miss Eleanor Moses, has recently returned from a year's trip abroad. The hours are from 5 to 8 and the hostess will be assisted by a number of friends.

Bridge, Mah Jongg Dinner

One of the beautifully appointed affairs of the week was the dinner given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bishop at their beautiful new home in Lorraine Boulevard, when the decorations carried out the Christmas motif in crimson and green, great stalks of royal poinsettias with mistletoe and holly berries were combined with greens and red satin ribbons. The dinner was served at small tables, and afterward bridge and mah jongg were the order of the evening's entertainment. Those included were Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Peterson of Toledo, O., who are enjoying their usual winter's visit at Hotel Coronado and are now on their way around the world; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Buchanan Barret, Mr. and Mrs. Grove Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. Friend Aiken, Col. and Mrs. Clark Stull Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Russell, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Gurdson Wallace Watties, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Turner Hoag, Mrs. Robert London, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Menke, Mrs. Idah McGlone Gibson, Mrs. W. N. Metcalf, Miss Rowena Bishop, Kenneth Gibson and Dr. Eugene Zeigler. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop have just returned from an extended visit at Hotel Del Coronado and during their absence their young daughter, Miss Rowena Bishop, has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Walter Spencer, in Fresno.

Christmas Party

Following their usual custom at this season Mr. and Mrs. John B. Winston will entertain Christmas afternoon with open house and dancing at their home, 518 South Lucerne avenue, when the hours will be from 4 to 7 o'clock. They will be assisted by their attractive daughter, Miss Marguerita Winston, and their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Sven Lokrantz (Carolina Winston,) and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Winston, Jr. (Ethel Maroney of San Francisco.) Dr. and Mrs. Lokrants have recently moved into their new home at 323 South Citrus avenue.

Dinner Party

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Wayte of Norwalk entertained Friday afternoon with a dinner party, honoring their guest, Walter Wagner, State director of institutions. The trustees were represented by Dr. H. G. Brainard, Mrs. C. F. Porter, Dr. and Mrs. George Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Barr, other guests including Dr. and Mrs. Irving Bancroft, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Carter, Charles Waymire, Mrs. William Swaine James, Spencer Clarke, Mrs. F. Blood and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merriam. Following the dinner, cards and a delightful musicale were features of the evening's entertainment. The rooms were profusely decorated with flowers and foliage gathered from the gardens of Norwalk.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. John Murray Marshall of 236 West Bellevue avenue, Pasadena, is entertaining with a luncheon and bridge Monday afternoon, the 22nd inst. at the Valley Hunt Club.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

ONE DOLLAR A POUND

"Dear Doctor: I weigh 152 pounds. Most of the fat seems to be around the stomach and abdomen. When I was married six years ago I weighed only 109 pounds (a little too thin, perhaps,) but now I am at least twenty pounds overweight. I told my husband this morning that I was sending for your booklet on reducing and that I was going to begin to count my calories. He said: 'Good! I'll give you a dollar for every pound you lose'; so you can see how he hates fat.—Mrs. R."

It is not uncommon, this gaining after marriage. The happiness is not the cause, however. In the majority of cases it is due to the adaptation of the maxim that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach," with the resultant cooking of delicious meals. In the large majority of cases hubbies come in for these increases in weight, too. In many cases there is also a lessening of working hours.

In six years you have gained over forty pounds. That means an average of about seven pounds a year. Seven pounds of fat is equivalent to 28,000 calories (counting one pound of fat 4000 calories) taken in excess of your needs. To see how many calories you have averaged a day over your needs divide 28,000 by 365 and you will find you have averaged every day but seventy-five calories in excess. That means about two-thirds of a pat of butter, or slice of bread, or a small chocolate cream. Not very much! Perhaps you have taken this excess seventy-five in tasting while you were preparing meals? You can see from this how small an intake over the needs is required to mount up terrifically.

You will have to take some special exercises for your stomach and abdomen. We have an article on the atonic abdominal walls that gives some of the exercises in detail: Kicking, raising your body from the floor, rolling and so forth. Long walks taken with a long brisk stride are also effective.

I am glad Mr. Husband is going to help you in your reduction. He is wise, because it is going to improve your health and prevent a lot of troubles.

Mrs. R.—Under the causes of high blood pressure are listed the following:

(1.) Psychic—fear, anger, excess worry, etc., produce a temporary rise. Internists say this is because of the pouring into the stream of the poisons of the ductless glands. When emotions are indulged frequently there may be a permanent rise of the blood pressure.

(2.) Overeating and overdrinking.

(3.) Overweight and obesity.

(4.) Chronic toxemias.

(5.) Obesity.

Of course, No. 3 is the same as 4 and 5. A large insurance company states that of all those listed for high blood pressure obesity seems to be the most consistent cause.

Under chronic toxemias may be chronic poisoning from bad teeth, diseased tonsils, infected nasal sinuses, running ears and so forth.

Sometimes the cause of high blood pressure cannot be found. Nervousness that will send the blood pressure from 5 to 20 points, so that a reading may be higher than a second one, even though the person is normal blood pressure in health should be approximately one hundred plus one-half the age.

Low blood pressure may be found in debilitating diseases such as anemia and tuberculosis. Some persons are normally low in blood pressure. One insurance company has asked about the subject of low blood pressure. It did not consider low blood pressure alone as a defect in insurance.

TUBERCULOSIS

We have articles on tuberculosis which you may have by writing to us, inclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request. Address your letter to Dr. Peters, care of this paper, inclosing your share of Christmas Seal money to help eradicate this disease.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Bloomer Suggestion

A splendid crotch seam for the little girl's bloomers is made by opening an ordinary seam and sewing it flat with bias binding. There is a certain amount to "give" to it that makes for comfort.

Hem Making

A piece of cardboard the exact width of the hem and about six or seven inches long is convenient as a marker when making hems. Start the hem and then insert cardboard, slipping it along as hem progresses. This makes hems of exact width and is a big timesaver.

Housekeeping Hint

Very fine lace may be washed by dipping into strained coffee.

Lemon juice in strong coffee or coffee will frequently relieve nervous headache.

No kitchen is complete without one of those bread-board affairs in the dresser drawer.

Never crease the cuffs of shirts with the iron, as it wears them to wear out quicker.

Leave a Few Spots

Don't have the attitude that lots and lots of embroidments and decorations make the house more homelike. Too much makes it junky. Have one or two pictures and small comforts to relieve any bare look, but avoid overdoing things. It is a relief to get into a room of that type after being overpowering.

placement. Members of the executive board recently chosen are Mrs. Watson Dean Crocker, Mrs. Josephine Francis Sartori, Mrs. Harold J. Stovier, Miss Elizabeth Hill and Cora Wilson.

Pen Women

Mrs. Grace D. Geldert, past national president of the League of American Pen Women, will be the honor guest of the Los Angeles branch of the league at the monthly luncheon at the Writer Clubhouse next Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. Mr. Rollan Bottomley will sing and there will be other numbers given by members of the league. The theme will be "The Christmas Spirit." Reservations may be made until Monday with the secretary, 116 South Maryland avenue, Glendale.

Community Tree at Old Mission

Under the direction of Mrs. Glen Ely, chairman of music, the San Gabriel Woman's Club is sponsoring a community Christmas tree with the co-operation of the City Fathers and Chamber of Commerce. The tree will be lighted in the Plaza near the Old Mission for the first time on the evening of the 23rd inst. There will be carol singing on the opening night conducted by Arnold Richardson, organist of the Episcopal Church. A committee from the club will distribute the gifts on Christmas day. These may be left in baskets at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Soroptimist Celebration

Every member of the Soroptimist Club is expected to receive a gift at the meeting in the Biltmore Tuesday on the 23rd just given by a member. A tree will adorn the music room where the luncheon is given. Mrs. Gertrude Maynard is president.

Whittier Woman's Club

Following a suggestion made at a meeting of the President's Council of the clubs of the Los Angeles district, the Whittier Woman's Club worked out "Girl's Day" at the club recently, when in response to invitations 500 high school girls and 100 Whittier College girls were guests of the local club and also participated in the entertainment given.

The spacious new auditorium of the high school was used and after the entertainment a reception was tendered them at the clubhouse, members of the board forming the receiving line, headed by Mrs. O. C. Albertson, club president.

The Philharmonic trio of Los Angeles, composed of Alfred Kastner, harpist, Earl Bright, 'cellist and Miss Robinson, piano accompanist, furnished music for the reception.

The annual Christmas party for children of club members was given at the clubhouse Wednesday afternoon by the social section. Mrs. Wallace Gregg, chairman of the department, had appointed Mrs. C. A. Carden as the chairman of the committee.

More than 100 children attended and each child received a gift. The kiddies were informed that if they wished they might bring a Christmas gift for the unfortunate little ones in the Children's hospital, Los Angeles. Many gifts to cheer the less fortunate kiddies were received.

Daughters of Veterans

At the last meeting of Helen Jean Christie Tent, Daughters of Veterans on the 4th inst., the following officers were unanimously elected for the year 1925: President, Maude Kalis; senior vice-president, Cora Wolfgang, junior vice-president, Rebecca Dunbar; chaplain, Emma M. Edison; treasurer, Sadie Evans; council members, Pearl Neville, Leona Parmelee Stahl and Catherine Kent and patriotic instructor, Clara Libby.

Installation of officers will take place on Thursday evening, January 15, at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. All patriotic orders and friends are invited.

At its last meeting, Rosecrans Sons of Veterans Auxiliary unanimously elected the following officers to serve during the year 1925: President, Lucille Deems; vice-president, Martha Florence Bartley; trustees, Alma O. Wamsley, Lillian W. Kroesen and Eloise Hawley; treasurer, Lillian B. Deming; patriotic instructor, Eva Deatherage; chaplain, Harriet Wilson; guide, Martha Hawthorne; assistant guide, Margaret Loomis; color guards, Bertha F. Driesbach and Fannie Conway; inside guard, Edna J. Bolin; outside guard, Nina Wilson; press correspondent, Charlotte Hawthorne.

Rosecrans Camp Sons of Veterans also unanimously elected the following officers to serve for the year 1925: Commander, Al E. Deems; senior vice-commander, Gordon T. Collins; junior vice-commander, James A. B. Young; camp council, E. J. Wilson, Fred I. Dunster and W. R. Loomis; secretary, John A. Medlar; treasurer, Francis C. Hawthorne.

The Camp and Auxiliary will have joint public installation of officers at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, on Monday evening, January 5. All patriotic orders and friends are invited.

Crime Problem Will be Topic at Mission Meeting

Preachers, policemen, city officials and all citizens interested in the prevention of crime in Los Angeles are invited by "Brother" Tom Liddecoat to attend a special meeting to be conducted at 3:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the dining-room of the Midnight Mission, 136 South Los Angeles street.

What shall loyal citizens of Los Angeles do to help the police department and, incidentally, to help the men the Police department is after? is the main question to be discussed at the meeting next Tuesday.

"No man is safe and no citizen's property is secure so long as any man is either hungry or unemployed," declared Mr. Liddecoat, in speaking of the "need for everybody's war on crime, in the interest of the entire population, including criminals."

"At the Midnight Mission we are giving food and shelter to several hundred men and women—mostly men—every day," said Mr. Liddecoat. "Nearly all these men are almost always hungry.

"We must have officers and we must have jails. We must have laws and we must enforce them. However, fewer jails and more houses of persuasion would help the situation. We should have in Los Angeles, a city-owned and operated hotel in which unfortunate men and women, the unemployed, cripples and the destitute, would always find welcome."

"All these propositions will be discussed at the meeting at the Mission next Tuesday afternoon."

Mails Fraud Case Proceedings to be Resumed Next Month

United States Commissioner Long yesterday continued the removal hearing of Josiah Kirby until January 19, 1925. Kirby is wanted in Cleveland, O., on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud in connection with the operations of the Cleveland Discount Company. Information received by the Federal officials from Cleveland is that the charges against Kirby and others will be presented to the Federal grand jury in the next two weeks.

NOT ONE NAMED IN SUIT

Louis C. Becker, an adjuster with offices at 304 Delta Building, said yesterday he is not in any way connected with an alienation suit filed in Superior Court by David Elster naming Louis Becker. The city directory lists four Louis Beckers in more than a page bearing the surname.

Place in a double boiler two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of grated Parmesan cheese and stir and cook until the cheese is melted; add six tablespoonfuls of ketchup, and one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and mix well. Add three tablespoonfuls of cream and when the mixture is creamy and boiling add the finely chopped meat from one large cooked California crab. Heat well, add twelve drained eastern oysters and when they are crinkled pour over squares of buttered toast on hot plates.

PEACH AMBROSIA

Fill a chilled glass dish with alternate layers of sliced canned peaches, sliced oranges, moist grated cocoanut, sugar, and chopped maraschino cherries. Chill thoroughly and serve with sweet cookies.

HOFFMAN HOUSE CHOWDER

Chop fine one dozen large clams and save all of the juice. Place in an iron pot four cupfuls of diced potatoes, four cupfuls of tomatoes, the juice of the clams, and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley; heat well, add four cupfuls of hot milk, the chopped clams and cook over a slow fire one hour. Season with pepper and add six crackers rolled fine. Reheat and serve.

SAND DABS

Soak two tablespoonfuls of dried mushrooms in one cupful of boiling water for one hour and chop fine, reserve the water. Place in a small saucepan one medium chopped onion, one shallot, one teaspoonfuls of chopped olives, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, the chopped mushrooms, and two tablespoonfuls of butter; stir and fry slowly for five minutes; add a half a cupful of the mushroom water and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Place six even sized sand dabs in a shallow earthenware baking dish with the dark side down, cover with tablespoonfuls of creamed butter blended with two tablespoonfuls of flour, pour over the sauce, add half a cupful of strained orange juice, cover the dish closely with a sheet of buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven fifteen minutes. Remove the paper and serve from the dish.

CHOCOLATE PIE

Place in a double boiler half a cupful of sugar mixed with a few grains of salt and two tablespoonfuls of cocoa; stir in two cupfuls of milk and stir and cook until thick and creamy. Add two well-beaten egg yolks and stir and cook two minutes. Remove from the fire, add one teaspoonful of vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Pour into a baked pie shell, cool and serve.

FALL PROVES FATAL TO MAN IN CITY JAIL

Peter Early died at the General Hospital yesterday as a result of injuries suffered when he fell to the floor in a cell at the City Jail last Sunday. He had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness and when left in the cell, toppled forward, striking his head against the floor of the cell. An inquest to determine the cause of death will be conducted today.

Toothache, Earache, Headache Gone Forever

Since time began the human race has suffered from pains of all kinds, but at last science has perfected a wonderful formula which brings complete relief in five minutes.

This wonderful formula known as A-VOL (Formerly called Sed-A-Vol) is not habit forming, does not depress the heart as do many anti-pain products, and not only stops pain instantly, but brings a feeling of freshness instead of that tired out run down condition.

A-VOL is absolutely harmless, now being prescribed by thousands of doctors. Step into your nearest drug store and get a package for a few cents. Take a couple of tablets right there. If it doesn't stop your pain in five minutes, the clerk will refund your money.—[Advertisement.

High Blood Pressure

Answer These Questions for Yourself

1. Can you doubt the danger of high blood pressure when life insurance companies will not insure a person who has it—when statistics show that 1 out of every 3 persons afflicted dies within a year?

2. Can you doubt the indications of high blood pressure when one of the world's greatest authorities on the subject, Dr. F. A. Faught, definitely gives them as —

1. Cold hands and cold feet.
2. Slight momentary dizziness.
3. Sleep unrefreshing.
4. Sleep disturbed by dreams.
5. Feeling of fullness in the head.
6. Gastric disturbances.
7. Constipation.
8. Lowered vitality.
9. Nervousness.
10. Persistent headaches.

3. Can you doubt the effectiveness of Witter Water when the U. S. Government scientists acknowledge its medicinal value—when it has benefited literally thousands of people whose names and addresses we will give upon request? It costs nothing to investigate this treatment. At least get details. Mail the coupon.

CITY'S TRAFFIC BILL IS VETOED

Mayor Returns Ordinance to City Council

Objects to Provisions for Pedestrian Control

McClintock is Complimented on Plan as a Whole

With objections to the pedestrian-control sections in his veto message, Mayor Cryer yesterday returned to the City Council disapproved the recently passed traffic ordinance drawn by Miller McClintock, expert of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission. The ordinance, the Mayor said, is "on the whole a most excellent piece of work, as it simplifies traffic regulations and presents them in terse, condensed and logical form."

The ordinance, the Mayor objects, forbids walkers to cross except at intersections and except with the traffic signal, and permits right-hand turns at all hours and left-hand turns at certain hours.

"Thus pedestrians desiring to cross a street," the veto message says, "and who have been held up pending the release of traffic in the direction they desire to go, are immediately menaced in the crossing by turning vehicles.

"It is further to be noted that such pedestrians have no right of way over turning vehicles under Section 8, because Section 8 applies only to intersections where there is no traffic officer or signal."

Section 14, the Mayor points out, gives in Subdivision 5 permission to vehicles outside the central traffic district to make right turns against the signal, though pedestrian control is in effect at such intersections.

"Therefore, we have presented to us in these outlying districts," the message continues, "a situation where pedestrians are held up, pending a release of traffic in the direction they desire to cross, menaced not only by vehicles executing right or left turns from the stream of traffic which is then open, but also by vehicles coming from the intersecting street and making a right turn into the street where the traffic is open. It seems to me that this latter provision seriously menaces the safety of pedestrians. The pedestrian who has waited for traffic to open in the direction he desires to cross, naturally assumes that vehicles approaching on the intersecting street while he is crossing will come to a stop in accordance with the legend on the traffic signal"—and must watch two ways at once to be safe, the Mayor adds.

The Mayor also objects to Section 41 allocating fines and forfeitures to a special fund, which he says might affect seriously the budget for the remainder of the fiscal year.

NEW POLICY FOR TRAFFIC OFFENDERS

Blake to Give Maximum Suspended Sentence for Minor Violations

A new policy of dealing with traffic offenders whose violations of the law are of a minor nature was announced yesterday by Justice Blake while conducting weekly speed court. In the future, he stated, all violators of the traffic laws in the county who are shown not to have endangered life or property by their driving will receive the maximum provided by the law. Then their fines or jail sentences will be suspended for one year.

In case these offenders are brought in for new offenses during the year they not only will receive the maximum fines and sentences provided by the law but they also will be forced to pay the suspended fines or serve out the suspended jail terms.

There were 240 speeders in court yesterday and approximately $1900 in fines were collected from them.

Two Insurance Operations Are Ruled Illegal

Two novel methods proposed as a new way to carry on the insurance business have been declared illegal by Atty.-Gen. Webb, according to opinions addressed to State Insurance Commissioner Squires, which were received here yesterday.

The Attorney-General was asked to rule on the proposed plan of certain insurance companies in the State under which taxicab companies would present each fare with an insurance token. In case of accident if this token were found on the injured person it would guarantee insurance up to $1000 for death or $5 a week for other injury. Atty.-Gen. Webb declared the proposal comes under the definition of the group plan, which, under the law, is limited to life insurance or endowment insurance.

Merchants who carry their own insurance to cover parcel-post shipments by setting up a fund equal to the premiums charged by the government or private insurance companies and charging consignees for the security were declared by Atty.-Gen. Webb to be operating illegally. It is permissible, however, for the merchants to procure this insurance from some authorized company and collect the premium to customers by adding to the purchase price, according to the Attorney-General.

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR GEORGE H. BLINN

George H. Blinn, 76 years of age, died yesterday at his home at 1046 North Serrano avenue. He came to Los Angeles eight years ago from Elgin, Ill., where he had been connected with the Elgin Watch Company for forty-seven years. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Clarice Emma Blinn; a son, Clarence, of San Marino; two brothers, John L. and Joseph S. of New Haven, Ct., and a sister, Mrs. Fannie Merchant, of Minneapolis. Funeral services will be conducted by the Masons tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Rosedale Cemetery.

CANARIES TRILL WHOLE DAY

Probably the most musical spot in town yesterday was Parlor E at the Alexandria, where 150 highly trained roller canaries exhibited at the first annual show of the United Roller Breeders of Los Angeles vied with one another in song for twelve solid hours.

The formal opening of the show did not take place until noon, but the feathered musicians were all in place by 9 a.m., and the minute their cages were hung they began to sing, keeping it up continually until after 9 p.m. Only by closing up the cages now and then were the songsters saved from utter exhaustion. A canary, say the fanciers, will not sing in a darkened cage unless excessively enthusiastic.

TO CLOSE TONIGHT

The show will close this evening with a special exhibition of birds, the presentation of prizes and a lecture on the song of the roller by Peter Greenall of London, who is acting as judge and holds the distinction of being the greatest living authority on bird song.

Unlike chickens, dogs and other creatures exhibited for show purposes, canaries are not awarded prizes for color, size or other features of physical perfection, but receive awards solely on their ability to sing. A small, frowsy, neutral-colored bird may draw the biggest silver cup if his throat is capable of producing the trills which are the only thing that count with the judge.

PRIZES FOR SONG

The list of prizes in this show includes half a dozen silver cups in addition to a number of special prizes consisting of cages, cut-glass dishes, vases, gold pencils, bird drinking fountains and other things. Altogether, twenty-four prizes will be awarded.

The breeding and training of roller canaries is a science and an art, in connection with which there is a language full of technical terms, but little more intelligible than Basque to the uninitiated. In this show special prizes are to be awarded to birds that can show the greatest proficiency and artistic talent in executing the hollow roll, the koller, the glucke, the schockel, the deep bubbling water tour and many other equally bewildering forms of musical expression.

RADIO BIRDS PRAISED

"There are in all fourteen different forms of music that may be produced by a roller," said Judge Greenall. "Cases where a single bird is in possession of the entire repertoire are extremely rare, but not unknown. There are Carusos and Melbas among the birds just as there are among human beings. But no roller attains more than ordinary singing ability without long and careful training, which is an art in itself."

Among the features which attracted special attention at the show were three canaries exhibited by Uncle John of KHJ fame, who, opening the evening show, displayed Kindness, Happiness and Joy, the three songsters whose music has often been broadcast. These birds came in for much admiring comment on the part of the visitors.

ONE WHISTLES TUNE

The sensation of the show was a roller bearing the name of Yankee, exhibited by Mrs. F. L. O'Brien of Los Angeles. Yankee is the only bird on record able to whistle a tune from beginning to end. Every hour the covering of the bird's cage is removed and he whistles "Yankee Doodle" as perfectly as any human being could do, to the profound astonishment and delight of the audience.

Mrs. O'Brien stated that it took her ten months to teach the bird to whistle this tune.

"I had succeeded in training other birds to whistle a bar or two of some tune, but always found that they were incapable of going farther. When I began to train Yankee I decided to teach him the entire tune all at once, instead of a bar at a time. The plan worked and now he will whistle 'Yankee Doodle' any time upon being given a little encouragement."

U.S.S. MISSISSIPPI ON WAY

Battleship Overhauled After Tragic Turret Blast Making Full-Power Runs En Route Home

The U.S.S. Mississippi, absent since the turrent explosion last June in which forty-eight officers and men were killed, will return to her home base on the 20th inst., a better ship than ever. She sailed from the Puget Sound navy yard on the 16th inst. and will conduct her full-power trials en rpute.

No. 3 turret and its handling rooms and magazines, which were wrecked by fire, gas and water, have been completely overhauled and rebuilt.

Atop No. 3 turret has been mounted an airplane-launching catapult, by which a 5500-pound monoplane is catapulted into the air, smokeless powder being used as the propelling force. The new device is the first of its type ever used in the fleet and has proven highly satisfactory in tests on Puget Sound.

During the period that the Mississippi has been at the Puget Sound navy yard she has undergone complete overhaul to hull, superstructure, machinery and armament.

The U.S.S. Idaho has completed her overhaul period at the Puget Sound yard in record time and will depart for Los Angeles Harbor on the 30th inst., arriving here on the 23rd and making full-power runs en route.

At noon today, America's two latest and greatest battleships, the U.S.S. West Virginia and U.S.S. Colorado, are scheduled to leave the harbor for their full-power runs, the first speed tests the huge electrically driven ships have undertaken since they became integral units of the Navy.

During the course of the speed trials they will attempt to maintain a speed of twenty-one knots for four hours. They will return to their anchorages shortly after noon tomorrow.

The battleship bombing experiments, which were to have been conducted off the fleet anchorage yesterday morning by seaplanes of V.S. Squadron Two, were postponed by Capt. Stanford E. Moses, commanding the aircraft squadrons, on account of bad weather.

Pneumonia, Not Liquor, Killed Petty Officer

B. A. Collins, petty officer from the U.S.S. Colorado, who was found dead by the harbor police Tuesday following the investigation of a drinking party, died from double lumbar pneumonia, it was decided yesterday at an autopsy performed by Commander D. F. McLain, senior surgeon of the Colorado, and Dr. F. R. Webb, Deputy Coroner. The autopsy was performed following reports that Collins's death resulted from poison liquor.

As a result Captain of Detectives Cline announced yesterday that a joint investigation being conducted into the affair by the police and naval authorities will be dropped. Collins's body was yesterday turned over to the Navy and will be shipped to his former home in Brooklyn for burial.

NEW POLICE RECRUITS WILL RECEIVE BADGES

CLASS OF 148 GRADUATES TO BE ADDED TO FORCE ON SATURDAY

Glistening new badges will be pinned on the proudly heaving breasts of 148 graduates of the Police Training School Saturday afternoon at the Armory at Exposition Park.

The recruits on that day will appear in up-to-the-minute uniforms for their graduation exercises. Judge Carlos Hardy will present the graduates with their diplomas and Walter P. Story will pass down the line to pin the symbol of authority on the uniform of the "buck" officers.

The men have all undergone a rigorous course of training at the school under the direction of Capt. Finlinson, who is in charge. They will form a splendid addition to "Los Angeles' finest," Chief of Police Heath said.

BREWERY MEN GUILTY

Pair Fined $500 Each for Having Liquor in Possession

Henry F. Gutsch and Frank J. Streefkerk pleaded guilty before Federal Judge James yesterday to a charge of illegally possessing liquor on the premises of the Los Angeles Brewery, 1920 North Main street. They each paid a fine of $500. John Frank, arrested with Gutsch and Streefkerk, will plead later. According to prohibition officers, the brewery officials were in no way implicated in the presence of the contraband liquor on the grounds of their establishment.

MAN SHOOTS MATE THEN KILLS SELF

Woman Holding Baby Receives Two Wounds Which May be Fatal

While holding her 4-month-old baby tightly clasped in her arms, Mrs. Shigeno Saito was shot twice in the head and probably mortally wounded yesterday in a cafe at 811 Central avenue by her husband, K. Saito, who then fired one shot through his mouth, dying almost instantly.

Although the infant was virtually covered with blood that gushed from the wounds of its mother, examination showed it to be unhurt.

Saito was dead when the proprietor of the cafe, T. Minokami, arrived. Mrs. Saito was rushed to the Receiving Hospital where it was found that she had been shot in the neck and head.

The shooting was preceded by a short quarrel between the couple, who had been separated. Mrs. Saito had been working at the cafe since she and her husband quarreled. The Saitos came to Los Angeles a short time ago from North Platte, Neb. Saito worked on a ranch near Compton, it was said. Mrs. Saito is 24 years of age and lived at 813 Linden street.

URBAN CADETS WILL GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

Cadets of the Urban Military Academy, Wilcox and Melrose avenues, will give a minstrel and vaudeville show today at 8 p.m. in the assembly hall. Features will include a trip to studioland by the Midget Glee Club in which each member of the cast will impersonate a film actor. Songs have been written for each member of the cast by Capt. Burton, who is directing. Those in the cast are Cadets House Peters, Stuart Myers, Albert Moorshead, Jack Gibbons, William Johnson, Robert Barker, Edward Barker and David Riveroll. The minstrel will be under the direction of Prof. Emil Muschewske, band director.

PLAN LIGHTS CELEBRATION

The Vermont-Vernon Business Men's Association is planning a celebration when the new ornamental lights on Vermont avenue from Washington street to Slauson avenue are turned on. The association hopes to make the date the 31st inst. if the lights can be completed by that time. It is planned to interest all business houses to decorate for the event.

QUIZ OPENS ON HARBOR AIR CRASH

Naval Court Hears First Officers to Reach Scene of Accident

Opening sessions of the naval court of inquiry to determine causes and fix responsibility for the U.S.S. California seaplane crash at the Harbor last Monday in which two battle fleet officers were injured were held yesterday aboard the U.S.S. West Virginia.

Lieut. Dixie Kiefer and Lieut. George G. Herring, who were the first to reach their brother officers after their plane fell into the sea off the breakwater at Point Fermin, were among the first witnesses. Others included eye-witnesses of the accident and surgeons who treated the injured men aboard the U.S.S. Colorado.

Commander Fred M. Perkins, battle fleet gunnery officer, who was the most seriously hurt of the two flyers, rallied remarkably at the San Diego Naval Base Hospital yesterday and his recovery is expected, while Lieut. Malcolm E. Selby, pilot of the plane, is entirely out of danger, it was reported.

At the sessions today it is expected that the court, composed of Commander Frank B. Freyer and Lieut. Robert E. Robinson, will adjourn to the U.S.S. Medusa, fleet repair ship, for an examination of the wrecked plane. An important witness who will probably testify today is Lieutenant Commander Robert D. Kirkpatrick, battle fleet aviation officer, who talked with the two injured men shortly after the fall.

The closing sessions of the court of inquiry into the recent explosion of the power boat Lamoyne, in which two sailors lost their lives, were conducted yesterday aboard the U.S.S. Tennessee. Completion of testimony in the case is expected today.

PARLEY ON COURT SIZE POSTPONED

Small Rooms Ordered in New Building by Judges, Supervisor Asserts

The meeting of the committee of Superior Court judges to consider the facilities in the criminal courts of the new Hall of Justice was postponed yesterday until tomorrow noon.

The judges' committee which is composed of Judges Hardy, Hahn and Crail, indicated that it will seek to have the criminal courts in the new building enlarged. Under present plans the largest of the courts in the criminal department will seat but sixty-eight persons. It was pointed out that at the trial of Kid McCoy, now in progress, there are fifty-eight prosecution witnesses and thirty defense witnesses besides the jurors.

A court the size of those in the new Hall of Justice, it was stated, would be entirely inadequate to handle such a case and in important trials spectators would have to be barred, thus making the trial illegal since it could not be called a public trial.

Objection raised by the judges over the size of the courtrooms caused Supervisor Bean, in charge of the construction, yesterday to assert that the size of the courtrooms was determined as a result of conferences with a committee of five judges of the Superior Court. The committee, Mr. Bean said, requested that the courtrooms be only large enough to comply with the law that requires trials to be public, the committee specifically saying it did not want to encourage public attendance at sensational murder trials and other cases of that nature, Bean stated.

Flower-Laden Train Coming to Rose Fete

Three carloads of flowers will be used to decorate a special train of the Santa Re Railroad that will leave Chicago the 28th inst. carrying tourists to attend the Pasadena Tournament of Roses and annual East-West football game, according to advices yesterday from Chicago. The flowers will be worth approximately $10,000 and will be furnished by hotel men, railroads and chambers of commerce in Southern California.

The flowers will decorate the train outside and inside and will be sent from Southern California.

Tourist travel to Southern California this year is expected to be the heaviest in years, according to W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe.

PURPOSE EXPLAINED

Dr. W. G. Hess Discusses New Thought Congress to Meet

Dr. W. Grant Hess, captain of the speaker's bureau of the publicity department of the International New Thought Alliance, explained the purpose of the congress of the alliance in Los Angeles next July at a meeting of the Lincoln Heights Truth Center in the Wednesday Morning Club auditorium.

"The International New Thought Alliance," he said, "is international in scope and is the clearing-house for all the truth and unity centers and for any church movement that liberalizes God."

Dr. Hess stated that it will be a world gathering here next July and that leading workers of the alliance will attend.

NAME IS CHOSEN FOR BROTHER OF JACKIE

The name for the new brother of Jackie Coogan, boy film actor, was selected yesterday at Glendale Hospital. It was Robert Anthony Coogan. Telegrams of congratulation from notables of the theatrical world continue to arrive at the Coogan home. Among those from whom messages were received yesterday were David Warfield, Marcus Loew, Sid Grauman, Irving Lesser, Big Bill Edwards and Benny Leonard.

M-G-M LOT HUMS

MANY NEW FILMS BEGUN, LEW CODY A HERO

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

If all the picture studios are humming as merrily as are the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios it is certain that a new era of golden prosperity is setting in in the motion-picture business. Three new dark stages have been completed and are either all occupied or are getting ready for occupancy; and a four-story brick property building marks the erection of the first sky-scraper in western movieland.

Some six companies are at work and others are in preparation in addition to the companies, including the "Ben Hur" company, which are now on location.

John M. Stahl, whose current picture, "Husbands and Lovers," at Loew's, is making a a big hit, is about to start work on a new one. This is nothing less than a film version of Ferencz Molnar's clever stage comedy, "Fashions for Men," which was a hit in New York a couple of seasons ago. This picture, by the way, will be released through First National.

A very fine cast has been engaged to play in the picture, including Lewis Stone, Percy Marmont, Alma Rubens, Raymond Griffith and William V. Mong. The director has been collaborating with Benjamin Glazer, well-known playwright and adapter, on the continuity of this story. "Fashions for Men" will be the third consecutive picture which Lewis Stone has played in at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. He stepped from "Cheaper to Marry" to "Kings in Exile" and now will begin Stahl's picture as soon as he finishes his role with Victor Seastrom. Marmont recently finished the lead in Frank Borzage's "A Man's World" at the same studio. The picture will also mark the return of Raymond Griffith to the studio after a period of more than a year, during which he has been working for Paramount and other companies.

A real thrill to the movie fans comes in the announcement that Lew Cody is at last to play a real hero role! Irving Thalberg made the announcement yesterday with a hurrah. Cody is recognised as one of the finest screen actors in filmland and his admirers will be pleased to know that he is to have a real star part.

Under the supervision of Elinor Glyn, "Man and Maid" is to go into production with Lew Cody as Sir Nicholas Thormonde, a rich young orphaned Englishman. Victor Schertzinger will direct.

Even the villain trademark of the black mustache is to be taken away from Cody, who will substitute a blond one. Cody himself says he doesn't know whether he will be able to appear as a (professional) good man or not!

Another important Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production will be "Proud Flesh," which King Vidor will direct, according to Thalberg's announcement. "Proud Flesh" is one of the best sellers among this season's novels, a clever story by Laurence Rising. It has San Francisco as its locale.

Vidor is selecting players now and expects to begin work on the story within the next few weeks. His latest picture, "The Wife of the Centaur," was released only a few weeks ago and promises to be a great hit. Among his other successes are "Wild Oranges," "Wine of Youth," "Three Wise Fools" and "Peg o' My Heart."

Erich Von Stroheim is very busy with "The Merry Widow," starring Mae Murray and with John Gilbert in the leading male role of Count Denilo. His latest picture, "Greed," is shortly to be released.

KENNETH HARLAN WITH PARAMOUNT

Kenneth Harlan has just received a Christmas present in the form of his first picture contract with Paramount, to play opposite Bebe Daniels in her next starring picture, "The Crowded Hour," which will be produced at the Famous Players-Lasky Long Island studio early in January. The announcement of the signing of this popular young leading man for this picture was made yesterday by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

He will be allowed to enjoy the Christmas holidays at home, as he is not scheduled to depart for New York until after the first of the new year. As Marie Prevost has just reurned to active studio life at the Warner Brothers' studio, where she is under starring contract, she will not accompany her husband.

"The Crowded Hour" is adapted from Jane Cowl's stage play, written by Edgar Selwyn and Channing Pollock. The story concerns the regeneration of a woman and is told with the war as a background. It is in such virile roles as those offered by "The Crowded Hour" that Kenneth Harlan is at his best. He has just finished the portrayal of the title role in Harold Bell Wright's "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent."

"Romeo and Juliet" a Film

"Romeo and Juliet," the classic love story of all ages, will be produced by Samuel Goldwyn.

That is the sum and substance of an announcement made by Mr. Goldwyn yesterday in New York just before he stepped aboard the Majestic en route for Europe.

Ronald Colman, the talented young actor, who has reached the threshold of stardom by his work in a few recent pictures, will play the role of Shakespeare's famous lover. The producer announces that he is now carrying on negotiations with the star who will play Juliet.

The decision to film "Romeo and Juliet" was made following the enthusiastic reception which greeted George Fitzmaurice's latest production, "A Thief in Paradise," when it was shown to eastern First National executives. Colman's acting in the love scenes of this production convinced both Goldwyn and the officials that he was the ideal choice for the role of Romeo.

"While I have been considering the production of 'Romeo and Juliet' for some time, my decision to produce it was made after witnessing Ronald Colman's performance in 'A Thief in Paradise,'" reads Samuel Goldwyn's telegraphic announcement. "I firmly believe Colman is destined to be the outstanding screen lover of 1925, and there is no more perfect role for him than that of Shakespeare's romantic suitor of Juliet."

According to Mr. Goldwyn's plans, preparations for the production of "Romeo and Juliet" will be started immediately after the producer's return from Europe in the spring and the picture will go into production as soon after that as possible. During Goldwyn's absence, George Fitzmaurice will proceed with the filming of an adaptation as yet untitled of May Edginton's new novel, "World Without End," in which Blanche Sweet and Ronald Colman will be featured.

Robert Mantell in Vaudeville

Shakespeare doesn't often stick his classic nose into vaudeville. But he is going to do it during the current season.

Making vaudeville safe for Shakespeare will be the mission of Robert B. Mantell, dean of American Shakespearean actors, who has just been secured for a limited tour of the Orpheum circuit. With Miss Genevieve Hamper, his leading lady, he will offer one of the big scenes from "Macbeth."

During the last quarter century, Mr. Mantell has been a dominant figure in the presentation of classic drama on the native stage. His annual tours have made him very well known in every part of the country.

Since Mantell was seen here last, he has played His native land, Scotland, as well as England.

Lion Not So Funny

The daily thrill prescribed for players working in comedies and stunt pictures was withheld from the troupe in the current Hal Roach comedy starring Arthur Stone, until the very last day of production. But when it came—wow! Stone, playing a misplaced house detective, lay on the top of a taxicab. Marjorie Whitels, leading woman, and Ralph Ceder, director, watched from behind the cameras as a disgruntled lion scaled the side of the cab, deposited himself elegantly on the prone form of the comedian, and registered extreme dislike. And, oh, how demonstrative a lion can be, when he doesn't like a fellow!

The trainer saved the day, and the comedian's life. But neither his ner the comedian's clothes will ever look the same. Luckily no serious injury was incurred by either, though Stone's hand was clawed rather painfully.

The lion, who had been good for a whole week and then slipped the last day, lost a bonus of 500 pounds of extra meat promised him in the event of good behavior.

F.B.O. Busy

With "Parisian Nights," Gothic's most pretentious production to date in its third week; with plans already under way for another big feature by the same producing unit and with F.B.O.'s scenario and executive forces arranging plans for a new two-reel series as well as additional starring vehicles for Evelyn Brent, Lefty Flynn and Fred Thomson, the various producing groups associated with Film Booking Offices still are functioning on a full-time schedule at their plant.

Vice-President J. I. Schnitzer, Scenario Editor John C. Brownell, and Lou Baum, president of Gothic Productions, are still on the ground consulting with General Manager B. P. Fineman regarding the feature line-up for the new year.

Not to be outdone by the regular F.B.O. units, Associated Arts Corporation, headed by Ludwig Erb and O. E. Goebel, pioneer film men, are also outlining ambitious plans for the coming season. Their second production based on the Elizabeth Cooper novel, "Drusilla With a Million," is in the third week of production under the direction of Harmon Weight.

"There will be no let-up in our production activities," asserted Vice-President Schnitzer who will maintain his headquarters at the F.B.O. plant for a few months. "We have the highest hopes for a most prosperous season. From all sections of the country we receive word of improved business conditions and in point of sales representation, F.B.O. will yield to no other independent organization in the industry. "Lawless Blood" will be the fourth Evelyn Brent production and for this we have engaged Tom Buckingham, who distinguished himself while in the service of the William Fox Corporation by filming such attractions as 'The Arizona Express' and 'The Cyclone Rider.'

"'Drusilla With a Million,' the novel by Elizabeth Cooper, has the distinction of being one of the most popular of gift books. Harmon Weight and his associates in Associated Arts promise to give the engrossing novel a fine production with such stars as Mary Carr and Kenneth Harlan featured.

"We are also concentrating close attention on our forthcoming new two-reel series which will be based on the magazine series, 'Alex the Great,' by H. C. Witwer. For this series we have re-engaged the entire cast of 'The Go-Getters,' headed by Alberta Vaughn and George O'Hara.

Mr. Schnitzer added that several other independents are also at work on productions to be distributed and exploited by Film Booking Offices.

They are: C. Gardner Sullivan, producing "Mock Marriages," his second feature for F.B.O.; Jesse Goldberg, at work on his third Bob Custer "Texas Ranger" story; Van Pelt-Wilson Productions filming their third aviation melodrama.

COMEDY IS ROMANCE PLUS REAL THOUGHT

What a dash of brains can do in the theatrical kitchen may be seen in Edith Ellis's "White Collars," which goes into its forty-eighth week Monday evening at the Egan Theater. This play might easily have been just a pleasant little stage romance, but it has in addition thought and courage. The final theme, particularly, of every character finding his own solution, is full of meat.

The cast includes Craig Ward, Dian Esmonde, Maryon Aye, Parks Jones, Betty Sinclair, Zellah Covington, Blanche Douglas, Carroll Nye and Gordon White. The Wednesday matinee will be eliminated next week and a matinee Thursday, Christmas, will be substituted.

BY KATHERINE LIPKE

A little gray-haired man with a wandering forelock, accompanied by a tall, heavy-set man with a humorous mouth, stepped off the train last night—and Weber and Fields, the famous vaudeville team, were once more in Los Angeles after ten years' absence. They are to start work immediately on the filming of "Friendly Enemies," a Belasco production, to be directed by George Melford. At the conclusion there is a possibility that they will give their famous vaudeville act here at the Orpheum and in San Francisco before returning to New York.

As yet the studio where the production is to be filmed has not been decided upon, but it will be known within the next few days. United Studios is being especially considered.

With the pair as leading lady will be Lucille Lee Stewart, a sister of Anita Stewart. The production will be under the management of A. H. Sebastian.

Weber and Fields confessed themselves thoroughly glad to get back to Los Angeles again and were amazed at the rising skyline.

After stretching their necks to see the top of one building on their way out to the Ambassador Hotel, they declared that Los Angeles was quite some New York. All of which is not going to injure their popularity out here at all, and perhaps they know it.

At the end of their long tiresome journey they were just as funny and humorous as if the stage were set and the footlights on. "Remember that the little one's Weber," said Mr. Weber while glancing up the heights at his tall partner.

"They always get us mixed," he continued, "I get Fields's mail, his telephone calls, his packages and even his hotel bill wherever we go, for they just can't get us straight. So we just say, 'The little one's Weber,' and that settles it."

Many laughable incidents have occurred owing to this confusion of their identities. Once, not long ago, Mr. and Mrs. Weber were introduced as Mr. Weber and his wife, Mrs. Fields.

And, by the by, the two wives are just as good friends as their husbands are. They are as proud of the fact that they spent one winter harmoniously together in a bungalow in Hollywood as the men are of their forty-eight years' partnership. "We're just wives," said Mrs. Weber last evening, "but we're pretty good."

When asked how they had been able to get along together for forty-eight years without a break in the partnership, Joe Weber laughed and nudged Lew Fields. "Huh, that's easy," he said. "I don't know any more than he does—he don't know any more than I do, so why lose our tempers about it?

"I know that the public isn't laughing at Weber and Lew knows that they aren't laughing at Fields. It's just Weber and Fields they want. And, Weber and Fields we are."

"But," shouted the voluble Mr. Weber as the pair disappeared down the hall, "don't forget that the little one's Weber."

SOUTH AFRICA "TOP OF WORLD" LOCALE

South Africa, one of the most popular of all picture locales, once again forms the background for a photoplay — George Melford's "The Top of the World," featuring Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood, Raymond Hatton and Sheldon Lewis.

The picture is to head the program at the Metropolitan beginning Saturday. Benny Leonard in his first comedy, "Flying Fists," and Harold Roberts and his U.S.C. Band are also on the program.

"Tongues of Flame," with Thomas Meighan closes its run tomorrow night.

PETERS FORMERLY A "SOLDIER OF QUEEN"

House Peters, who is starred in "Don't Marry for Money," the Christmas week bill at the Cameo Theater, used to be a "soldier of the Queen." He served with great gallantry during the Boer War, and was a sergeant of the "Transvaal Tigers" after "Oom" Paul Kruger decided it took the British to beat the Dutch.

The "Transvaal Tigers" was formed after the war to keep down the Kaffirs and Hottentots, and was considered, in point of efficiency second only to the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

"SILENT ACCUSER" TO HOLD MILLER SCREEN

"The Silent Accuser," a novel picture with Peter the Great, a German police dog, in the leading role, comes to Miller's Theater Saturday. It tells the story of a highly intelligent police dog who is the only witness to the murder of the heroine's stepfather, and how the hero is acquitted and the murderer found.

The cast includes Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee, Earle Metcalfe and others.

'GINGHAM GIRL' COMING

Musical Comedy Success to Follow "Merton" at Biltmore

"The Gingham Girl," coming here heralded as one of the biggest musical comedy hits of the past ten years, will be the attraction at the Biltmore Theater beginning the 28th inst. The piece will be interpreted by a cast of artists seldom seen away from New York and Chicago. The cast includes Madeline McMahon, who proved to be a star on her first stage appearance, when she assumed the leading role in "The Gingham Girl" two years ago. The principal comedian is Eddie Fetherston, who made a hit in "Sally, Irene and Mary." Other well-known players in the company are Francesca Hill, Lillian Young, Flo Irwin, Jack Waldorn, Thomas Keogh and George Thom.

A feature of the presentation is an aggregation of sprightly singing and dancing girls, who are reputed to be expert dancers as well as exceptional vocalists. The production is elaborate, displaying four scenic settings, twenty groups of costumes and novel lighting effects.

SERVICE MEN QUIT HOSPITAL

Patients at San Diego Refuse to Remain at Alpine

Board of Supervisors to Hear Case Friday

Government Officer Supports Claim of Sanatorium

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 17.—Taking the situation into their own hands, twenty-two government patients have vacated the Alpine Sanatorium, following what they considered unnecessary delay in recognizing their charge against the sanatorium management, and have taken up their abode in the new Army-Navy Y.M.C.A. Building, pending their transfer to another sanatorium. Seven others, too ill to be moved, are still at Alpine.

Poor sanitation and improper food are among the complaints of patients all of whom formerly were in the merchant marine service. A hearing is scheduled here Friday when Dr. Hyman Lischner, head of the sanatorium, will appear before the County Board of Supervisors and answer the charges, which have been certified as true by welfare workers and others who have investigated conditions at Alpine.

The entire subject is complicated by a general denial by Dr. Lischner and his associates that conditions at the hospital were as charged by the men. In this Dr. Lischner is supported by Col. J. C. Perry, head of the United States Public Health Service in this district, who made an investigation Sunday.

In the opinion of Col. Perry, however, it was deemed advisable to move the veterans in view of the agitation that has occurred. When Col. Perry was advised that the men had vacated the sanatorium, he arranged with the San Diego tuberculosis society to care for them temporarily, and accommodations were found at the Y.M.C.A.

The men packed all of their belongings, and in company of a nurse were brought to San Diego in automobiles.

Col. Perry is understood to be attempting to arrange hospitalization for the men near Los Angeles.

Recall Fight Now Battle of Legal Lights

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, Dec. 17.—South Pasadena's recall controversy, which has held the center of interest in this city for the past two months, has developed into a fight between the present and the past city attorneys. When petitions signed by 699 citizens demanding the recall of two City Trustees were filed with the City Clerk, Horace Vedder, present City Attorney, ruled that they were not valid. Now, Dudley Robinson, former City Attorney, has risen to oppose Vedder's ruling.

Mr. Robinson filed a formal protest against the throwing out of the petitions and quoted authorities from the law tending to show that the petitions were valid. A reply was made by Mr. Vedder and the battle continues to wage with no signs of a settlement in sight.

Citizens seeking the recall of the Trustees charged in their petition that the officials had committed illegal acts in office and were not working to the best interests of the citizens.

THIEVES TAKE FLOCK FROM POULTRY FARM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 17.—Albert Christenson, Carpinteria poultryman, woke up this morning to find his entire flock of pure-bred Rhode Island Red hens missing. Thieves, with a large truck, backed into his yard some time during the night, loaded on 150 hens, a large amount of barley feed, and automobile supplies. They then proceeded to the George Pyster farm where supplies of oil and potatoes were stolen and then started south, according to Sheriff James Ross, who investigated.

Because of the large number of thefts of farm products reported from Carpinteria Valley, eight miles south of here, Sheriff Ross believes that an organized ring is making night raids to supply produce houses in the south.

Several thousand dollars' worth of walnuts have been stolen in comparatively small amounts during the last few months.

VENTURA BOULEVARD TO GET NEW PHONES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Dec. 17.—Fred Deal, San Fernando Valley manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, was in Lankershim yesterday looking over the new construction work being done in this section. He stated cables are about ready for connection on Ventura Boulevard, and that persons in that district who have been waiting for telephones for several months are gratified at the information. These new phones connected up with the Lankershim exchange will add greatly to the trading territory of the local merchants, the local Chamber of Commerce reports.

CHURCH SURVEY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, Dec. 17.—A survey of the families of the various churches of the city was decided upon last evening at the initial meeting of the Monrovia United Church Brotherhood of Men held in the dining hall of the First Methodist Church. The survey will be made through the boys of the various Sunday-schools in an attempt to learn the connection of their families with the churches in an effort to solve social problems of the community.

KLANSMEN IN COURTS AT BAKERSFIELD

Kleagle Sues to Recover Property Said to be Held by Members of Order

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 17.—Discord and strife within the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan of Bakersfield has been brought to light in the local Superior Court with the filing of a complaint by S. H. Chaney, Kleagle of Klan No. 2 of Bakersfield, against R. H. McDonald, Charles Findlay, R. H. Hardin, and others not named in the complaint by their true names. Kleagle Chaney asks the court to order that several trunk loads of Klan paraphernalia, said to be owned by the Ku Klux Klan of Georgia, be turned over to him or he be paid the sum of $1000.

Attorney Alfred Siemon, representing Kleagle S. H. Chaney framed the complaint, which was filed with the County Clerk, late yesterday. The case has not been set for hearing.

In his complaint against the local Klansmen Kleagle Chaney brings suit against the Castle Hall Association, a corporation, and names R. H. McDonald and Charles Findlay as trustees of the organization. Three other persons are designated by fictitious names, one of whom is a woman.

EXPLAIN PEST CONTROL

New Institution at Riverside Open to Visitors

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 17.—To mark the completion of the Riverside county growers insectary and the beginning of the first work in Riverside county toward biological control of citrus insect pests, open house is to be held at the insectary Saturday afternoon.

The informal invitation to Riverside county citrus growers and others interested in the work to inspect the new building Saturday was extended today by Chairman D. S. Bell of the citrus committee of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce, horticultural commissioner A. E. Bottel and E. G. Tuthill, county superintendent of biological control.

Throughout the afternoon Superintendent Tuthill, Chairman Bell, Commissioner Bottell and Harry S. Smith of the citrus experiment station, will be present to explain the details of pest control to the visitors.

REDLANDS ENTERTAINS ROCKEFELLER AGENTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Dec. 17.—Dr. Wallace Buttrick and M. Thorkelsen, of the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, visited the University of Redlands today and expressed pleasure at the growth of the school. They are visiting twenty of the colleges and universities of the West.

This is the board that has placed most of the $700,000,000 which John D. Rockefeller has given to colleges and universities. The board recently gave the university here $183,000, contingent on the raising of a like sum.

Most of the fund has been expended now and the board has announced it will give no more to endowment funds.

LETTUCE MEN MEET

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

EL CENTRO, Dec. 17.—B. A. Harrigan, County Horticultural Commissioner, has invited all lettuce growers and shippers to meet with him here next Saturday to discuss changes in the State standardisation law and decide upon rules to be followed in the lettuce season just opening in Imperial Valley. The meeting is to start at 2 o'clock, p.m., at the Barbara Worth Hotel.

It is asserted that the lettuce men in the valley will adopt a resolution insisting upon the application of the standardization law in other counties as rigidly as it is enforced here, so that the reputation of California lettuce for quality may be maintained.

Candidates in Anaheim Klan Battle Named

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Dec. 17.—The hectic political battles in Anaheim were resumed today with the announcements of the candidates on the Klan and anti-Klan tickets, who will seek office as City Councilmen at the recall election set for February 3.

W. B. Grafton, president of the local Merchants and Manufacturers' Association; A. W. Franzen, general building contractor; Perry W. Mathis, prominent rancher, and Louis E. Miller, retired merchant, have been named by the U.S.A. Club, local organization opposing the Klan, as candidates in opposition to Mayor E. H. Metcalf, Dean Hasson, A. A. Slaback and E. E. Knipe, all asserted Klansmen, now serving in the Council.

Harry L. Turton, local automobile dealer, has been chosen by the Klan to oppose Godfrey Stock, present anti-Klan Councilman. Turton, while not admitting membership in the hooded order, was chosen by the Klan on the ground that he is a professed "dry" supporter. The selection of Turton is claimed as an effort by the Klan to divert the issue from a Klan controversy to a wet and dry fight.

The recall movement was first started by the anti-Klan forces, who charged that the four newly elected Trustees were subservient to the dictates of the invisible empire. Later the Klan sought the recall of Stock on the ground that he was not in harmony with the other Trustees.

SIDEWALK PROGRAM ENGAGES VAN NUYS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Dec. 17.—The Van Nuys sidewalk committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, reports that 12,000 feet of new sidewalks in the city recently have been completed and that contractors are now working on other walks and are planning other construction in various parts of town. It is understood that the work of getting property owners to sign up for sidewalk construction will continue until virtually all of the residential districts of Van Nuys are paved, the whole embracing a program of about five miles. For three years Van Nuys has been entitled to free-mail delivery, increasing postal receipts here having justified the order, according to Postmaster E. D. Gibson. This order cannot be enforced by citizens here until a sufficient number of sidewalks are down, according to the ruling of the Postoffice Department.

MAJOR GAS MAIN LAID IN VALLEY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

RESEDA, Dec. 17.—The installation of the major gas-main system through the west end of San Fernando Valley is now completed. The installation of the laterals and service connections has been to completed to Zelzah and farther down the Reseda avenue. Service to all homes are being put in by the Southern California Gas Company workers. By Christmas all mains and laterals will be down and all residents in the west part of the valley will be using gas. The gas comes through San Fernando, from the great wells of the gas company in Kern county. Scores of miles of gas pipe have been laid to furnish the new service.

LANKERSHIM CITES POPULATION GAINS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Dec. 17.—According to recent figures submitted by the United States Revenue Tax Collector from income-tax returns, Lankershim has gained 561 in population within the last year. Last year the number of persons filing income-tax returns in Lankershim were 252. This year the number was 375. In 1920 there were only seven, indicating both the growth and prosperity of this section.

PROGRESS TOPIC OF MEETING

Redlands Chamber Holds Annual Banquet to Review Year's Work

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Dec. 17.—A hundred and fifty men and women of Redlands gathered at the Casa Loma Hotel tonight for the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce at which time reports were made by Allen Wheaton, president, and A. E. Isham, secretary showing that the organization has accomplished more for Redlands this year than ever before.

Citizens have come to Redlands capital has been attracted and $750,000 spent in building, almost entirely for new homes, a main line station built for the Southern Pacific, bonds voted for two new grammar school buildings, and much accomplished for the citrus industry and the merchants.

The musical program was given by the Madrigal Quartet and the Philip Goodwin Orchestra. The quartet consisted of C. Louise Ford, Gertrude M. Smith, Alice W. Hashbrouck and Ruth M. Cranmer with Miss Anna Blanche Foster, accompanist.

Dr. Walter Thornton of Fullerton was the speaker of the evening and his address was on Community Building. He said that the building of a community must be the building of men, men who will sacrifice and who will do the right thing.

George Raymer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Fullerton, also spoke.

ELECTRICITY KILLS

Cement Worker Victim of Roadside Accident

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Dec. 17.—"Death due to accidentally coming in contact with electric current from a wire of the Southern California Edison Company in Tulare county" was the verdict returned at the Coroner's inquest held here today over the remains of L. F. Rhodes, cement contractor of Corcoran who was electrocuted on the highway west of here last evening.

Rhodes was en route home from Tulare, where he has done considerable work in years past, when his car skidded off the road and knocked down a power pole, the wire falling on the car. His machine burst into flames and Mr. Rhodes, endeavoring to extinguish the blaze came in contact with the wires, receiving a 11,000-volt charge of electricity. He is survived by his widow and two small children. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

The deceased was about 45 years of age.

POPULAR PRIEST ILL AT OXNARD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Dec. 17.—Father O'Neill, pastor of the Santa Clara Catholic Church and prominent in Ventura county and in Glendale, where he was pastor before coming to Oxnard, is confined to his home with influenza. He was overcome as he was about to say mass yesterday, and had to leave the church and go to his bed in the parish house. His illness is said to be due to overwork as he has been carrying on the work of the parish alone for some time.

PAY UP PROMPTLY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 17.—State and county taxes have been paid up remarkably well this year, according to County Tax Collector Houston, the delinquency being very small, as it was last year.

Payment of taxes so promptly and generally here is attributed to the great variety of farm products in Kings county in a year when some agricultural crops were a failure. For the first time, taxpayers of the city of Hanford had the privilege of paying city taxes in two installments, a recently adopted city ordinance providing therefor and they largely took advantage of it on their annual payment of street-paving assessments.

Long Beach Councilman Says Office Workers Shirk and Get Big Part of the Pay

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 17.—Councilman Alexander Beck, regulator of Long Beach morals and famous for his rooster-crowing resolution, awoke today to discover that he has stirred up a veritable hornets' nest in the City Hall by his attack yesterday on "white-collar" city employees.

His charges at the Council meeting that office employees and others on city pay roll are working less than the required number of hours each day and that they take Saturday afternoons off, while the pick-and-shovel class of workers put in a full eight hours every day, has evoked a storm that promises to exceed in its fury the one that swept the Coast yesterday.

G. L. Buck, assistant to the City Manager; Squire P. Duree, head of the recreation department; J. J. Herzel, City Accountant, and other department heads were quick to take Beck to task for his attack on the "white-collar brigade," which Beck declares is costing the city $7500 a month in unearned pay.

"My observation is that a majority of the city employees not only give eight hours of service but all of them have been most gracious in working overtime for the city without seeking additional compensation," said Mr. Buck. "Most of the employees take a deep interest in the city's affairs, and I have never seen a finer aggregation of workers.

"They talk of the 'white-collar' brigade being favored over the pick-and-shovel men, but it should be understood that a chain always goes with a white collar. The clerk expends more nerve energy in seven and a half hours' of work than the manual laborer does in ten hours," said Herzel.

"Employees in our department do not look at clocks and calendars. If they were paid for overtime work they would more than double their present salaries," declared Squire Duree. In the meantime the City Manager's office is conducting an investigation of working conditions among city employees with instructions to make a report to the City Council. Councilman Beck was not seen at the City Hall today.

Plan Project to Send Water to Dry Spots

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, Dec. 17. — Investigation of the feasibility of taking surplus water from the San Joaquin and possibly the Kings rivers by means of great canals to the dry areas of Tulare and Kern counties is under way, it was learned today from the office of Paul Bailey, deputy chief of the State Division of Engineering at Sacramento. Bailey and a party of consulting engineers are making a survey trip over the proposed canal route tomorrow and Friday. The investigation was made possible by the $100,000 fund that was fostered by the Tulare-Kern district, assisted by Los Angeles and San Francisco capital.

Preliminary announcement of the proposal calls for diversion of water probably at Friant with a canal approximately twenty-five miles long to the Kings River. Here the water would be taken across the Kings my means of a flume.

The following compose the consulting board: Bailey, F. T. Herrmann and R. A. Etcheverry, consulting engineers with wide experience in irrigation and reclamation work; William Mulholland, the man who conceived the idea of the Los Angeles aqueduct; Gh A. Elliot, engineer for the Spring Valley Water Company; W. L. Huber, A. J. Cleary and C. L. Kaupke, Kings River water master.

The results of the present investigation will form a report that will be laid before the State Legislature.

Young Man Ends Life With Poison at Redlands

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Dec. 17.—Walter Brownlee, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brownlee of Pearl avenue, who took his life yesterday because of troubles with the police and a girl he hoped to marry, was buried in Hillside Cemetery today.

The boy took his life by drinking lysol, taking such an overdose that he walked only three blocks before succumbing to the effects of the poison. He dropped on State street and was rushed to the hospital by friends, but it was too late to save his life.

The young man was taken into custody by officers last week on a charge of having liquor in his possession. He brooded over this and also the fact that his fiancee had broken their engagement. The boy was also troubled over financial affairs and payments on an automobile.

PAYS TO BELONG TO FIRE DEPARTMENT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 17.—H. E. Mulligan of Los Angeles, who was arrested here yesterday for asserted bootlegging, told Judge Dunham in court today that he was a member of the Los Angeles fire department and that his father was a police officer of the same city. The case against him was dismissed. His four companions, however, did not fare so well and the sum of $1700 was assessed. L. B. Langford, E. C. Hobby, Jack Cohen and William J. Gordon, found guilty of selling bootleg liquor, paid this amount in fines.

Ontario Justice Fails to Hold Men Accused of Serious Charge by Dry Agent

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Dec. 17.—Upon motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. A. S. Maloney, a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, preferred by Harry Lowry, city dry agent, against Roy E. Edward and Charles A. Sherman was dismissed, following their preliminary examination today before Judge George R. Holbrook.

Edwards, however, was rearrested on a simple battery charge, pleaded guilty and was assessed a fine of $25, which he paid. In filing his complaint recently, Lowry alleged that the two pounced upon him on the street and beat him with a club.

Since their arrest, Edwards has been at liberty on $1000 bail, and Sherman has been held in the City Jail in lieu of that amount. Edwards and Sherman were arrested in recent weeks on gambling and bootlegging charges, respectively, after evidence in both cases was said to have been secured by Lowry and the asserted attack upon the dry operative was said to have been due to a spirit of revenge.

Edwards in court, admitted having beaten Lowry, but denied having used a club. Sherman produced testimony to show that he had no connection with the fight. The defendants were represented in court by Attorney Archie D. Mitchell.

Ice Companies in Court War in Santa Barbara

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 17.—A long-impending ice war broke in Santa Barbara this morning when the Santa Barbara Ice Company brought suit for damages of $114,000 against the Puritan Ice Company and petitioned Superior Judge S. E. Crow for an order restraining the defendant from maintaining two price schedules in the county.

According to the complaint filed today, the Santa Barbara Ice Company, organized twenty-nine years ago, has a long-established price of $8 a ton wholesale. The Santa Barbara plant of the defendant company sells the same amount of ice for $5, while the Guadalupe branch of the Puritan Ice Company, in the center of the vegetable packing district, wholesales ice for $10 a ton.

The complaint avers that the Puritan Ice Company is operating at a loss in Santa Barbara city in order to compete unfairly with the plaintiff company and that it depends upon the profits of the Guadalupe branch to maintain its business.

The suit is brought under the unfair competition statutes of 1913. The Puritan Ice Company was organized two years ago with L. R. Phillips as president, and T. P. Dalzell, secretary.

The complaint filed today covers the whole schedule of wholesale and retail prices for both companies.

Rum Runners Take Shot at Customs Official

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, Dec. 17.—Inspector Grover C. Kemp of the United States customs service, fought his fourth duel with rum smugglers near Calexico. The inspector with a companion was patrolling the border five miles east of Calexico at night, when he was fired upon as he approached some brush. He hastily stopped his car and returned the fire, but the smugglers escaped back into Lower California. The officers had been told that an attempt would be made to put a supply of liquor across the international line at that point. Although he has been fired upon several times by smugglers, the official has never been wounded.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB MEETS AT INGLEWOOD

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 17.—From Norwalk, near the Orange-county line, to Playa del Rey on the Pacific, directors of the Greater Manchester Improvement Association, representing sixteen cities along the right of way of the proposed opening and widening of this thoroughfare for a distance of forty-three miles, with a width of 100 feet, will convene here on January 5. The directors will be given a dinner at the Inglewood chamber at 6:30 p.m., and a mass meeting will ensue at 7:30 o'clock.

County Highway Engineer Jones and Secretary Hugh R. Pomeroy of the Regional Planning Commission are scheduled to speak. Sam Dudlext, president of the organization, will preside.

TULARE MAN ILL AT HOME OF RELATIVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Dec. 17.—Sam Miller, bee inspector of Tulare county, is reported to be in a most critical condition at Santa Ana where he went a few days ago to accompany Mrs. Miller and their daughter home from a visit with relatives there. While in the South Mr. Miller was seized with a violent attack of stomach trouble and hemorrhages. Blood transfusions have been made in an effort to save his life.

ADDRESSES KIWANIS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Dec. 17.—E. L. Seidelmeier, manager of the Pacific-Southwest Bank of Lemoore, was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon today, with a large delegation of other citizens of Lemoore present. The westside highway and lettuce production, principal topics with the Lemoore Chamber of Commerce, were discussed. William Buckner, nationally known expert on memory development, made a talk and gave a demonstration.

Nelson, who arranges the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company programs.

At 9:30 p.m. the stage was taken by our old friend Harry C. Knox, the head of one of our most talented and inspiring families. In addition to several flute solos, which he contributed, Mr. Knox was assisted by Mrs. Harry C. Knox, accompanist, Edith Knox, pianist, Joseph Heindl, 'cellist, and Mrs. Harry O. Merithews, soprano.

It is difficult to observe the Knox family give expression through their respective instruments, and prevent the regret stealing over you that such examples of unified home life reveal themselves too seldom for the advancement of civilization. Edith Knox, the talented pianistic young miss of the family, forsook the youthful pleasures of a college vacation to come to KHJ and give of her art to the community.

With the Pacific States Electric Company as our host, the matinee program presented the Immanuel Male Quartet and Jennie Durkee, mistress of the ukulele. These entertainers eater the portals of KHJ often and their talents are too broadly known to require any space in this column for a complimentary description of their efforts.

The "Children's Hour" was sent on its way by Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog delivering his daily lecture on American history. During the progress of the program; the microphone transmitted the efforts of Baby Muriel MacCormac, winsome screen juvenile; Homer Aschman, 4-year-old reader; Dick Winslow, juvenile reporter, who described his latest interview with Mary Pickford, and the Gish sisters; Mrs. L. M. Thorpe, story teller, and Randolph Mathew Sylva, pianist pupil of Alysse Sylva.

At 7:30 p.m. the University of Southern California presented several of its talented students. The program arranged by Hal Williamson comprised Ruth Ella Petty, pianist; Elizabeth Donnelly, 'cellist; Minna Fast, accompanist, Ormande Grier and Bud King, saxophones. The spirit of youth recognizes no limitations and this very abandon gave to the thirty minutes of music an absorbing atmosphere which does not keep company with senility.

The evening was opened by Dr. Mars Baumgardt, who delivered another interesting installment of astronomy.

The noon hour was another peppy affair inasmuch as Abe Perluss and his Rose Room Dance Orchestra were on hand to satisfy the dance-floor denizens who congregate on The Times roof. Fred C. McNabb, of the Aggler and Musser Seed Company, contributed another set of rules for the care of gardens. Mr. McNabb comes to KHJ every Wednesday noon and gives his best for the benefit of harassed gardeners or perplexed housewives, whose window flower boxes fail to respond properly to their efforts.

The artists chosen to represent the spirit of music which dwells in all communities, and which plays no little part in their progress, were the Pacific Mutual Quartet, composed of Mrs. Clara Fraymore, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, Miss Mary Ziegler and Miss Gladys Disher—the Decampo Trio, Harry Zagen, violinist, Joseph Heindl, 'cellist, and Douglass Campbell, pianist, and Ines Jacobson, accompanist.

It is impossible, as we have mentioned before, to give a detailed account of a studio program. All we may do each day for those of you who read this column, is to leave a thought pertinent to the subject in hand, which, as you ponder over it, may lead you to a better understanding of our aims and the purposes of our radio patrons.

Think less of criticising the manner in which knowledge is presented to you, and more of the loving spirit which prompts such a gift to true patriotism as the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company tenders you twice a month. Not only is an effort made to arouse you to renewed appreciation of the struggles and conquest of our pioneer fathers, but careful research work is done to present the musical creations of composers native to the State around which the program revolves. FILM CHILD'S MOTHER ACCUSED OF BATTERY

FIGHT ASSERTED TO HAVE FOLLOWED APARTMENT GOSSIP

The troubles of a parent of a motion-picture prodigy will be heard in police court as the result of the issuing of a complaint yesterday against Mrs. Robert Cuney of 1123½ North Normandie avenue on a battery charge. The complaint was issued by Deputy City Prosecutor Glibert after hearing the stories of Mrs. J. W. Parker of 1121 North Normandie avenue and Mrs. Pittsenberger, a neighbor. Mrs. Cuney was present also, and declared she acte din self-defense.

Her two accusers said she encountered them in the hallway of the apartment-house and began hostilities by seizing a handful of Mrs. Parker's hair and knocking her down a flight of stairs. Mrs. Pittsenberger exhibited a black eye she said Mrs. Cuney had given her.

Mrs. Cuney declared the two women had spread a report that she had men visiting her apartment. The only men who came, she said, were from motion-picture studios seeking the services of her son Bobby, 5 years of age, who, she said, is in great demand. Mrs. Cuney added that she is happily married.

RELATIVE OF KEYES HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. H. H. Cooper, sister-in-law of Dist.-Atty. Keyes, is at Burbank Hospital critically injured as a result of an automobile accident Tuesday morning. She was riding in a car driven by her husband and was hit by another car. She received a possible skull fracture. The Coopers live in Burbank.

BURGLAR SENTENCED AFTER CHANGING PLEA

William A. Stone yesterday withdrew a plea of not guilty to burglary in Judge Crail's court, pleaded guilty to burglary in the second degree, and was sentenced at once to Folsom Prison for one to ten years. A second count, accusing him of possession of a concealed weapon after conviction of a felony, was dismissed. Stone entered the home of Mrs. W. A. Watling, 411 1-2 Palm Drive, Beverly Hills.

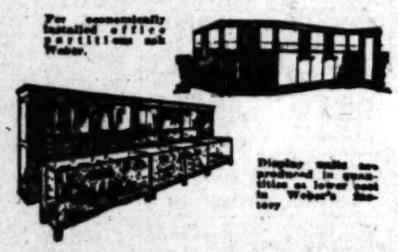
How Weber Store Service Men have improved 75% of all Stores in the Southwest!

Weber is famous for efficient sales furnishings—from the smallest to the largest in the West.



For economically handling office records use Weber.

Display units are produced in quantities as large as Weber's history

In the early days of Los Angeles the Weber Showcase and Fixture Company started to manufacture store display material which would help Los Angeles merchants to sell more merchandise.

Now Weber has the largest factory in the West, devoted exclusively to the manufacture of store equipment—and Los Angeles is famous for having some of the best looking and finest equipped stores in the world.

Draw Your Own Conclusions

Over seventy-five per cent of all the stores in the Southwest use Weber equipment. Unless Weber showcases, soda fountains and fixtures actually did produce increased sales, this popularity would have been impossible. But wherever a Weber store service man has analyzed and recommended improvments, these recommendations have led to increased sales and better business for that store.

Builders of Big Stores

It is hard to find an old-fashioned store in Los Angeles today. Weber's modern merchandising methods have crept into every store, and today you find glistening glass showcases attractively displaying the wares of almost every merchant. You find stores tastefully equipped and scientifically laid out to attract you inside, and take you past tempting displays. Most of this is a result of the work of Weber store designers.

Are Your Sales Slipping?

When new blood takes over an old store in Los Angeles, the first act of the new management is usually to call in a Weber store service man and ask him, "What's wrong with our store?"

If you can use more business, don't wait. Phone now and make an appointment. It will cost you nothing to get the advice of a Weber representative. His personal experience will be backed by a corps of expert merchandisers on the Weber staff. Whether your store is large or small—use this help. Weber can grow and profit only by helping you to make more money.

Cunningham RADIO TUBES

Will Make It A Real Radio Christmas

The Air is a-quiver with the Yule-Tide Music. The carols, the simple songs that carry us back to a rose-tinted childhood are beating... beating,... beating their soundless tattoos at our Hearthstones.

Radio is the Magic Key that translates it all into vibrant, glorious sound.

For the utmost in Radio enchantment you will equip your set with tubes of the rarest scientific accuracy.

Buy them by the box — Since 1915 Standard for All Sets

Types C-301A, C-199, C-300, C-11, C-12. In the Orange and Blue Carton, Price $4.00 Each.

Grease and Diamonds

In South Africa mines grease is an important aid in the extraction of diamonds. A table with a rifled top is smeared with about half an inch of grease. Concentrated ore is then passed over the table with the aid of running water. Garnet and olivine have no affinity for grease, but diamonds adhere to the greasy surface. The grease is later removed, heated and run off, the diamonds being left in the vessel. They are then boiled in sulphuric acid for cleansing purposes and sorted.

Air Mail Telephones

Long-distance telephones for the convenience of air mail pilots have been established at several of the emergency landing fields in the West. The telephones are for use in connection with the air mail between San Francisco and New York. If pilots are forced to land they are thus able to communicate immediately with their regular landing fields.

THE NEW
IN STORES AND HOMES
NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

Last-Minute Gifts:

Handkerchiefs, always the last-minute gifts, are endeavoring by their beauty and variety, to move up a notch or so, taking a more prominent position on the holiday list. Of fine linen, of chiffon, voile or other filmy fabric, handkerchiefs fit themselves for as many occasions as does dress itself. There are infinitessimal stickins, obviously not for use; there are more practical ones for use in the vanity; lastly, wholly utilitarian ones, which by being a bit unusual, find a place among the gifts. Lace edged or cornered, edged with fine footing; bordered in gold lace or silver, handkerchiefs of today, are easily gift-worthy.

Last Minuting

Are you like that? Vow that this year you shall make no Christmas gifts—and then, when it begins to seem too late, start out in a fearful rush to gift everyone you know? I thought, Monday, as I visited the various stores and shops, that everyone had followed that course. I have done so, myself, upon occasion. This plan has many disadvantages—unless pursued by all. In the first place, many of the articles which you thought you might buy, if you should change your mind and buy—are gone. Then there is the jostling crowd. The late delivery of merchandise, the haste and over-working of salespeople; the general all-around tensity. However, I must own that last-minute Christmas shopping has a savor of holidayishness not found in the very early buying. And—by the way—it is getting well along toward that "last minute!"

So Cleverly Named

If you have complained that gifts for men are unfindable, you have not thought about those so practical key pocketbooks for holding the motor-car keys. Those cases—bearing a so-clever name which combines the name key and the last syllables of the container, are more than ordinarily practical, since they not only keep the motor-car keys in place where they easily may be found, but when the keys are in the dash-board the leather container protects the enamel from becoming scratched. There is a great variety in these containers, leather of all grains, and colors being employed in their creation. The cost of these small gifts is little, but the appreciation from the recipient certain.

Gift Wearables

Never before, I believe, in the history of Christmas giving, has there been a season when everything in the way of feminine apparel has been so gift-appropriate. From the skin, out—if it will not seem inelegant to thus express it—everything in garmentry or in accessories, is fraught with gift-worth. Undergarments in the varied silken weaves, either tailored or frilly, are so colorful, so enchanting as to instantly suggest themselves as gifts; and when prettily boxed, they are inexpressibly giftie. Hosiery, silken, lovely, varied in weave from the finest of chiffon, either plain or clocked in open-work, comes in so many colors and shades of color, and in so many various and needed weights, as to suggest itself as a certain-to-be appreciated feminine present. Of course tunics fall under the gift list—so beautiful are they; so always wanted. Dresses, especially those for afternoon and evening wear, are more than ordinarily wantable, owing to the excellence of materials and the delicious colors this season chosen by the mode. Slippers—of which Milady must—perforce—have many if she would be well dressed—are positively poetic, since gold and silver and brocades enriched by metallic woof or warp are popular. Shoe buckles, always beloved of history, exhale romance and embody beauty, so scintillant are they, so enhancing to the beauty of footwear. Then, of course, they are wraps, sumptuous or merely distinguished; furs, always the de luxe touch to the costume feminine; accessories ranging all the way from hats to scarves; from jewelry to lingerie roses. Gloves were never so elaborate, never so apropos as gifts.

By Another Name

Practical as ever, umbrellas have taken on new giftiness, by reason of novel shapes and handsome handles, as well as luxurious fabrics. The French imports add something more even than all this, if there is anything in a name. "Rain Sticks," they are called; and they answer to the call, for Christmassing—especially since we know that the "old folks couldn't tell," after all, that it "ain't gonna rain no more." Such a stick stuck in her stocking, would enliven Christmas morn, inexpressibly.

Aunt Jane's Way:

When cooking rice in soup, she places the rice in a little bag made from coarse net and tied with a string in a bow-knot which will readily untie at the completion of the soup, when the grains, quite whole, may be emptied into the kettle. In this way, there is no danger that the rice will lump on the bottom of the kettle and become scorched, as when scattered throughout the utensel, during its cooking.

Growing on Fashion's Tree

Two huge loops of velvet are used at the back of a magnificent wrap of sable.

One notes a great deal of lizard skin used on novelty shoes of the finer grade.

The vogue for plaids continues. Woolen plaids make charming school frocks.

If one can wear the extremely high Directoire crown, it is exceedingly smart.

Tortoise shell is a charming color for millinery.

In many cases, the scarf still matches the hat.

The costume suit promises to be good for spring.

Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded; Pal Killed by Shot

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Dec. 17.—Ralph S. Webster, 22 years of age, of 1512 South Brand Boulevard, died tonight at the Glendale Hospital as a result of a bullet fired by a friend, Donald Warner, in the workshop at Warner's home, 3047 Rosslyn street, Los Angeles.

Shortly after Webster's death, Warner was taken into custody by Lincoln Heights police and is held for investigation.

The fatal shooting was another didn't-think-it-was-loaded accident, according to Warner. He said he and Webster were examing two pistols when Webster pointed one of the pistols at him. Warner said he pointed the other gun, thinking it unloaded, and pulled the trigger.

Webster was rushed to the hospital here in an ambulance, but died shortly afterward.

According to statements to Glendale police, the youths had been fast friends for some time. Warner is grief-stricken at his friend's death.

Biddick to Head Auto Tradesmen for Coming Year

Walter W. Biddick was elected president of the Los Angeles Automobile Trade Association for 1925 at the annual dinner-dance and convention of the organization held last night at the City Club, 833 South Spring street.

Benny Hill, professional racing driver and victor in the opening classic last Sunday on the Culver speedway, and Harry Miller, internationally famed Los Angeles builder of racing cars, were guests of honor. The speakers were E. L. Palman and H. J. Banta.

In addition to President Biddick, the following officers were chosen and installed: George Bellis, vice-president; John Van Zandt, vice-president; James E. Granger (re-elected) secretary, and Harry Unger, member of the directorate.

Woman is Killed, Man Injured in Auto Accidents to market or distribute a suit or overcoat as good as this within $10 $15 or $20 of these prices

Your Foreman & Clark suit or topcoat stands alone . . . because the institution producing it stands alone!

Foreman & Clark are:

1. A chain of upstairs stores and—
2. A group of 5 factories, and—
3. A national brand of clothes

Because—only as a chain of stores with retail savings, upstairs savings, plain-store savings, can we put ⅔ of ordinary retail profits back in buyers' pockets. And—

Only as a group of factories . . . five giant production plants in the east, manned by our own tailors, building our own clothes, supplying our own stores . . . can we cut out other makers' profits, cut out makers' selling cost, cut out traveling men's commissions, cut out middlemen's profits, cut out everything but hand-tailored quality and guaranteed all-wool textiles. And—

Only as a brand of clothes . . . the greatest suit and overcoat in America, marked with our own label, sold under our own guarantee . . . can we back promises with performance, back every purchase with satisfaction, and back this business with the confidence and good will of half a million clothing buyers all over America!

ATHLETIC MODEL sketched from life

Foreman & Clark Woolens
The greatest mills of America and England loom Foreman and Clark woolens from the strongest all-wool yarns, woven to be used in garments $10 to $20 higher priced.

Cold-water Shrinking
The slowest, costliest, finest method of preparing fabric for the shears is cold-water shrinking . . . every yard of Foreman and Clark suitings is London Shrunk in cold-water.

Skinner's Satin
The textile industry has never created or produced a finer suit lining than genuine Benn's mohair . . . nor a finer overcoat lining than real Skinner's satin. We tailor them by hand into F & C clothes.

Inner Tailoring
In any fine suit the foundation for its outer style is inner tailoring. Over an inner front of finest linen canvas, Foreman and Clark style is shaped and molded, sheared and needled. F & C style is anchored forever within each suit and overcoat.

Like Human Muscles
The diagrams below indicate the exclusive Foreman and Clark inner construction, shaped like the muscles of the human body, which resists twisting and stretching up or down, right or left, conforming flexibly with every move you make.

Inner Materials
Tailoring and textiles inside America's greatest suit and topcoat match the all-wool quality of the outer fabrics. We use the finest linen canvas, the closest woven Belgian haircloth, imported silk and linen thread from France, genuine soft silver Hymo for the smooth roll of each lapel.
